Kafka's Zoopoetics Naama Harel,2020-05-04 Nonhuman figures are ubiquitous in the work of Franz Kafka from his early stories down to his very last one Despite their prominence throughout his oeuvre Kafka's animal representations have been considered first and foremost as mere allegories of intrahuman matters In recent years the allegorization of Kafka's animals has been poetically dismissed by Kafka's commentators and politically rejected by posthumanist scholars Such critique however has yet to inspire either an overarching or an interdiscursive account This book aims to fill this lacuna Positioning animal stories as a distinct and significant corpus within Kafka's entire poetics and closely examining them in dialogue with both literary and posthumanist analysis Kafka's Zoopoetics critically revisits animality interspecies relations and the very human animal contradistinction in the writings of Franz Kafka Kafka's animals typically stand at the threshold between humanity and animality fusing together human and nonhuman features Among his liminal creatures we find a human transformed into vermin in The Metamorphosis an ape turned into a human being in A Report to an Academy talking jackals in Jackals and Arabs a philosophical dog in Researches of a Dog a contemplative mole like creature in The Burrow and indiscernible beings in Josefine the Singer or the Mouse People Depicting species boundaries as mutable and obscure Kafka creates a fluid human animal space which can be described as humanimal The constitution of a humanimal space radically undermines the stark barrier between human and other animals dictated by the anthropocentric paradigm Through denying animalistic elements in humans and disavowing the agency of nonhuman animals excluding them from social life and neutralizing compassion for them this barrier has been designed to regularize both humanity and animality The contextualization of Kafka's animals within posthumanist theory engenders a post anthropocentric arena which is simultaneously both imagined and very real Franz Kafka Neil Heins,Portia Williams Weiskel,Neil Helms,2009 Provides a biography of Franz Kafka along with critical views of his work literature Kafka's Cognitive Realism Emily Troscianko, 2014-02-03 This book uses insights from the cognitive sciences to illuminate Kafka's poetics exemplifying a paradigm for literary studies in which cognitive scientific insights are brought to bear directly on literary texts. The volume shows that the concept of cognitive realism can be a critically productive framework for exploring how textual evocations of cognition correspond to or diverge from cognitive realities and how this may affect real readers. In particular, it argues that Kafka's evocations of visual perception including narrative perspective and emotion can be understood as fundamentally enactive and that in this sense they are cognitively realistic. These cognitively realistic qualities are likely to establish a compellingly direct connection with the reader's imagination but because they contradict folk psychological assumptions about how our minds work they may also leave the reader unsettled. This is the first time a fully interdisciplinary research paradigm has been used to explore a single author's fictional works in depth opening up avenues for future research in cognitive literary science.

Worldly Spirits, Extra-Human Dimensions, and the Global Anglophone Novel Hilary Thompson, 2023-12-28 Engaging a diverse range of contemporary anglophone literature from authors of the Asian Middle Eastern and Caribbean diasporas this book explores how such works turn to spirit forces spirit realms and spirit beings were animals mystical birds and snake goddesses as positive forces that assert perceptual dimensions beyond those of the human and present a vision of Earth as agentive and animate. With previous scholarship downplaying these aspects of modern works as uncanny hauntings or symptoms of capitalism's or anthropocentrism's destructiveness or within a blanket rubric of magical realism Hilary Thompson rejects this partitioning of them as products of an exotic East or global South. By contrast this book builds a new critical framework for analysis of worldly spirits drawing on anthropological discussions of animism the newly recovered 1930s boundary crossing art movement Dimensionism and multispecies theories of animals diverse perceptual worlds. Taking stock of novels published from 2018-2020 by such writers as Amitav Ghosh Andr Alexis Yangsze Choo Azareen Van der Vliet Oloomi Zeyn Joukhadar and Tanya Tagaq Thompson illuminates how these works extend an ecological call to decentre the human and align with multidimensional theories of art and literature to provide ways to read for rather than reduce the extra human dimensions emerging in contemporary fiction. A refreshing rejection of ecological apocalypticism this book unsettles typical conceptualizations of both anglophone and Anthropocene literatures by invoking European art theory philosophy and non Western ideas on animism and spirits to put forward perceptions of the extra human as a form of dealing with the many uncertainties of today's different crises.

Gender and Politics in Austrian Fiction Ritchie Robertson, Edward Timms, 1996 This volume of essays on Austrian fiction compiled at a time when Austria is forming stronger links within the European Union illustrates a transition from traditional preoccupations with character differences between Austrian and German literature to wider concerns of politics and gender. Fictional treatments of such issues as male homosexuality problems in feminism the representation of women in male authored texts and anti war protest are examined both in well known novels and in little known works by underrated authors.

Many of the authors discussed have received insufficient recognition because they do not fall within a familiar canon of German literature. The specialised research involved in compiling this material is accessible through a series of book reviews included at the end of the volume which range in subject area from the life of an eighteenth century soldier in the Habsburg service to the continuing discussion on Austrian identity. Edinburgh Companion to Animal Studies Lynn Turner, 2018-03-07 This volume critically investigates current topics and disciplines that are affected, enriched or put into dispute by the burgeoning scholarship on Animal Studies. Teaching Literature and Medicine Anne Hunsaker Hawkins, Marilyn Chandler McEntyre, 2016-01-01 Both the actualities and the metaphorical possibilities of illness and medicine abound in literature from the presence of tuberculosis in Franz Kafka's fiction or childbed fever in Mary Shelley's Frankenstein to disease in Thomas Mann's Death in Venice or in Harold Pinter's A Kind of Alaska from the stories of Anton Chekhov and of William Carlos Williams both doctors to the poetry of nurses derived from their contrasting experiences. These are just a few examples of the cross pollination between literature and medicine. It is no surprise then that courses in literature and medicine flourish in undergraduate curricula, medical schools and continuing education programs throughout the United States and Canada. This volume in the MLA series Options for Teaching presents a variety of approaches to the subject. It is intended both for literary scholars and for physicians who teach literature and medicine or who are interested in enriching their courses in either discipline by introducing interdisciplinary dimensions. The thirty-four essays in Teaching Literature and Medicine describe model courses, deal with specific texts, authors and genres, list readings widely taught in literature and medicine courses, discuss the value of texts in both medical education and the practice of medicine and provide bibliographic resources including works in the history of medicine from classical antiquity. Fictional Styles of George Orwell Arun Joshi, 2004 It is the growing relevance of the political thought and vision of George Orwell in the 21st Century when the world is at eternal war with itself in the name of war on terrorism that prompted the idea of getting this book published. The title Fictional Styles of George Orwell may well be understood as to how the author wrote in his times in the first half of the twentieth century but it attempts to encompass a greater concept: how Orwell used different techniques to demonstrate through his writings that the world was heading toward a planet inhabited by the people deprived of human values and becoming robots under the complete control of their masters. Though his target was the Soviet society and the colonial powers, but as the times have shown that even the democracies be that India, boasting of being the largest democracy in the world or the United States of America where individual freedoms are sought to be curtailed in the garb of patriotism, have come to follow the same totalitarian attitude, the distinction between democracies and dictatorships has collapsed. In our times, the records are being fudged, past is being distorted and falsehood is being touted as truth. These ideas of suppression of the freedom of the individual, thinking and how unrelenting mad race for money and status is corrupting and polluting society have been effectively brought out by
