Media and Communication in Nigeria Bruce Mutsivairo, Nnamdi T Ekeanyanwu, 2021-12-30 Communication is changing rapidly around the world particularly in Africa where citizens are embracing digital technologies not only to improve not only interpersonal communication but also the state of their financial well being This book investigates these transformations in Nigeria s booming communication industry The book traces communications in Nigeria back to pre colonial indigenous communications through the development of telecommunication broadcasting networks the press the Nigerian film industry Nollywood and on to the digital era At a time when Western voices still dominate the academic literature on communication in Africa this book is noteworthy in drawing almost exclusively on the expertise of Nigerian based authors critiquing the discipline from their own lens and providing an important contribution to the decolonisation of communication studies The authors provide a holistic analysis of the sector encompassing print journalism broadcast journalism public relations advertising film development communication organisational communication and strategic communication Analysis of the role of digital technologies is woven throughout the book concluding with a final section theorising the future of communication studies in Nigeria in the light of the digital media revolution Robust in its theoretical and methodological underpinnings this book will be an important reference for researchers of media and communication studies and those working on Africa specifically

Misinformation in Referenda Sandrine Baume,Véronique Boillet,Vincent Martenet,2020-07-07 The book identifies the impact of misinformation in the context of referenda While the notion of misinformation is at the centre of current events and is the subject of several studies it has rarely been addressed in the context of referenda or from a multidisciplinary and comparative perspective This book fills this gap Different legal orders have been chosen because of their extensive referendum practices California and Switzerland a recent legislative process on the issue of misinformation Germany France and Canada or recent experience with a vote during which it was considered that false information had been disseminated Brexit Catalan independence and Italian constitutional referendum of 2016 By bringing together authors from the political and legal sciences the book focuses on combining the expertise of researchers from different backgrounds and origins in order to propose innovative solutions In this regard the book is characterized by the fact that it does not aim to combat misinformation per se but develops suggestions meant to guarantee the conditions of formation of the political will during referenda The book will be an invaluable resource for legal scholars political scientists and specialists of political communication Outside the world of academia the book may draw the attention of policy makers practitioners and journalists confronted with the challenges of misinformation or disinformation technologies through which not only is language transmitted but cultures are formed ideologies are shaped power is contested and sociolinguistic boundaries are crossed and blurred The volume therefore examines the English language in particular in CMC what it looks like what it accomplishes and what it means to speakers Media Tactics in the Long Twentieth Century Marie Cronqvist, Fredrik Mohammadi Norén, Emil Stjernholm, 2024-08-08 Integrating media studies with history Media Tactics in the Long Twentieth Century explores the dynamic relationship between tactics and strategies in recent history Drawing on examples from a range of different countries and world regions and looking at the infrastructures entanglements and institutions involved the volume makes a strong case for media tactics as a new field of scholarly inquiry and for the importance of a historically informed approach In contrast to strategic communication approaches this media historical intervention contributes to new knowledge about the practical implementation of strategies First foregrounding tactics as an object of study the volume then counters the presentism of contemporary studies by adding a necessary historical perspective Moreover the book theoretically disentangles the concept of strategy from an abstract contemporary buzzword to concrete hands on actions which in turn reveals the complexity of using media strategies and media tactics in reality This volume will interest scholars and students working in the field of media and communication in general and in the subfields of strategic communication public relations media history and propaganda studies The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Superconnected: The Internet, Digital Media, and Techno-Social Life Mary Chayko, 2020-10-27 What does it mean to live in a superconnected society In this new revised updated edition of Superconnected The Internet Digital Media and Techno Social Life Mary Chayko continues to explore how social life is impacted when communication and information technology enters the picture She provides timely analysis of such critical issues as privacy and surveillance online harassment and abuse and dependency and addiction while examining new trends in social media use global inequalities and divides online relating and dating and the internet of things The new edition highlights such issues as technology and mental health digital public policy and law and the author's own research on bias and stereotyping in digital environments Throughout she considers how individuals families communities organizations and whole societies are affected The author's clear nontechnical discussions and interdisciplinary synthesis make the third edition of Superconnected an essential text for any course that explores how contemporary life is impacted by the internet social media mobile devices and smart technologies The text is accompanied by the author's Superconnected Blog superconnectedblog.com which includes lecture slides discussion questions and assignments and short podcasts for each chapter that summarize key ideas Research in Education, 1974 The Education Professions United States. Office of Education, 1971 Disabled People Transforming Media Culture for a More Inclusive World Beth A. Haller, 2023-11-03 This book tells the stories of disabled people who have been influential in creating modern mass media

English in Computer-Mediated Communication Lauren Squires,2016-10-24 This book addresses the nature of English use within contexts of computer mediated communication CMC CMC includes

Through the voices of key disabled media makers and collaborators the author highlights the ways in which their contributions are changing society's understanding of disability and shaping mass media and culture. Spanning a range of media formats: television, streaming, productions, performances, podcasts, TED Talks, films, reality TV, graphic novels and social media channels, the book illustrates how disabled people are confronting the marginalization they have faced in mass media for decades. Modern disabled media creators are leveraging new media platforms to recognize the lived experiences of disability and their authentic place in media culture. This innovative and thought-provoking volume will be an important read for scholars, disability advocates and students of Disability Studies, Mass Communication, Media Studies as well as mass media production faculty, disabled people and their allies. The Expositor and Current Anecdotes, 1909      NGOs as Newsmakers Matthew Powers, 2018-05-15

As traditional news outlets' international coverage has waned, several prominent nongovernmental organizations have taken on a growing number of seemingly journalistic functions. Groups such as Amnesty International, Human Rights Watch and Médecins Sans Frontières send reporters to gather information and provide analysis and assign photographers and videographers to boost the visibility of their work. Digital technologies and social media have increased the potential for NGOs to communicate directly with the public, bypassing traditional gatekeepers. But have these efforts changed and expanded traditional news practices and coverage and are there consequences to blurring the lines between reporting and advocacy? In NGOs as Newsmakers, Matthew Powers analyzes the growing role NGOs play in shaping and sometimes directly producing international news. Drawing on interviews, observations and content analysis, he charts the dramatic growth in NGO news-making efforts, examines whether these efforts increase the organizations' chances of garnering news coverage and analyzes the effects of digital technologies on publicity strategies. Although the contemporary media environment offers NGOs greater opportunities to shape the news, Powers finds it also subjects them to news media norms. While advocacy groups can and do provide coverage of otherwise ignored places and topics, they are still dependent on traditional media and political elites and influenced by the expectations of donors, officials, journalists and NGOs themselves. Through an unprecedented glimpse into NGOs' newsmaking efforts, Powers portrays the possibilities and limits of NGOs as newsmakers amid the transformations of international news, with important implications for the intersections of journalism and advocacy.
