Outwitting The Gestapo:

Outwitting the Gestapo Lucie Aubrac, 1994 Lucie Aubrac of Catholic and peasant background was teaching history in a Lyon girls school and newly married to Raymond a Jewish engineer when World War II broke out and divided France The couple living in the Vichy zone soon joined the Resistance movement in opposition to the Nazis and their collaborators Outwitting the Gestapo is Lucie s harrowing account of her participation in the Resistance of the months when though pregnant she planned and took part in raids to free comrades including her husband under Nazi death sentence from the prisons of Klaus Barbie the infamous Butcher of Lyon Her book is also the basis for the 1997 French movie Lucie Aubrac which was released in the United States in 1999 Remembering the Occupation in French film L. Hewitt, 2008-02-18 When collective memory is a source of national debate the public representation of history quickly becomes a locus of controversy and ideological struggle This work shows how French film has allowed for a public airing of current concerns through the lens of memory s recreations of the Occupation

Women's Representations of the Occupation in Post-'68 France Claire Gorrara, 1998-08-12 This study examines French women s writing and representations of the Occupation in post 68 France The author looks at the work of The Women Resisters those women who were adult resisters during the war and The Daughters of the Occupation those who were born during or after the war period The main contention of the study is that the older generation s nascent awareness of how gender informs political activism is reworked into explicitly feminist representations of wartime France by younger women writers

Interrogation in War and Conflict Christopher Andrew, Simona Tobia, 2014-04-29 This edited volume offers a comparative and interdisciplinary analysis of interrogation and questioning in war and conflict in the twentieth century Despite the current public interest and its military importance interrogation and questioning in conflict is still a largely under researched theme This volume s methodological thrust is to select historical case studies ranging in time from the Great War to the conflicts in former Yugoslavia and including the Second World War decolonization the Cold War the Troubles in Northern Ireland and international justice cases in The Hague each of which raises interdisciplinary issues about the role of interrogation These case studies were selected because they resurface previously unexplored sources on the topic or revisit known cases which allow us to analyse the role of interrogation and questioning in intelligence security and military operations Written by a group of experts from a range of disciplines including history intelligence psychology law and human rights Interrogation in War and Conflict provides a study of the main turning points in interrogation and questioning in twentieth century conflicts over a wide geographical area The collection also looks at issues such as the extent of the use of harsh techniques the value of interrogation to military intelligence security and international justice the development of interrogation as a separate profession in intelligence as well as the relationship between interrogation and questioning and wider society This book will be of much interest to students of intelligence studies strategic studies counter terrorism international justice history and IR in general 'This

Anguish, Like a Kind of Intimate Song' Lillian Leigh Westerfield, 2004 This literary history explores the reality of European women's roles in fighting Nazism. By comparing the resistance literature of French and German authors, this book links the traditional gender expectations for women and the conventions of their everyday lives with their unique forms of resistance. Theirs was an opposition grounded in the ordinary beyond the sphere of political violence. Women were long regarded as outsiders to combat and politics with no stake in upholding resistance myths. Women authors therefore freely rendered the personal and moral landscape of the resister's world in a new vocabulary. They revised standard rhetoric and replaced heroism and bullets with the values of home, human relationships, and candid acknowledgement of the sorrow, fear, and uncertainty of war.

Mission France Kate Vigurs, 2021-05-18 The full story of the thirty-nine female SOE agents who went undercover in France. Formed in 1940, Special Operations Executive was to coordinate Resistance work overseas. The organization's F section sent more than four hundred agents into France, thirty-nine of whom were women. But while some are widely known—Violette Szabo, Odette Sansom, Noor Inayat Khan—others have had their stories largely overlooked. Kate Vigurs interweaves for the first time the stories of all thirty-nine female agents. Tracing their journeys from early recruitment to work undertaken in the field to evasion from or capture by the Gestapo, Vigurs shows just how greatly missions varied. Some agents were more adept at parachuting. Some agents' missions lasted for years, others less than a few hours. Some survived; others were murdered. By placing the women in the context of their work with the SOE and the wider war, this history reveals the true extent of the differences in their abilities and attitudes while underlining how they nonetheless shared a common mission and ultimately deserve recognition.

France: The Dark Years, 1940-1944 Julian Jackson, 2003-03-05 The French call them the Dark Years. This definitive new history of Occupied France explores the myths and realities of four of the most divisive years in French history. Taking in ordinary people's experiences of defeat, collaboration, resistance, and liberation, it uncovers the conflicting memories of occupation which ensure that even today France continues to debate the legacy of the Vichy years.

The Resistance, 1940 Charles B. Potter, 2016-12-12 The Resistance 1940 illuminates the early phase of the French Resistance through first-hand accounts describing how movements organized themselves in opposition to both German occupation and the collaborationist Vichy government. Translated and annotated by Charles Potter, these writings composed by French men and women reveal how the Resistance fighters experienced defeat and resurrection in the pivotal year of 1940. This primary source reader opens with First Fight by Jean Moulin, which offers a vivid eyewitness recounting of the collapse of France, penned by arguably the greatest hero of the Resistance. This major historical document is supplemented by three additional accounts of subsequent events: First Resistance by Germaine Tillon, who was arrested in 1942 and sent to Ravensbrück concentration camp for the duration of the war, depicts the formation of the Groupe du Musée de l'Homme; National Liberation by Henri Frenay, who originally supported the Vichy government but quickly became disillusioned, offers details on the planning of the vast resistance network; later known as Combat Finally We Were Terrorists by Jean Garcin excerpts the memoir of a young Socialist in the southern zone who later headed resistance efforts in the city of Marseilles Along with these annotated texts Potter includes an informative introduction and contextualizes each source positioning the documents within the timeline of events Taken together these four seminal accounts from four individual perspectives offer compelling evidence about how and when the French Resistance began
