From the Ashes Jesse Thistle, 2019-08-06 1 NATIONAL BESTSELLER Winner Kobo Emerging Writer Prize Nonfiction Winner Indigenous Voices Awards Winner High Plains Book Awards Finalist CBC Canada Reads A Globe and Mail Book of the Year An Indigo Book of the Year A CBC Best Canadian Nonfiction Book of the Year In this extraordinary and inspiring debut memoir Jesse Thistle once a high school dropout and now a rising Indigenous scholar chronicles his life on the streets and

how he overcame trauma and addiction to discover the truth about who he is If I can just make it to the next minute then I might have a chance to live I might have a chance to be something more than just a struggling crackhead From the Ashes is a remarkable memoir about hope and resilience and a revelatory look into the life of a Métis Cree man who refused to give up Abandoned by his parents as a toddler Jesse Thistle briefly found himself in the foster care system with his two brothers cut off from all they had known Eventually the children landed in the home of their paternal grandparents whose tough love attitudes quickly resulted in conflicts Throughout it all the ghost of Jesse's drug addicted father haunted the halls of the house and the memories of every family member Struggling with all that had happened Jesse succumbed to a self destructive cycle of drug and alcohol addiction and petty crime spending more than a decade on and off the streets often homeless Finally he realized he would die unless he turned his life around In this heartwarming and heart wrenching memoir Jesse Thistle writes honestly and fearlessly about his painful past the abuse he endured and how he uncovered the truth about his parents Through sheer perseverance and education and newfound love he found his way back into the circle of his Indigenous culture and family An eloquent exploration of the impact of prejudice and racism From the Ashes is in the end about how love and support can help us find happiness despite the odds From the Ashes Dale Mayer, 2020-01-07 Born and raised in a cult with a fanatical father who believed she was destined for greater things Phoenix endured a childhood of pain and torment Not only was her father preparing her for the future he saw he hated that she was stronger better than he was When she's finally rescued her life slowly improves but still her past hinders her future Her father has gifted her with one special note written on a material she has yet to destroy In order to get rid of it forever she travels to Iceland to her father's hometown to visit a fissure of lava that opens every summer Surely the material will burn in the lava And she can then be rid of her father and the special note forever Detective Rowan Einar hates when the damn fissure opens as it always signifies the suicide season a despicable time of year where people travel to his small corner of the world to end their lives When a waif shows up with huge eyes and scars both external and internal he wants to ensure she won't be the next suicide in town But when he hears her story he wonders what is going on Then the deaths begin and he witnesses the visions and energies that he's always been able to see have now merged with Phoenix's energies making the two of them stronger and more powerful What they see though is even more terrifying Deathrider of Darkwood: From the Ashes Jen Guberman, 2023-11-03 After botching a resurrection spell the kingdom's greatest wizard hitches a ride in Tera's head Tera never thought paying attention in her deathrider classes was a big deal After flunking her midterms her mom finally put her foot down and grounds Tera That doesn't stop her from sneaking out to Summercloud Fair one night with her friends In a rush to beat her parents home the night of the fair Tera witnesses the incineration of the kingdom's greatest wizard Thinking she's about to become a hero she attempts a basic resurrection spell from class completely forgetting one of the most important rules there needs to be a body After Aeridonis's consciousness moves into Tera's head she learns about the true evil behind had grown thick with grief From his perch on the twentieth floor of what had been the Meridian Tower Marcus surveyed the wasteland that stretched beyond the city's skeletal remains The glass and steel monuments to human achievement now stood like broken teeth against the horizon their surfaces blackened and their foundations cracked Between them the streets lay buried under layers of ash so deep that abandoned cars appeared as small hills in a gray desert Marcus had been a meteorologist before the collapse spending his days predicting weather patterns and tracking storms Now he tracked something far more dangerous the movement of other survivors In the early days after the event when the electromagnetic pulse had knocked out all electronics and the subsequent firestorms had consumed everything flammable people had banded together out of necessity But as resources dwindled and desperation grew humanity had begun to fracture along lines that Marcus had never imagined possible He pulled out his journal one of the few paper notebooks he'd managed to salvage from his old office and recorded the day's observations The ritual had become his anchor to sanity a daily reminder that somewhere beneath the ash and chaos the world still operated according to natural laws Temperature approximately forty two degrees Fahrenheit though his broken thermometer made precision impossible Wind steady from the northwest carrying the acrid smell of burned plastic and something worse that he tried not to identify Visibility less than two miles same as yesterday
