disciplinary discussion Our Vanishing Wild Life William Temple Hornaday, 1913 William Temple Hornaday was the Director of the New York Zoological Society and the nation's leading advocate of wildlife conservation in this era This unsparing manifesto was written to accompany Hornaday's launching of the Permanent Wildlife Protection Fund it is thus in the words of the historian Stephen Fox both a campaign tract and one of the first books wholly devoted to endangered wild animals John Muir and His Legacy The American Conservation Movement Boston Little Brown and Company 1981 p 149 It is also a landmark of conservation history which had a profound effect on the thought of Aldo Leopold among others The book surveys the history and causes of wildlife destruction in America and elsewhere and sets forth a lengthy program to ensure the protection of remaining wildlife for the future often in militant and moralistic terms The work also throws light on some of the complexities inherent in the conservation movement at this time for example Hornaday accepts the classification of certain bird and mammalian predators as noxious or vermin and appropriate for destruction pp 77 81 there is no criticism here of the massive campaign for the extermination of wolves and covotes being sponsored at the time by the Bureau of Biological Survey On a more general level Hornaday's fulminations against Italian immigrants as incorrigible bird killers suggest a connection between nativism and conservationism while his excoriations of market hunters set forth a deeply rooted class bias shared by many leading conservationists The Fall and Rise of the Stately Home Peter Mandler, 1997-01-01 Challenging the prevailing view of a modern English culture besotted with its history and aristocracy Mandler portrays instead a continuously changing society where both intellectual and popular attitudes have only recently turned to admiration Companion Encyclopedia of Archaeology Graeme Barker, 2002-08-13 This comprehensive fully illustrated Companion answers the need for an in depth archaeology reference that provides authoritative coverage of this complex and interdisciplinary field The work brings together the myriad strands and the great temporal and spatial breadth of the field into two thematically organized volumes In twenty six authoritative and clearly written essays this Companion explores the origins aims methods and problems of archaeology Each essay is written by a scholar of international standing and illustrations complement the text Time Honored John H. Stubbs, 2009-01-14 The absence heretofore of a comparably thoroughgoing but accessible resource on a topic of such urgent public concern was a glaring lapse that makes this deeply researched lucidly written and helpfully annotated book an invaluable addition to the literature New York Review of Books Time Honored is a comprehensive survey of the practice theory and structure of architectural heritage conservation throughout the world Offering an argument for why architectural conservation is indispensable to modern life Time Honored describes its parameters and evolution in an historical context and then methodically presents approaches used in various countries showing how historic preservation in the West differs from conservation in the rest of the world Illustrated throughout with over 300 photographs drawings maps and charts No other book navigates the global conservation programs policies and project types so completely Listing of Education in Archeological Programs, the LEAP Clearinghouse ...
