Out Of Time Irish Republican Prisoners Long Kesh 197:

The Effects of Imprisonment Alison Liebling, Shadd Maruna, 2013-06-17 This book brings together a group of leading authorities in this field both academics and practitioners to address the complex issues that the increasing number of prisoners in the UK USA and elsewhere has raised It assess the implications and results of research in this field and suggests ways of mitigating the often devastating personal and psychological consequences of imprisonment Transitional Justice and Legacies of State Violence Lisa White, 2015-03-05 As politicians public bodies and non Governmental organisations continue to profess an interest in making peace with the past this highly original study explores the motivation significance and legacy of making public experiences of state violence in Northern Ireland Based on a synthesis of documentary material with the findings from a series of contemporary interviews this timely book uncovers the reasoning behind many Republican former detainees accounts of state violence and torture It examines the aims of those who went public during the conflict and discusses the meaning they attached to their stories and the various responses to them It also identifies some of the risks involved in criticising the violence of the British State and illuminates the ways in which truths are often contested in Northern Ireland both during the conflict and in the years which have followed A unique piece of interdisciplinary work the study disentangles and evaluates the discourses presented by former detainees and makes an innovative and interesting contribution to knowledge about transitional justice and legacies of state violence The book is suitable for social science scholars interested in human rights state violence criminology and transitional justice as well as those seeking to understand more about experiences of imprisonment and the legacy of the Northern Ireland conflict The Politics of Memoir and the Northern Ireland Conflict Stephen Hopkins, 2013 This book examines memoir writing by many of the key political actors in the Northern Irish Troubles 1969-1998 and argues that memoir has been a neglected dimension of the study of the legacies of the violent conflict It investigates these sources in the context of ongoing disputes over how to interpret Northern Irelands recent past A careful reading of these memoirs can provide insights into the lived experience and retrospective judgments of some of the main protagonists of the conflict The period of relative peace rests upon an uneasy calm in Northern Ireland Many people continue to inhabit contested ideological territories and in their strategies for shaping the narrative telling of the conflict key individuals within the Protestant Unionist and Catholic Irish Nationalist communities can appear locked into exclusive and self justifying discourses In such circumstances while some memoirists have been genuinely self critical many others have utilised a post conflict language of societal Criminalisation of Dissent in Times of Crisis Anna Di Ronco, Rossella Selmini, 2024-12-26 This book provides a wide ranging global exploration of policies and practices which have sought to undermine dissent during recent and less recent social political economic and health crises Examining various cases of activism and opposition from both the Global North and the Global South and drawing on multi disciplinary insights this book analyses the many ways in which state and non state actors have targeted dissent activism and protest including by vulnerable groups This includes strategies that have silenced dissenting opinions restricted the right to protest intensified policing practices and the surveillance of activists imposed onerous administrative fines criminalised and prosecuted dissenters and even killed activists Fundamentally this volume considers criminalisation as a process that develops on a continuum of control and repressive practices that aim to undermine dissent It contributes to the broader discussion on criminalisation processes policing the rule of law and the quality of our democracies

Refusal to Eat Nayan Shah, 2022-01-04 The first global history of hunger strikes as a tactic in prisons conflicts and protest movements The power of the hunger strike lies in its utter simplicity The ability to choose to forego eating is universally accessible even to those living under conditions of maximal constraint as in the prisons of apartheid South Africa Israeli prisons for Palestinian prisoners and the detention camp at Guantanamo Bay It is a weapon of the weak potentially open to all By choosing to hunger strike a prisoner wields a last resort personal power that communicates viscerally in a way that is undeniable especially when broadcast over prison barricades through media and to movements outside Refusal to Eat is the first book to compile a global history of this vital form of modern protest the hunger strike In this enormously ambitious but concise book Nayan Shah observes how hunger striking stretches and recasts to turn a personal agony into a collective social agony in conflicts and contexts all around the world laying out a remarkable number of case studies over the last century and more From suffragettes in Britain and the US in the early twentieth century to Irish political prisoners Bengali prisoners and detainees at post 9 11 Guantanamo Bay from Japanese Americans in US internment camps to conscientious objectors in the 1960s from South Africans fighting apartheid to asylum seekers in Australia and Papua New Guinea Shah shows the importance of context for each case and the interventions the protesters faced The power that hunger striking unleashes is volatile unmooring all previous resolves certainties and structures and forcing supporters and opponents alike to respond in new ways It can upend prison regimens medical ethics power hierarchies governments and assumptions about gender race and the body's endurance This book takes hunger strikers seriously as decision makers in desperate situations often bound to disagree or fail and captures the continued frustration of authorities when confronted by prisoners willing to die for their positions Above all Refusal to Eat revolves around a core of moral practical and political questions that hunger strikers raise investigating what it takes to resist and oppose state power

Ruairí Ó Brádaigh Robert W. White, 2020-05-05 A biography and analysis of the influential Irish political and military leader At his death in 2013 Ruairí Ó Brádaigh remained a divisive and influential figure in Irish politics and the Irish Republican movement He was the first person to serve as chief of staff of the Irish Republican Army as president of the political party Sinn Féin and to have been elected as an abstentionist to the Dublin parliament He was a prominent uncompromising and articulate spokesperson of those Irish Republicans who questioned the peace process in Northern Ireland His concern was rooted in his analysis of Irish history and his belief that the peace process would not achieve peace He believed that it would support the continued partition of Ireland and result in

continued inevitable conflict The child of Irish Republican veterans Br daigh led IRA raids was arrested and interned escaped and lived on the run and even spent a period on a hunger strike Because he was an effective spokesman for the Irish Republican cause he was at different times excluded from Northern Ireland Britain the United States and Canada He was also a key figure in the secret negotiation of a bilateral IRA British truce in the mid 1970s In a brief afterword for this new edition author Robert W White addresses Br daigh s continuing influence on the Irish Republican Movement including the ongoing dissident campaign Whether for good or bad this ongoing dissident activity is a part of Ruair Br daigh s enduring legacy A tour de force Indispensable for all Irish studies collections Essential Choice Out of Time Laurence

McKeown,2001 Does Terrorism Work? Richard English,2019-02-21 Terrorism is one of the most significant security threats that we face in the twenty first century Not surprisingly there is now a plethora of books on the subject offering definitions of what terrorism is and proffering advice on what causes it and how states should react to it But one of the most important questions about terrorism has until now been left remarkably under scrutinized does it work Richard English now brings thirty years of professional expertise studying terrorism to the task of answering this complex and controversial question Focussing principally on four of the most significant terrorist organizations of the last fifty years al Qaida the Provisional IRA Hamas and ETA and using a wealth of interview material with former terrorists as well as those involved in counter terrorism he argues that we need a far more honest understanding of the degree to which terrorism actually works as well as a more nuanced insight into the precise ways in which it does so Only then can we begin to grapple more effectively with what has become one of the most challenging and eye catching issues of our time The Carceral Network in Ireland Fiona McCann,2020-06-26 This book examines the forms and practices of Irish confinement from the 19th century to present day to explore the social and political failings of 20th and 21st century postcolonial Ireland Building on an interdisciplinary conference held in the Crumlin Road Gaol Belfast the methodological approaches adopted across this book range from the historical and archival to the sociological political and literary This edited collection touches on topics such as industrial schools Magdalen laundries struggles and resistance in prisons both North and South Direct Provision and the ways in which prison experiences have been represented in literature cinema and the arts It sketches out an uncomfortable picture of the techniques for policing bodies deployed in Ireland for over a century This innovative study seeks to establish a link between Ireland s inhumane treatment of women and children of prisoners and of asylum seekers today and to expose and pinpoint modes of resistance to these situations Breaching the Civil Order Jeffrey C. Alexander,Trevor

Stack,Farhad Khosrokhavar,2020 A global approach to developing a theory of radicalism drawing on a series of striking case studies by leading scholars Envisioning Landscape Dan Hicks,Laura McAtackney,Graham Fairclough,2016-06-03 The common feature of landscape archaeology is its diversity of method field location disciplinary influences and contemporary voices The contributors to this volume take advantage of these many strands to investigate landscape archaeology in its multiple forms focusing primarily on the link to heritage the impact on our understanding of temporality and the situated theory that arises out of landscape studies Using examples from New York to Northern Ireland Africa to the Argolid these pieces capture the human significance of material objects in support of a more comprehensive nuanced archaeology

Degrees of Freedom Rod Earle, James Mehigan, 2019-12-18 The first authoritative volume to look back on the last 50 years of The Open University providing higher education to those in prison this unique book gives voice to ex prisoners whose lives have been transformed by the education they received Offering vivid personal testimonies reflective vignettes and academic analysis of prison life and education in prison the book marks the 50th anniversary of The Open University

The Directory of British Alternative Periodicals, 1965-1974 John L. Noyce, 1979 The Prisons Memory Archive: A Case Study in Filmed Memory of Conflict Jolene Mairs Dyer, Conor McCafferty, Cahal McLaughlin, 2022-09-06 The Prisons Memory Archive PMA explores ways that narratives of a conflicted past are filmed at the site of the experiences and later negotiated in a contested present in the North of Ireland Given the state's failed attempts at establishing an official process for addressing the legacy of the conflict that lasted between 1968 and 1998 there are a number of community and academic initiatives that have taken up this task The Prisons Memory Archive is one such project whose aim is to research the possibilities of engaging with the story of the other in a society that is emerging from decades of political violence The PMA filmed back inside the prisons with those who passed through Armagh Gaol 2006 and the Maze and Long Kesh Prison 2007 which were both touchstone and tinderbox during the 30 years of violent conflict We applied protocols of co ownership where participants become co authors of their own story with the right to withdraw up to the point of exhibition inclusivity to ensure a multi narrative archive with prison staff prisoners visitors teachers chaplains etc and life story telling where leading questions are eschewed in order to return more agency to the participants Currently the full archive made up of 160 walk and talk recordings totaling 300 hours of filmed material is available at the Public Record Office of Northern Ireland where it is preserved and made accessible to the public and a website has been designed for educational use of the archive This collection offers critical reflections on the processes of recording archiving and utilising the archive in its several manifestations e.g. feature films website and full archive at the Public Records Office The perspectives offer a range of reflections including filming editing archiving web design education and museum practice 'An Alien Ideology' John Mulqueen, 2019 An Irish Cuba on Britain's doorstep This book studies perceptions of the Soviets influence over Irish revolutionaries during the Cold War The Dublin authorities did not allow the Irish state's non aligned status to prevent them joining the West's crusade against communism Leading officials such as Colonel Dan Bryan in G2 the Irish army intelligence directorate argued that Ireland should assist the NATO powers These officials believed Irish communists were directed by the British communist party the CPGB If communists in Belfast and Dublin were too isolated to pose a threat in either Irish jurisdiction the republican movement was a different matter The authorities north and south saw that a communist influenced IRA had potential appeal This Cold War nightmare arrived with the civil rights agitation in Northern Ireland in the 1960s Did the left wing republican movement constitute a security threat Whitehall feared Dublin could become a Russian espionage hub with the Marxist led Official IRA acting as a Soviet proxy To what extent was the Official IRA s political creation the Workers Party useful to the Soviets Cold War agenda in a militarily neutral state With a parliamentary presence in the Irish state the party warned against Ireland s incorporation into NATO and denounced the modernization of the Western alliance s nuclear arsenal This book offers a valuable new perspective on a much studied period of Irish and British history Translating Frantz Fanon Across Continents and Languages Kathryn Batchelor,Sue-Ann

Harding,2017-04-21 This book provides an innovative look at the reception of Frantz Fanon s texts investigating how when where and why these especially his seminal Les Damnés de la Terre 1961 were first translated and read Building on renewed interest in the author s works in both postcolonial studies and revolutionary movements in recent years as well as travelling theory micro history and histoire croisée interests in Translation Studies the volume tells the stories of translations of Fanon s texts into twelve different languages Arabic Danish English German Italian Norwegian Persian Polish Russian Serbo Croatian Swahili and Swedish bringing both a historical and multilingual perspective to the ways in which Fanon is cited today With contributions from an international interdisciplinary group of scholars the stories told combine themes of movement and place personal networks and agency politics and activism archival research and textual analysis creating a book that is a fresh and comprehensive volume on the translated works of Frantz Fanon and essential reading for scholars in translation studies postcolonial studies cultural studies critical race studies and African and African diaspora literature Say Nothing Patrick Radden Keefe,2020-02-25 NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLER NOW AN FX LIMITED SERIES STREAMING ON HULU NATIONAL BOOK CRITICS CIRCLE AWARD WINNER From the author of Empire of Pain a stunning intricate narrative about a notorious killing in Northern Ireland and its devastating repercussions One of The New York Times s 20 Best Books of the 21st Century A Kirkus Reviews Best Nonfiction Book of the Century A Los Angeles Times Best Nonfiction Book of the Last 30 Years Masked intruders dragged Jean McConville a 38 year old widow and mother of 10 from her Belfast home in 1972 In this meticulously reported book as finely paced as a novel Keefe uses McConville s murder as a prism to tell the history of the Troubles in Northern Ireland Interviewing people on both sides of the conflict he transforms the tragic damage and waste of the era into a searing utterly gripping saga New York Times Book Review Reads like a novel Keefe is a master of narrative nonfiction An incredible story Rolling Stone A Best Book of the Year The New York Times The Washington Post The Wall Street Journal TIME NPR and more Jean McConville s abduction was one of the most notorious episodes of the vicious conflict known as The Troubles Everyone in the neighborhood knew the IRA was responsible But in a climate of fear and paranoia no one would speak of it In 2003 five years after an accord brought an uneasy peace to Northern Ireland a set of human bones was discovered on a beach McConville s children knew it was their mother when they were told a blue safety pin was attached to the dress with so many kids she had always kept it handy for diapers or ripped clothes Patrick Radden Keefe's mesmerizing book on the bitter conflict in Northern Ireland and its aftermath uses the McConville case as a starting point for the tale of a society wracked by a violent guerrilla war a war whose consequences have never been reckoned with The brutal violence seared not only people like the McConville children but also IRA members embittered by a peace that fell far short of the goal of a united Ireland and left them wondering whether the killings they committed were not justified acts of war but simple murders From radical and impetuous IRA terrorists such as Dolours Price who when she was barely out of her teens was already planting bombs in London and targeting informers for execution to the ferocious IRA mastermind known as The Dark to the spy games and dirty schemes of the British Army to Gerry Adams who negotiated the peace but betrayed his hardcore comrades by denying his IRA past Say Nothing conjures a world of passion betrayal vengeance and anguish Margaret Thatcher, the Conservative Party and the Northern Ireland Conflict, 1975-1990

Stephen Kelly, 2021-01-14 Winner of the 2022 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Titles The first woman elected to lead a major Western power and the longest serving British prime minister for 150 years Margaret Thatcher is arguably one the most dominant and divisive forces in 20th century British politics Yet there has been no overarching exploration of the development of Thatcher's views towards Northern Ireland from her appointment as Conservative Party leader in 1975 until her forced retirement in 1990 In this original and much needed study Stephen Kelly rectifies this From Thatcher's no surrender attitude to the Republican hunger strikes to her nurturing role in the early stages of the Northern Ireland peace process Kelly traces the evolutionary and sometimes contradictory nature of Thatcher's approach to Northern Ireland In doing so this book reflects afresh on the political relationship between Britain and Ireland in the late 20th century An engaging and nuanced analysis of previously neglected archival and reported sources Margaret Thatcher the Conservative Party and the Northern Ireland Conflict 1975 1990 is a vital resource for those interested in Thatcherism Anglo Irish relations and 20th century British political history more broadly Faoi Ghlas Dominic Adams, 2016 Dominic Adams was six years old in 1971 when he first experienced life in Long Kesh He was brought there on a visit to his oldest brother Gerry who was interned at the time Long Kesh has played a huge part in his and his family's life over the last forty years four of his brothers were imprisoned there and three of his brothers in law also spent time in Long Kesh In the introduction to his book Faoi Ghlas Dominic Adams describes being motivated to write this jail memoir by the many questions asked of me by my two children and by a belief that every ex prisoner should record their memoirs either written or orally In this light hearted and easily read account of seven years in prison in both the Crum and the H Blocks of Long Kesh between 1984 and 1991 Writer Danny Morrison said With its grim humour and light banter Faoi Ghlas is an important account of comradeship in jail and joins the established canon of republican prison literature An Archaeology of the Troubles Laura McAtackney, 2014 This volume reveals the seminal role of material culture in understanding the Long Kesh Maze prison during the course of the Troubles in Northern Ireland continuing into the peace process Using a multitude of sources it provides an interpretation of the Troubles and the continuing destabilizing role of material remnants of the conflict
