Isamu Noguchi S Modernism Amy Lyford, 2013-06-08 In a study that combines archival research a firm grounding in the historical context biographical analysis and sustained attention to specific works of art Amy Lyford provides an account of Isamu Noguchi s work between 1930 and 1950 and situates him among other artists who found it necessary to negotiate the issues of race and national identity In particular Lyford explores Noguchi s sense of his art as a form of social activism and a means of struggling against stereotypes of race ethnicity and national identity Ultimately the aesthetics and rhetoric of American modernism in this period both energized Noguchi s artistic production and constrained his public reputation

Chinese Art in the XX Century , Collecting Asian Art Markéta Hánová, Yuka Kadoi, Simone Wille, 2024-02-29 Rather than centering on the well known collections in Western European and North American museums Collecting Asian Art turns to museum collections of Asian art in Central Europe which emerged from the late 19th century onwards Highlighting the dimensions of Central European connectedness this volume explores how these collections evolved and changed under changing cultural and political conditions from the pre World War I to the post World War II periods With a primary focus on collections of East Asian South Asian and West Asian art in Vienna Prague Berlin Warsaw Krak w Budapest and Ljubljana it outlines the transregional connections and networks that gradually developed Collecting Asian Art locates Asian art across the twentieth century in Central Europe via discourse and ideology and discusses key collections and the way individual collectors built their networks It thus explores transregional connections that developed through collecting activities and strategies in the prewar interwar and postwar eras Contributors also examine the personal connections between a group of Indologists from postwar Prague and modernist Indian artists from the early 1950s to the 1980s and also discuss the systematic archiving of East Asian art collections in Slovenia A concluding conversation looks at colonisation and decolonisation from a broader perspective by approaching it through recent art historical discussions on the global dimensions of modernism By defining the region through its external relationships and its entanglements with regions across Asia rather than as a self contained unit the contributions in this volume outline how these transregional connections and networks evolved and changed over time thus highlighting their singularity in comparison to developments in Western Europe Based on recent research Collecting Asian Art reveals neglected sources while reinterpreting well known ones

Chinese Landscape Painting as Western Art History James Elkins, 2010-06-01 This is a provocative essay of reflections on traditional mainstream scholarship on Chinese art as done by towering figures in the field such as James Cahill and Wen Fong James Elkins offers an engaging and accessible survey of his personal journey encountering and interpreting Chinese art through Western scholars writings He argues that the search for optimal comparisons is itself a modern Western interest and that art history as a discipline is inherently Western in several identifiable senses Although he concentrates on art history in this book and on Chinese painting in particular these issues bear implications for Sinology in general and for wider questions about humanistic inquiry and historical writing Jennifer Purtle s Foreword provides a useful counterpoint from the perspective of a Chinese art specialist anticipating and responding to other specialists likely reactions to Elkins s hypotheses
