In the Images of Development Tridib Banerjee, 2021-06-08 The urban legacy of the Global South since the colonial era and how sustainable development and environmental and social justice can be achieved Remarkably little of the expansive literature on development and globalization considers actual urban form and the physical design of cities as outcomes of these phenomena The development that has shaped historic transformations in urban form and urbanism and the consequent human experiences remains largely unexplored In this book Tridib Banerjee fills this void by linking the idea of development with those of urbanism urban form and urban design focusing primarily on the contemporary cities in the developing world the Global South and their intrinsic prospects in city design Further he examines the endogenous possibilities for the future design of these cities that may address growing inequality and the environmental crisis Banerjee deftly traces the urban legacy of the Global South from the beginning of the colonial era closely examining the economic political and ideological forces that influenced colonial and postcolonial development drawing from relevant experiences of different cities in the developing world and discussing the arguments for the historic parity of these cities with their Western counterparts Finally Banerjee considers essential notions of future city design that are grounded in the critical challenges of sustainable development equity environmental and social justice and diversity and how such outcomes can be achieved This book serves as the opening of a long overdue conversation among design development and planning scholars and practitioners and those interested in the urban development of the Global South

Differential Heterogenesis Alessandro Sarti, Giovanna Citti, David Piotrowski, 2022-07-15 This book describes about unlike usual differential dynamics common in mathematical physics heterogenesis is based on the assemblage of differential constraints that are different from point to point The construction of differential assemblages will be introduced in the present study from the mathematical point of view outlining the heterogeneity of the differential constraints and of the associated phase spaces that are continuously changing in space and time If homogeneous constraints well describe a form of swarm intelligence or crowd behaviour it reduces dynamics to automatisms by excluding any form of imaginative and creative aspect With this study we aim to problematize the procedure of homogeneization that is dominant in life and social science and to outline the dynamical heterogeneity of life and its affective semiotic social historical aspects Particularly the use of sub Riemannian geometry instead of Riemannian one allows to introduce disjointed and autonomous areas in the virtual plane Our purpose is to free up the dynamic becoming from any form of unitary and totalizing symmetry and to develop forms action thought by means of proliferation juxtaposition and disjunction devices After stating the concept of differential heterogenesis with the language of contemporary mathematics we will face the problem of the emergence of the semiotic function recalling the limitation of classical approaches Hjelmslev Saussure Husserl and proposing a possible genesis of it from the heterogenetic flow previously defined We consider the conditions under which this process can be polarized to constitute different planes of Content C and Expression E each one equipped with its own formed substances A possible but not unique process of polarization is constructed by means of spectral analysis that is introduced to individuate E C planes and their evolution The heterogenetic flow solution of differential assemblages gives rise to forms that are projected onto the planes offering a first referring system for the flow that constitutes a first degree of semiosis      Mobility and Modernity in Women's Novels, 1850s-1930s W.

Parkins,2008-11-27 Analyzing novels by women writers from the 1850s to the 1930s this book argues that representations of mobility offer a fruitful way to explore the location of women within modernity and specifically the opportunities for or limitations on women s agency in this period considering the mobility of the female subject in the city and beyond
