Australian Books and Authors in the American Marketplace 1840s-1940s David Carter, Roger Osborne, 2018-07-02

Australian Books and Authors in the American Marketplace 1840s-1940s explores how Australian writers and their works were present in the United States before the mid-twentieth century to a much greater degree than previously acknowledged. Drawing on fresh archival research and combining the approaches of literary criticism, print culture studies, and book history, David Carter and Roger Osborne demonstrate that Australian writing was transnational long before the contemporary period. In mapping Australian literature's connections to British and US markets, their research challenges established understandings of national, imperial, and world literatures. Carter and Osborne examine how Australian authors, editors, and publishers engaged productively with their American counterparts and how American readers and reviewers responded to Australian works. They consider the role played by British publishers and agents in taking Australian writing to America and how the international circulation of new literary genres created new opportunities for novelists to move between markets. Some of these writers, such as Christina

Stead and Patrick White remain household names others who once enjoyed international fame such as Dale Collins and Alice Grant Rosman have been largely forgotten The story of their books in America reveals how culture commerce and copyright law interacted to create both opportunities and obstacles for Australian writers

Contemporary Archival Fiction Elin Ivansson, 2025-09-30 This book presents a synthesised framework for analysing archival poetics in multimodal literature examining case studies from twenty first century American fiction towards elucidating the archival turn in contemporary literature more broadly Ivansson turns her focus on multimodal archival fiction here understood as works which engage with archival practices of collecting and organising both verbal text and visual inclusions of fictional and factual archival material such as photographs sketches notes and newspaper clippings The volume brings together work from multimodality cognitive stylistics and narratology with archival studies to demonstrate how contemporary archival fiction engages with archival themes through multimodal design Case studies include works from Barbara Hodgson Leanne Shapton Valeria Luiselli and Jacob Garbe and Aaron A Reed The selected examples allow for a detailed exploration of how to analyse the multimodal composition and reader experience of archival poetics Furthermore these case studies also elucidate how such a framework can be applied more broadly to the analysis of fictional works thematically and structurally concerned with the archive or those that grapple with such areas of interest in contemporary research as materiality bookishness and ontological ambiguity This volume will appeal to students and scholars in multimodality stylistics American literature and literary studies
