Over From Dover:

Cases on Bailments, Carriers and Public Callings Hugh Evander Willis, 1913      Achtung Spitfire: Luftwaffe over England Hugh Trivett, 2016-09-23 14 August 1940 which Hitler code named Adlertag or Eagle Day was fated to become one of the most significant days in the Battle of Britain. It signified the start of the Luftwaffe's aerial offensive planned to cripple Britain and clear the path for the German troops amassed in readiness for invasion. The Luftwaffe sent out waves of unescorted bombers to attack difficult and long range targets by daylight hoping to confuse and split the fighter defences with the small but numerous bomb formations. The tactic was a calculated gamble and one that cost the Germans deeply. Despite successes in attacking and damaging airfields the losses were severe and the following day Goering vetoed such tactics now convinced his bombers could never operate over Britain without fighter cover. Using first hand recollections of both Luftwaffe and RAF pilots as well as local witnesses to the day's action gleaned from interviews and written accounts and with many unpublished photographs Hugh Trivett has collated the definitive record of Eagle Day.      The Knickerbacker, 1853      The Breaking Storm Dilip Sarkar, 2023-11-09 In The Breaking Storm the first of Dilip Sarkar's unprecedented seven volume series exploring the Battle of Britain the events that led up to the outbreak of war in 1939 and which set the scene for the epic aerial conflict of summer 1940 are fully explored. Continuing his examination of the events of the Spitfire Summer in The Breaking Storm Dilip provides a day by day chronicle of the Battle of Britain's first phase the so called Kanalkampf which was fought over the Channel bound convoys between 10 July and 12 August 1940. This account though does not simply concern RAF Fighter Command as the author recognizes the operations and efforts of the RAF's Bomber and Coastal commands the Royal Navy and mercantile marine making this book part of what he calls the Big story. Hitler's actual policies and intentions towards the ongoing war with Britain are also explored. If the Battle of Britain was fought to deny Germany the aerial superiority required to launch a seaborne invasion of southern England then the author argues the conflict could surely only have begun when the Germans committed to Operation Seelwe which was not in fact until 21 July 1940. It has previously been accepted that Hitler's War Directive of 16 July 1940 signaled the intention to invade but the author proves that this was no more than another example of the brinkmanship that Hitler was renowned for and the air attacks at that time little more than Air Fleet Diplomacy all of which was intended to frighten Britain into accepting the Führer's last appeal to reason of 19 July 1940. In his broadcast of 22 July 1940 Lord Halifax made the nation's unbowed position quite clear. He called Hitler's bluff previously reluctant to fight Britain. Hitler's preferred policy in the ongoing war had been blockade and diplomacy but now he had no choice but to unleash the Luftwaffe against Britain. All of this is investigated in detail aligning these wider events and high decisions with action in the air. Through diligent research combined with crucial official primary sources and personal papers Dilip unravels many myths often challenging the accepted narrative. This is not simply another dull record of combat losses and claims far from it. Drawing upon unique first hand accounts from a wide range of combatants and eyewitnesses along with Daily Home Intelligence Reports and numerous other primary sources this book forms part of what is likely to be the first and last such comprehensively woven account of this epic air battle      The Battle of Britain T.C.G. Government could do more to encourage waterborne freight transport that Network Rail must recognise the importance of freight instead of treating it as the poor relation of passenger services that the Government needs to engage with European freight schemes to ensure that UK business is not disadvantaged and further highlight the importance of the UK air freight operators competitiveness with continental operators the Government needs to discuss a way forward with the UK haulier industry which the Committee sees as being unfairly treated through subsidising their continental competitors through high levels of taxation on fuel      Railway News, Finance and Joint-stock Companies' Journal ,1902
