Our Secret Siri Aang:

Our Secret, Siri Aang Cristina Kessler, 2014-10-11 Twelve year old Namelok can't tell anyone about the mother black rhino and her baby that she found in the bush while collecting firewood for her Maasai tribe. She vows to protect them always, visit them often and to keep them secret. But when her initiation into womanhood threatens her secret, visits Namelok must say goodbye to her precious animal friends. Before she can though, she makes a horrifying discovery, one that sends her on a harrowing journey into the bush in a desperate search for poachers and the justice they deserve. Cristina Kessler has written a powerful and authentic story of a young girl's love for a rhino mother and her baby and of her courage to challenge tradition to defend them.

The Great Rhino Rescue Sandra Markle, 2024-05-07 Southern white rhinos are in trouble. For years a rumor has been spreading that their horns can be used to cure cancer and poachers have been targeting these gentle creatures. Sandra Markle takes readers behind the scenes to see how civilians, volunteer organizations and African governments are working together to protect rhinos.

Neo-Imperialism in Children's Literature About Africa Yulisa Amadu Maddy, Donnarae MacCann, 2008-12-28 In the spirit of their last collaboration Apartheid and Racism in South African Children's Literature 1985-1995, Yulisa Amadu Maddy and Donnarae MacCann once again come together to expose the neo-imperialist overtones of contemporary children's fiction about Africa. Examining the portrayal of African social customs, religious philosophies and political structures in fiction for young people, Maddy and MacCann reveal the Western biases that often infuse stories by well-known Western authors. In the book's introductory section, Maddy and MacCann offer historical information concerning Western notions of Africa as primitive and then present background information about the complexity of feminism in Africa and about the ongoing institutionalization of racism. The main body of the study contains critiques of the novels or short stories of eleven well-known writers including Isabel Allende and Nancy Farmer, all demonstrating that children's literature continues to misrepresent conditions and social relations in Africa. The study concludes with a look at those short stories of Beverley Naidoo which bring insight and historical accuracy to South African conflicts and emerging solutions. Educators, literature professors, publishers, professors of Diaspora and African studies and students of the mass media will find Maddy and MacCann's critique of racism in the representation of Africa to be indispensable to students of multicultural literature.

The White Giraffe Lauren St. John, 2008-05-01 When Martine's home in England burns down, killing her parents, she must go to South Africa to live on a wildlife game preserve called Sawubona with the grandmother she didn't know she had. Almost as soon as she arrives, Martine hears stories about a white giraffe living in the preserve. But her grandmother and others working at Sawubona insist that the giraffe is just a myth. Martine is not so sure until one stormy night when she looks out her window and locks eyes with Jemmy, a young silvery white giraffe. Why is everyone keeping Jemmy's existence a secret? Does it have anything to do with the rash of poaching going on at Sawubona? Martine needs all of the courage and smarts she has, not to mention a little African magic, to find out. First-time children's author Lauren St. John
