Outrageous Conduct Art Ego And The Twilight Zone Case:

Outrageous Conduct Stephen Farber, Marc Green, 1988 Covers the fatal helicopter accident on the set of the movie The Twilight Zone and the subsequent trial Outrageous Conduct Stephen Farber, Marc Green, 1989-06-01 On July 23 1982 on the set of Twilight Zone The Movie an explosion kills two children and actor Vic Morrow Here is the dramatic story of the people and events that lead to the exposure of the greedy underbelly of the world's most glamorous profession The Many Lives of The Twilight Zone Ron Riecki, Kevin J. Wetmore, Jr., 2022-10-12 More than sixty years after the The Twilight Zone debuted on television the show remains a cultural phenomenon including a feature film three television reboots a comic book series a magazine and a theatrical production This collection of new essays offers a roadmap through a dimension not only of sight and sound but of mind Scholars writers artists and contributors to the 1980s series investigate the many incarnations of Rod Serling's influential vision through close readings of episodes explorations of major themes and first person accounts of working on the show ABA Journal, 1988-11-01 The ABA Journal serves the legal profession Qualified recipients are lawyers and judges law students law librarians and associate members of the American Bar Association Steven Spielberg's Children Linda Ruth Williams, 2025-08-12 Why has Steven Spielberg's work been so often identified with childhood and children How does the director elicit such complex performances from his young actors Steven Spielberg's Children is the first book to investigate children childhood and Spielberg's employment of child actors together and in depth Through a series of lively readings of both the celebrated performances he elicits from his young stars in films such as E.T. The Extra Terrestrial A.I. Artificial Intelligence and Empire of the Sun as well as less discussed roles in films such as War of the Worlds The BFG and Jurassic Park this book shows children to be key players in the director's articulation of childhood since the 1970s Steven Spielberg's Children presents children and childhood in some surprising ways not only analyzing boyhood and girlhood according to Spielberg but considering children as alien adult children who refuse to grow up and children who aren't even human It discusses the way in which children have served to cast Spielberg as a sentimentalist but also how they are more frequently framed as complex cruel and canny The child might be dangled as bait in an exploitation horror scenario Jaws might become the image of universal higher beings Close Encounters of the Third Kind or might be a young cultural creator like the director was himself The Fabelmans born with a camera glued to his eye The child on both sides of the camera is a resonant image signifying all that adult culture wants it to be yet resisting this through authorship of their own stories The book also looks at Spielberg's young actors in the long history of child stars in theater and cinema and how Spielberg's children have fared as performers and celebrities Directed by Allen Smithee Jeremy Braddock, Stephen Hock, 2001 Allen Smithee specializes in the mediocre He is versatile He is prolific And he doesn't exist From 1969 until 1999 Allen Smithee was the pseudonym adopted by Hollywood directors when they wished not to be associated with films ostensibly of their making Encompassing over fifty films of various stripes B movies sequels music videos made for TV movies

Smithee's three decades of work affords the authors of this volume a unique opportunity to reassess the claims of auteurism both in its traditional guise and in the more commodified form it currently assumes. Sometimes treating Smithee as an auteur in much the same way critics and scholars have treated directors as diverse as Douglas Sirk, Abbas Kiarostami, and Quentin Tarantino, the contributors reclaim new possibilities for auteurist filmmaking and film studies even as they show what an empty display it has recently become. In accounting for this change, the essays in this volume employ innovative theories of authorship to recapture the subversive effect that auteurism once enjoyed. Thus the Smithee name becomes part of a larger discussion of the economics and history of pseudonyms in filmmaking, notably in the blacklist of the 1950s, as well as an opportunity to employ Jacques Derrida's theory of the signature to recover obscured economic and historic contexts within Smithee's films. Unique in its focus, innovative in its approach, Directed by Allen Smithee argues that it is precisely through throwaway films such as Smithee's that recent Hollywood cinema can best be studied. Rod Serling's Night Gallery Scott Skelton, Jim Benson, 1999. When CBS cancelled Serling's series The Twilight Zone, Serling sought a similar concept in Night Gallery in the early 1970s as a new forum for his brand of storytelling: a mosaic of classic horror and fantasy tales. In this work, the authors explore the genesis of the series and provide production detail and behind-the-scenes material. They offer critical commentary and off-screen anecdotes for every episode, complete cast and credit listings, and synopses of all 43 episodes. Also featured are interviews with television personalities including Roddy McDowall, John Astin, Richard Kiley, and John Badham. Lost Illusions David A. Cook, 2002-03-15. This volume examines the development of film and the film industry during the 1970s and the political and economic background that influenced it. Journeys into Terror Cynthia J. Miller, A. Bowdoin Van Riper, 2023-05-23. Since ancient times, explorers and adventurers have captured popular imagination with their frightening narratives of travels gone wrong. Usually, these stories heavily feature the exotic or unknown and can transform any journey into a nightmare. Stories of such horrific happenings have a long and rich history that stretches from folktales to contemporary media narratives. This work presents eighteen essays that explore the ways in which these texts reflect and shape our fear and fascination surrounding travel, posing new questions about the geographies of evil and how our notions of terrible places and their inhabitants change over time. The volume's five thematic sections offer new insights into how power, privilege, uncanny landscapes, misbegotten quests, hellish commutes, and deadly vacations can turn our travels into terror. Stuntwomen Mollie Gregory, 2015-11-19. Gives voice to the women who have risked their lives for a few perilous moments on the big screen. A fascinating look at a risky profession. The Washington Post. They've traded punches in knockdown brawls, crashed biplanes through barns, and raced to the rescue in fast cars. They add suspense and drama to the story, portraying the swimmer stalked by the menacing shark, the heroine dangling twenty feet below a soaring hot air balloon, or the woman leaping nine feet over a wall to escape a dog attack. Only an expert can make such feats of daring look easy, and stuntwomen with the skills to perform and survive great moments of action in movies have been hitting their mark in

Hollywood since the beginning of film Here Mollie Gregory presents the first history of stuntwomen in the film industry from the silent era to the twenty first century In the early years of motion pictures women were highly involved in all aspects of film production but they were marginalized as movies became popular and more important profitable Capable stuntwomen were replaced by men in wigs and very few worked between the 1930s and 1960s As late as the 1990s men wore wigs and women s clothes to double as actresses and were even painted down for some performances while men and women of color were regularly denied stunt work For decades stuntwomen have faced institutional discrimination unequal pay and sexual harassment even as they jumped from speeding trains and raced horse drawn carriages away from burning buildings Featuring sixty five interviews Stuntwomen showcases the absorbing stories and uncommon courage of women who make their living planning and performing action packed sequences that keep viewers hearts racing Next Generation
