Policy Making at the Second Tier of Local Government in Europe Xavier Bertrana, Björn Egner, Hubert Heinelt, 2015-09-07 Debates about multi level governance have led to a profound restructuring of regional and local government The second level of local government is under review in most European countries with the aim to strengthen the institutional capacity of municipalities or to develop appropriate institutional structures for governing fragmented urban areas This book provides a thematic and cross national analysis of the key actors in local government that form the crucial components of effective and democratic policy making Focussing on the second tier of local government it examines new empirical data on councillors from this level of government in 15 European countries and integrates important variables such as party politics notions of democracy finance multi level settings Divided into five parts it addresses Attitudes of county provincial councillors towards administrative and territorial reforms Their role perceptions and role behaviour Their political orientation Actor constellations and governance arrangements Political socialization and recruitment professionalization and career patterns of county provincial councillors This book will be of interest to students and scholars of local government urban studies regional studies political science sociology and geography

Profession of Government Minister in Western Europe Jean Blondel, 1991-06-18 Despite the apparent political similarities in Western Europe the models of cabinet government employed by different nations vary In exploring the ministerial profession this text reveals the political traditions and the different needs and expectations of citizen and politician alike

Institutional Design and Party Government in Post-Communist Europe Csaba Nikolenyi, 2014-10-30 This books examines the institutional foundations of coalition government in the ten post communist democracies of Eastern and Central Europe for the 1990 2010 period Bulgaria the Czech Republic Estonia Hungary Latvia Lithuania Poland Romania Slovakia and Slovenia Its central argument is that differences in the arrangement of political institutions systematically explain variations in patterns of multi party government across these states The book starts with the premise that electoral systems and constitutional provisions about the powers the structure and the relationship between parliament and the presidency determine the degree to which political power is dispersed or concentrated in the political system On the basis of these institutional features three groups of states are distinguished with regard to their degree of power concentration the substantive chapters of the book demonstrate how these institutional combinations and differences shape three specific facets of party government which capture the main stages of the lifecycle of coalitions governments the formation of electoral coalitions government formation and government duration Specifically three comparative chapters assess the impact of institutional power concentration on the size of electoral coalitions the likelihood that political parties form a minority government and the number of days that a government lasts in office The main finding of the book is that power concentration matters political parties in those democracies where institutions are designed to concentrate political power tend to form large electoral coalitions they tend to form majority rather than undersized governments and they build more durable cabinets In addition the book contains a detailed case study of government formation in Hungary and a previously unstudied comparison of indirect presidential elections in four states the Czech Republic Estonia Hungary and Latvia Comparative Politics is a series for students teachers and researchers of political science that deals with contemporary government and politics Global in scope books in the series are characterised by a stress on comparative analysis and strong methodological rigour The series is published in association with the European Consortium for Political Research For more information visit www.ecprnet.eu Nordic, Central and Southeastern Europe 2012 Wayne C. Thompson, 2012-08-09 This is an annually updated presentation of each sovereign country in Nordic Central and Southeastern Europe past and present It is broken down into individual chapters on each country dealing with its geography people history political system constitution parliament decentralization and states if a federation parties political leaders and elections There are also sections on foreign and defense policy economy culture future and a lengthy bibliography Developments in Europe, 1986
