Transitional Justice and the Politics of Inscription Joseph Robinson,2017-08-04 Taking Northern Ireland as its primary case study this book applies the burgeoning literature in memory studies to the primary question of transitional justice how shall societies and individuals reckon with a traumatic past Joseph Robinson argues that without understanding how memory shapes moulds and frames narratives of the past in the minds of communities and individuals theorists and practitioners may not be able to fully appreciate the complex emotive realities of transitional political landscapes Drawing on interviews with what the author terms memory curators coupled with a robust analysis of secondary literature from a range of transitional cases the book analyses how the bodies of the dead the injured and the traumatised are written into or written out of transitional justice The author argues that scholars cannot appreciate the dynamism of transitional memory space unless they first engage with the often silenced or marginalised voices whose memories remain trapped behind the antagonistic politics of fear and division Ultimately challenging the imperative of national reconciliation the author argues for a politics of public memory that incubates at multiple nodes of social production and can facilitate a vibrant democratic debate over the ways in which a traumatic past can or should be remembered Outline of a Theory of Practice Pierre

Bourdieu,1977-06-02 Outline of a Theory of Practice is recognized as a major theoretical text on the foundations of anthropology and sociology Pierre Bourdieu a distinguished French anthropologist develops a theory of practice which is simultaneously a critique of the methods and postures of social science and a general account of how human action should be understood With his central concept of the habitus the principle which negotiates between objective structures and practices

Bourdieu is able to transcend the dichotomies which have shaped theoretical thinking about the social world The author draws on his fieldwork in Kabylia Algeria to illustrate his theoretical propositions With detailed study of matrimonial strategies and the role of rite and myth he analyses the dialectical process of the incorporation of structures and the objectification of habitus whereby social formations tend to reproduce themselves A rigorous consistent materialist approach lays the foundations for a theory of symbolic capital and through analysis of the different modes of domination a theory of symbolic power
