incredibly varied life the special joys of being a grandmother the frustrations of the outback farming life and the humorous side of fame Here Sara shares both her triumphs and her tragedies Warm funny and down to earth Sara Henderson has become one of Australia's living legends and an inspiration to thousands of people The Strength of Our Dreams is full of the unforgettable outback yarns and characters that have made Sara one of Australia's favourite authors Life is once again offering me unlimited opportunities with one hand while hitting me in the face with new challenges and problems on the other But that's what life is all about And who said any problem or challenge is unsolvable Sara Henderson Some of My Friends Have Tails Sara Henderson, 1996 Originally published in hardcover in 1995 this is the paperback edition of stories about friends of the author Sara Henderson Many of the stories feature animals who have played a part in the life of this well known Australian woman who runs the Bullo River station in the NT The author's other books are From Strength to Strength The Strength in Us All and Outback Wisdom A Year at Bullo Sara Henderson, 1998 First published in hardback in 1998 This description of life on a country property features recipes for every month of the year illustrated with colour photographs The author manages Bullo River Station Her other publications include From Strength to Strength which won the inaugural Australian Book of the Year Award and Outback Wisdom The Strength in Us All Sara Henderson, 1995 The inspirational sequel to From strength to strength When she was named Bulletin Qantas Businesswoman of the Year in 1991 Sara Henderson's life changed forever Australians everywhere took her to their hearts and almost overnight she became a public personality But behind all the glamour and success life continued to deal Sara its heavy blows An Outback Life Mary Groves, 2012-08 An Outback Life is a story of a woman who spent the prime of her life in the wilds of Australia's Northern Territory when it really was an untamed frontier In this earthy tale of love hope loss and survival Mary Groves describes the sometimes heart breaking loneliness the hard work and the rises and falls in her family's fortunes as they battle to survive in Australia's Top End Mary was the key hands on person in the business she shared with her husband Joe learning mostly out of necessity to operate helicopters cattle trucks and anything else it took to grow their very successful family business During the process of surviving the many almost insurmountable obstacles presented along the way she has collected an abundance of interesting stories involving Australian and NT Pastoral history Racing Rodeo Droving Aviation Spirituality and Aboriginal history By this first time author Mary's promise to her mother originally instigated this book as a historical record but Mary is also keen to have it used as a survival handbook for future generations In the tradition of From Strength to Strength by Sara Henderson and We of the Never Never by Mrs Aeneas Gunn this lively historical autobiography tells an earthy tale of love hope loss and dogged determination to survive in the outback in simple straightforward language and often the vernacular of the people it is set among Set in Australia's last frontier this Memoir would probably be best described as a real Australian historical adventure of survival at all costs The narrative zips along at a lively pace and features one cracking yarn after another In addition to telling her own and her family's story across the decades Mary includes descriptions of many long lost bush skills and natural phenomena in the hope that the book may serve as a kind of survival handbook Due to its exotic appeal along with its parallels to America s Wild West An Outback Life will appeal to male and female readers males because of its adventure subject matter and females because the story is told by a woman and unfolds in a time and place where your gender usually dictated the course of one s life An Outback Life will appeal to readers of the following titles The Thorn Birds by Colleen McCullough From Strength to Strength by Sara Henderson No Place for a Woman by Maise Young We of the Never Never by Mrs Aeneas Gunn Kings in Grass Castles by Mary Durack An Outback Life was first published in Australia in May 2011 and 2012 by Allen Unwin The author is now keen to accommodate the overseas interest shown

Outback Wisdom from a City Slicker Robyn Pulman,2013 The EARTHY IDEAS in this book will ground you and guide you towards a simpler more effective way of living and relating at home and at work Robyn Pulman has relocated from a lifetime in cities to a remote cattle and sheep station in far western Queensland for the love of the land and a man She has captured her own often humorous and sometimes painful lessons gleaned in her outback world and skilfully applied them to the human zoo You will rediscover or learn How to handle people through understanding animal behaviour That people will always tell you how to treat them if you only observe That you can find peace when you surrender to your environment The joy and vitality of simple earthy pursuits How nature and all things natural heal That what you resist persists The importance of resilience and mateship If Outback Wisdom inspires the city slickers as much as you have inspired those of us in the Outback who have had the privilege of knowing and working with you they will be truly blessed Jackie Dare Thargomindah
