Rethinking Foreign Investment for Sustainable Development Kevin P. Gallagher, Daniel Chudnovsky, 2010-12 Consisting of country case studies and comparative analyses from Latin American and US based political economists this volume examines the recent history of foreign investment for development in Latin America in the context of the current backlash against Washington Consensus policies These essays form the broad conclusion that foreign direct investment fell far short of generating the necessary linkages for sustainable economic development

Tresierra, Ramón López, Thomas Kelly, Markku Simula, Kari Keipi, Carlos Felipe Jaramillo, Olli Haltia, Jared J. Hardner, Marc J. Dourojeanni, Jan G. Laarman, Richard Rice, 2000-01-01 Forest Resource Policy in Latin America gathers the thinking of a score of experts on sustainable use and management of forests including incentives for investment The authors tackle the thorny social issues of property rights deforestation and forest management and ownership by indigenous people and take a hard look at the trade and environmental issues in forest production that will affect future directions for sustainable forestry development in Latin America Some argue that the main opportunity to conserve natural forests lies in recognizing and paying for the environmental services they provide In addition compensatory measures such as the establishment and better management of strictly protected areas appear to be the best tools to delay the loss of ecosystems and species Alternative forest concession policies and trade and environmental issues in forest production are also analyzed
