Outspoken Essays 19:

Outspoken, Essays, by William Ralph Inge ... William Ralph Inge, 1921      Harbingers of Twentieth-Century Neo-classicism Finn Egeland Hansen, 2019-06-03 This book proposes a new theory about the neo classical style in music The Danish emeritus professor Finn Egeland Hansen has chosen three different composers the French Camille Saint Saens and Charles Gounod and the Danish Niels W Gade to discuss his thesis that the main classical romantic current of the 19th century in fact represents two sub currents One sub current focusing on the romantic aspects the other focusing on the classical aspects of its musical style In close readings of works by these three composers Hansen demonstrates how in different aspects they were harbingers of the neo classical style a style that is usually exemplified through later composers like Igor Stravinsky Paul Hindemith and the members of the French group Les Six Hansen labels these harbingers style as retro classicism Finn Egeland Hansen s doctoral dissertation was on The Grammar of Gregorian Tonality 1979 and his most recent book is Layers of Musical Meaning 2006 Since 1990 he has been Chairman of the Foundation for the Publication of the Works of Niels W Gade      The Publishers Weekly ,1898      The English Catalogue of Books ... Off white Catherine Baker, Bogdan C. Iacob, Anikó Imre, James Mark, 2024-05-28 This volume foregrounds racial difference as a key to an alternative history of the Central and Eastern European region which revolves around the role of whiteness as the unacknowledged foundation of semi peripheral nation states and national identities and of the region s current status as a global stronghold of unapologetic white Christian nationalisms Contributions address the pivotal role of whiteness in international diplomacy geographical exploration media cultures music intellectual discourses academic theories everyday language and banal nationalism s many avenues of expressions The book offers new paradigms for understanding the relationships among racial capitalism populism economic peripherality and race      Demography and Degeneration Richard A. Soloway, 2014-02-01 Richard Soloway offers a compelling and authoritative study of the relationship of the eugenics movement to the dramatic decline in the birthrate and family size in twentieth century Britain Working in a tradition of hereditarian determinism which held fast to the premise that like tends to beget like eugenicists developed and promoted a theory of biosocial engineering through selective reproduction Soloway shows that the appeal of eugenics to the middle and upper classes of British society was closely linked to recurring concerns about the relentless drop in fertility and the rapid spread of birth control practices from the 1870s to World War II Demography and Degeneration considers how differing scientific and pseudoscientific theories of biological inheritance became popularized and enmeshed in the prolonged often contentious national debate about race suicide and the dwindling family Demographic statistics demonstrated that birthrates were declining among the better educated most successful classes while they remained high for the poorest least educated portion of the population For many people steeped in the ideas of social Darwinism eugenicist theories made this decline all the more alarming they feared that falling birthrates among the better classes signified a racial decline and degeneration that might prevent Britain from successfully negotiating the myriad competitive challenges facing the nation in the twentieth century Although the organized eugenics movement remained small and elitist throughout most of its history this study demonstrates how pervasive eugenic assumptions were in the middle and upper reaches of British society at least until World War II It also traces the important role of eugenics in the emergence of the modern family planning movement and the formulation of population policies in the interwar years
