Terracene Salar Mameni, 2023-08-04 In Terracene Salar Mameni historicizes the popularization of the scientific notion of the Anthropocene alongside the emergence of the global war on terror Mameni theorizes the Terracene as an epoch marked by a convergence of racialized militarism and environmental destruction Both the Anthropocene and the war on terror centered the antagonist figures of the Anthropos and the terrorist as responsible for epochal changes in the new geological and geopolitical world orders In response Mameni shows how the Terracene requires radically new engagements with terra the earth whose intelligence resides in matters such as oil and phenomena like earthquakes and fires Drawing on the work of artists whose practices interrogate histories of settler colonial and imperial interests in land and resources in Iran Iraq Yemen Kuwait Syria Palestine and other regions most affected by the war on terror Mameni offers speculative paths into the aesthetics of the Terracene

On Reference Andrea Bianchi, 2015-03-05 Most of the times we open our mouth to communicate we talk about things This can happen because some of the linguistic expressions we use have semantic properties that connect them to extra linguistic entities Thanks to these properties they may be used by us to refer to things Or as we may also say they themselves refer to things though in certain cases they do so only relative to a context of use But how can we characterize the semantic properties in question What exactly is reference Philosophers have been trying to answer these questions at least since Plato's Cratylus but not until the last century when language occupied center stage in philosophy did the problem come to be felt as really pressing In the last decade of the nineteenth century Gottlob Frege produced an account of reference that set the stage for the contemporary discussion Nevertheless around 1970 a number of powerful arguments against it were produced by Saul Kripke and others As a result many philosophers began to look at reference from a new perspective which highlighted the crucial role played by worldly historical facts that may be unknown to the speakers This semantic revolution however left us with a number of open problems The eighteen original essays collected in this volume deal with many of these problems thus contributing to our understanding of the nature of reference its role in cognition and the place it should be given in semantic theory

Much-at-Once Bruce W. Wilshire, 2016-02-01 In this capstone work the late Bruce Wilshire seeks to rediscover the fullness of life in the world by way of a more complete activation of the body's potentials. Appealing to our powers of hearing and feeling with a special emphasis on music, he engages a rich array of composers, writers, and thinkers ranging from Beethoven and Mahler to Emerson and William James. Wilshire builds on James's concept of the much at once to name the superabundance of the world that surrounds, nourishes, holds, and stimulates us that pummels and provokes us that responds to our deepest need to feel ecstatically real.

Out of this World Stories Denis Hayes, 2014-04 Can we talk to the trees? Well, over the years people have tried. One singer sang to them but they didn't answer. A Prince talked to them and was thought to be barmy. Here a Human not only talks to trees and plants but also creatures who have a lot of recognisable problems with Humans. Throw in beings from other dimensions on this planet and Aliens from another galaxy and you have a whole crazy stew of unbelievable events. There is a mass exodus of snails from France who don't want to be eaten. French frogs who need wheelchairs because their legs have been cut off and crickets from China who don't want to be fried. They all become an immigration problem. There are English centipedes complaining about the cost and quality of 50 pairs of trainers and a host of other beings who resent being disturbed. The Human is caught up in all these trials and tribulations and just when he thinks he has escaped. Well, the reader will be brought face to face with another reality through fantasy, humour, and fun. Read and enjoy.

Architexts of Memory Evelyne Ender, 2005 Offers a powerful model that uses literature to help fathom the nature of remembrance.

Free Will, Consciousness and Self Preben Bertelsen, 2006-10-01 What is it to be human? How do we relate to the world, to each other, and to our self in a human in everyday life and when faced with life's big questions? In this book the author develops a general theoretical model that might be able to offer a better understanding of the human condition and of the underlying principles of human behavior. The author shows that general psychology bridging the natural sciences and the social sciences can make a significant contribution to a general anthropology.

The Road Less Travelled Anthony Ruben Lee, 2011-06 I try to tell people be real with yourself with real problems in a real world itself. It's real but don't let your guard down not for one bit and that road that you are traveling on is just around the corner just a few steps through your soul. A close encounter comes you have a burning passion inside of you and you do not know what to do. Sometimes we can go too fast on our own road. Slow down try to catch up with God and He has been there with you the whole time by your side so get up don't quit. I am 38 years old with just a high school diploma in 1991. A born again Christian single guy and blessed to have my mom and dad still living and the family is growing. I have accomplished a lot of stuff but not enough in life. By comparing to this book I think it was time for the world to know my small talent. I can express myself when God comes in more than I can speak it so it has grown very fast over the years. It was a small blank page journal started out to be and the rest is history.

The Greatness of our God Hugh Barber, 2012-03-29 The majority of people do not understand the true nature of God Many today have an incorrect and twisted opinion of who God is what He is like and His reasons for things happening The enemy has worked overtime for centuries speaking lies into the hearts of people about the true character of God Words of lies have become beliefs and strongholds in the minds of many These beliefs sadly keep many away from discovering that He is in actual fact a Great God Additionally by perverting our perception of Him when times get tough people can easily lose heart and walk away But this should not be the case If our foundation in God is strong when the storms of life come we will never doubt God's purpose in using events to mature and strengthen us
