New Literary Histories Claire Colebrook, 1997      A History of the Literature of the U.S. South: Volume 1 Harilaos Stecopoulos, 2021-05-05 A History of the Literature of the U S South provides scholars with a dynamic and heterogeneous examination of southern writing from John Smith to Natasha Trethewey Eschewing a master narrative limited to predictable authors and titles the anthology adopts a variegated approach that emphasizes the cultural and political tensions crucial to the making of this regional literature Certain chapters focus on major white writers e g Thomas Jefferson William Faulkner the Agrarians Cormac McCarthy but a substantial portion of the work foregrounds the achievements of African American writers like Frederick Douglass Zora Neale Hurston and Sarah Wright to address the multiracial and transnational dimensions of this literary formation Theoretically informed and historically aware the volume s contributors collectively demonstrate how southern literature constitutes an aesthetic cultural and political field that richly repays examination from a variety of critical perspectives      Linked Histories Wendy Faith, Pamela McCallum, 2005 The essays collected from the journal ARIEL A Review of International English Studies in Linked Histories take up some of the most pressing issues in postcolonial debates the challenges which new theories of globalization present for postcolonial studies the difficulties of rethinking how marginality might be defined in a new globalized world the problems of imagining social transformation within globalization The editors goal in bringing together this collection of articles is not to provide any definitive statement on these urgent questions rather it is to assemble a group of essays which think through the issues and which therefore has the potential to move the discipline forward      New literary histories Isabel Donas Boto, Maria Isabel Carvalho G. Caldeira, 2004      The Routledge World Companion to Polish Literature Tomasz Bilczewski, Stanley Bill, Magdalena Popiel, 2021-09-30 The Routledge World Companion to Polish Literature offers an introduction to Polish literature through thirty three case studies covering works from the Middle Ages up to the present day Each chapter draws on a text or body of work examining its historical context as well as its international reception and position within world literature The book presents a dual perspective on Polish literature combining original readings of key texts with discussions of their two way connections with other literatures across the globe With a detailed introduction offering a narrative overview the book is divided into six sections offering a chronological pathway through the material Contributors from around the world examine the various cultural exchanges at play with each chapter including Definitions of key terms and brief overviews of historical and political events literary eras trends movements groups and institutions for those new to the area Analysis and notes on translations including their hidden dimensions and potential Textual focus on poetics such as strategies of composition style and genre A range of historical sociological political and economic contexts From medieval song through to the contemporary novel this book offers an interpretive history of Polish literature while also positioning its significance within world literature The detailed introductions make it accessible to beginners in the area while the original analysis and focused case studies will also be of interest to researchers The Columbia Literary History of the United States Emory Elliott, 1988-02-15 For the first time in four decades there exists an authoritative and up to date survey of the literature of the United States from prehistoric cave narratives to the radical movements of the sixties and the experimentation of the eighties This comprehensive volume one of the century s most important books in American studies extensively treats Hawthorne Melville Dickinson Hemingway and other long cherished writers while also giving considerable attention to recently discovered writers such as Kate Chopin and to literary movements and forms of writing not studied amply in the past Informed by the most current critical and theoretical ideas it sets forth a generation s interpretation of the rise of American civilization and culture The Columbia Literary History of the United States contains essays by today s foremost scholars and critics overseen by a board of distinguished editors headed by Emory Elliott of Princeton University These contributors reexamine in contemporary terms traditional subjects such as the importance of Puritanism Romanticism and frontier humor in American life and writing but they also fully explore themes and materials that have only begun to receive deserved attention in the last two decades Among these are the role of women as writers readers and literary subjects and the impact of writers from minority groups both inside and outside the literary establishment Imperfect Histories Ann Rigney, 2018-09-05

Imperfect Histories puts imperfection at the heart of a theory of historical representation Ann Rigney shows how historical writing involves dealing with intractable subjects that resist our efforts to know and to shape them Those who write history she says engage in an ongoing struggle to match up what they find relevant in the past with the information and interpretive models at their disposal Chronic dissatisfaction is at the heart of historical practice This is especially evident in the various attempts made over the last two centuries to write an alternative history of everyday experience Focusing on historical writing in the last decades of the eighteenth century and the first half of the nineteenth Rigney analyzes a wide range of works by Walter Scott Jules Michelet Augustin Thierry and Thomas Carlyle She shows how the attempt to write an alternative history brought historical writing into a close yet fraught relationship with literature The result is a new account of that relationship as it took shape in the romantic period and as it continues to influence contemporary practices

Remaking Literary History Helen Groth, Paul Sheehan, 2009-10-02 History is always written wrong and so always needs to be rewritten George Santayana Enquiries into the relationship between literature and history continue to stir up intense critical and scholarly debate Alongside the new hybrid categories that have emerged out of this ferment life writing ficto criticism history from below and so on there has been a welter of new literary histories new ways of tracking the connections between the written word and the historically bound world This has resulted in renewed discussion about distinguishing the literary from the non literary about dialogues taking place between different national literatures and about ascertaining the relative status of the literary text in relation to other cultural forms Remaking Literary History seeks to clarify the diversity of issues and positions that have arisen from these debates Central to the book s approach is a rigorous and constructive questioning of the past across disciplinary boundaries This is carried out through four detailed and engrossing sections that explore the relationship between memory and forgetting what it means to be subject to history the upsurge of interest in trauma and redemption and the question of historical reinvention which demonstrates how the overwriting of history continues to reinvigorate the literary imagination As well as readers of literature and history Remaking Literary History will be of interest to students of literary theory legal studies and cultural and media studies

Literary History - Cultural History Herbert Grabes,2001

The Legacy of Vico in Modern Cultural History Joseph Mali,2012-09-06 In this highly original study Joseph Mali explores how four attentive and inventive readers of Giambattista Vico s New Science 1744 the French historian Jules Michelet 1798 1874 the Irish writer James Joyce 1882 1941 the German literary scholar Erich Auerbach 1892 1957 and the English philosopher Isaiah Berlin 1909 97 came to find in Vico s work the inspiration for their own modern theories or in the case of Joyce stories of human life and history Mali s reconstruction of the specific biographical and historical occasions in which these influential men of letters encountered Vico reveals how their initial impressions and interpretations of his theory of history were decisive both for their intellectual development and their major achievements in literature and thought This new interpretation of the legacy of Vico s New Science is essential reading for all those engaged in the history of ideas and modern cultural history

Short Histories of the Literatures of the World Edmund Gosse,1915

Histories of the Musical Raymond Knapp,Mitchell Morris,Stacy Wolf,2018-09-04 The American musical is a paradox On stage or screen musicals at once hold a dominant and a contested place in the worlds of entertainment art and scholarship Born from a m lrange of performance forms that included opera and operetta vaudeville and burlesque minstrelsy and jazz musicals have always sought to amuse more than instruct and to make money more than make political change In spite of their unapologetic commercialism though musicals have achieved supreme artistry and have influenced culture as much as if not more than any other art form in America including avant garde and high art on the one hand and the full range of popular and commercial art on the other Reflecting refracting and shaping U S culture since the early twentieth century musicals converse with shifting dynamics of gender and sexuality ethnicity and race and the very question of what it means to be American and to be human The chapters gathered in this book Volume I of the reissued Oxford Handbook explore the American musical from both the outside and the inside This first volume concentrates in particular on large scale more philosophical issues of relevance to the genre considering issues of historical situations and formal procedure as they bear on the narratives we make concerning productions and performers artists and audiences commerce and context The first four essays discuss ways of defining histories and texts and apprehending the formal choices of singers and dancers the second group of four take up the subtle challenges of the genre s signal transformations out of minstrelsy and Tin Pan Alley to integration and beyond

Fictional Space in the Modernist and Post-modernist American Novel Carl Darryl Malmgren,1985 Fictional space is the imaginal expanse of field created by fictional discourse a space which through ultimately self referential and self validating necessarily exists in ascertainable relation to the real world outside the text After defining his theoretical framework the author applies it to American fiction of the twentieth century

Making Black History Dominique Haensell, 2021-10-04 This study proposes that rather than trying to discern the normative value of Afropolitanism as an identificatory concept politics ethics or aesthetics Afropolitanism may be best approached as a distinct historical and cultural moment that is a certain historical constellation that allows us to glimpse the shifting and multiple silhouettes which Africa as signifier as real and imagined locus embodies in the globalized yet predominantly Western cultural landscape of the 21st century As such Making Black History looks at contemporary fictions of the African or Black Diaspora that have been written and received in the moment of Afropolitanism Discursively this moment is very much part of a diasporic conversation that takes place in the US and is thus informed by various negotiations of blackness race class and cultural identity Yet rather than interpreting Afropolitan literatures merely as a rejection of racial solidarity as some commentators have they should be read as ambivalent responses to post racial discourses dominating the first decade of the 21st century particularly in the US which oscillate between moments of intense hope and acute disappointment Please read our interview with Dominique Haensell here <https://blog.degruyter.com/de-gruyters-10th-open-access-book-anniversary-dominique-haensell-and-her-winning-title-making-black-history>

Literature, Language, and Politics Betty Jean Craige, 2011-03-01 Literature Language and Politics brings together papers drawn from and inspired by the controversial landmark symposium on Politics and the Discipline held at the 1987 Modern Language Association meeting in San Francisco During the 1980s debates raged both within and outside academe over curriculum with conservatives arguing for a return to an educational philosophy based on the classics of Western civilization and a multi cultural coalition of liberals leftists and feminists seeking to preserve the diversity of educational experience fought for since the 1960s Engaging this crucial debate the contributors to Literature Language and Politics argue that the conservative educational agenda imperils not only scholarship and academic freedom but the very social well being of the nation They call for firm resistance to any attempts to make education conform to the social agenda of one race one gender one language or one ideology for a continuation of attempts to broaden the curriculum until it reflects the experience of women and men of all classes and all cultures Includes essays by Henry Louis Gates Jr Gerald Graff Annette Kolodny Paul Lauter Ellen Messer Davidow Catharine R Stimpson and Ana Celia Zentella

After Postmodernism Wang Ning, 2022-07-19 This book engages with the critical decline of postmodernism and newer currents of thinking that have come to the fore including postcolonialism feminism and cultural studies constituting an exploration of the cultural landscape after the heyday of postmodernism in the West and its profound influence on the Chinese cultural scene Topics discussed include the prevalent theoretical trends and cultural phenomena in the West in the wake of postmodernism how these developments have influenced contemporary Chinese literary and cultural criticism and how Chinese scholars can have an equal dialogue with the dominant Western theorists The chapters examine critical issues and figures in the fields including postmodernity and globalization as well as the theories of Edward Said Gayatri Spivak Homi Bhabha and Judith Butler Taking a comparative and cross cultural perspective especially between China and the West the title also sheds light on the imprint of Western theoretical trends on the literature and culture of contemporary China exemplified in diasporic writing cinema women s literature popular culture and the overall orientation of contemporary Chinese literature The book will be a critical reference for all levels of reader interested in postmodernism critical theory postcolonialism feminism cultural studies comparative and world literature and contemporary Chinese literature and culture

After the End of History Samuel Cohen,2009-10-01 In this bold book Samuel Cohen asserts the literary and historical importance of the period between the fall of the Berlin wall and that of the Twin Towers in New York With refreshing clarity he examines six 1990s novels and two post 9 11 novels that explore the impact of the end of the Cold War Pynchon s Mason Dixon Roth s American Pastoral Morrison s Paradise O'Brien s In the Lake of the Woods Didion s The Last Thing He Wanted Eugenides s Middlesex Lethem s Fortress of Solitude and DeLillo s Underworld Cohen emphasizes how these works reconnect the past to a present that is ironically keen on denying that connection Exploring the ways ideas about paradise and pastoral difference and exclusion innocence and righteousness triumph and trauma deform the stories Americans tell themselves about their nation s past After the End of History challenges us to reconsider these works in a new light offering fresh insightful readings of what are destined to be classic works of literature At the same time Cohen enters into the theoretical discussion about postmodern historical understanding Throwing his hat in the ring with force and style he confronts not only Francis Fukuyama s triumphalist response to the fall of the Soviet Union but also the other literary and political end of history claims put forth by such theorists as Fredric Jameson and Walter Benn Michaels In a straightforward affecting style After the End of History offers us a new vision for the capabilities and confines of contemporary fiction

American Fiction in Transition Adam Kelly,2013-04-25 American Fiction in Transition is a study of the observer hero narrative a highly significant but critically neglected genre of the American novel Through the lens of this transitional genre the book explores the 1990s in relation to debates about the end of postmodernism and connects the decade to other transitional periods in US literature Novels by four major contemporary writers are examined Philip Roth Paul Auster E L Doctorow and Jeffrey Eugenides Each novel has a similar structure an observer narrator tells the story of an important person in his life who has died But each story is equally about the struggle to tell the story to find adequate means to narrate the transitional quality of the hero s life In playing out this narrative struggle each novel thereby addresses the broader problem of historical transition a problem that marks the legacy of the postmodern era in American literature and culture

A History of Histories of German Literature Michael S. Batts,1993 Knowledge of German literature is frequently based on the hundreds of general histories of German literature that have been published since the genre first appeared at the beginning of the nineteenth century In A History of Histories of German Literature Michael Batts attempts to describe the various forms which these histories took between 1835 and 1914 not only in Germany but in other countries and show how these forms developed      The Attack on Literature and Other Essays Rene Wellek, 2018-07-25 With the erudition that has distinguished his lifelong study of literary criticism Wellek considers the trends theories and quarrels of recent years He continues to insist that criticism whether written by structuralists phenomenologists Marxists or the New Critics makes judgments and also takes into account a common humanity that makes all art accessible to us He also considers the relationship between literature and linguistics and the difficulty of constructing evolutionary models for literary history Originally published in 1982 A UNC Press Enduring Edition UNC Press Enduring Editions use the latest in digital technology to make available again books from our distinguished backlist that were previously out of print These editions are published unaltered from the original and are presented in affordable paperback formats bringing readers both historical and cultural value
