

A woman with blonde hair is shown from the chest up, wearing a white crew-neck sweatshirt. The sweatshirt features a graphic design centered on the chest. The design consists of the words "HER FIGHT" in a bold, black, sans-serif font. The letter "I" in "FIGHT" is replaced by a pink breast cancer awareness ribbon. Below this, the words "is our fight" are written in a black, cursive script font. The woman is standing in a room with a beige wall and a framed picture in the background.

bureaucrats and politicians in a conversation about their vexed past By tracing different approaches to understanding commemorating and narrating the events of 1903 he shows how in this small mountain town the magic of nationalism by which destiny is written into particular historical events has neither failed nor wholly succeeded Stories of heroism self sacrifice and unity still rub against tales of treachery score settling and disaster as people come to terms with the legacies of imperialism socialism and nationalism The efforts of Krusevo s successive generations to transcend a past of intercommunal violence reveal how rival claims to knowledge and truth acquire vital significance during rapid social economic and political change

Vinegar into Honey Ron Leifer,2008-05-14 Our desires and our fears are woven into a tangled web of conflicts We want both to eat dessert and to be thin We want money but don t want to work Anything that threatens our sense of self and its striving for happiness is perceived as a threat to our very lives the response to which is defensiveness anger aggression and violence Vinegar into Honey proposes a new paradigm for understanding the relationship between stress anxiety anger and depression Leifer provides detailed instructions for working with anger and other painful emotions The process of transforming suffering into equanimity and compassion is central in Buddhist psychology and practice Each of the steps in Vinegar into Honey reflects views and methods drawn from Buddhist tradition Leifer s work holds promise for psychotherapists and their patients individuals seeking to understand and work with their anger and people interested in the interface of Buddhism and psychotherapy

A Pebble In The River Noufel Bouzeboudja,2015-09-04 Akli is an old man now He is in prison It is from there that he begins telling his story of the colonisation of Northern Africa Of his village especially Thadarth It is a narrative of revolution war torture dispossession corruption intolerance betrayal terrorism religious extremism but above all resistance A narrative of inevitability and loss The loss of faith in a higher power The loss of those closest to him which he would endlessly try in vain to prevent since his adolescence He would forever carry the burden of their death and absence the regret of not having been able to protect them to be with them This forged him into a cynic a man without hope for a better future a man who wishes for death every day that passes But his is also a story of love Unconditional Pure love The ineffable kind which he has for his country his land the mountains his family his friends his people A story of his life s first love Martine daughter to the French settler Fino who left him with a lot of frustrations but also good remembrances If his story begins in gloom it is one through which secretly intimately and ultimately runs the thread of hope Hope because he is released from prison at the time of the narration Hope that his daughter Zira the fruit of the rape of his wife by terrorists brings back into his life It is a story about the persistence of beauty of good and goodness even in the face of chaos It is a story about truth His truth Eternal even when obscured No man can be broken badly enough to not feel love to not see and enjoy beauty No man can tear the world apart so much that love and beauty no longer exist Once this truth is accepted however chaotic or scary the outside world can be peace can be found Peace within one s own being Peace which Akli finds too
