New Land Studies In Literary Theme:

Land Sliding William H. New, 1997-01-01 New discusses the ways in which Canadian writing through images of land and space expresses various assumptions about social values In addition to wide range of literary texts he also draws upon geography the social sciences and the visual arts

The Postwar Novel in Canada Rosmarin Heidenreich, 2006-01-01 As a comparative study which includes the analysis of both English Canadian and Quebec novels this book provides an overview of the novel as it has developed in this country since the Second World War Focusing on narratological rather than thematic elements the book represents a systematic application of the insights and analytical tools of reader reception theory in particular the models proposed by Wolfgang Iser and Hans Robert Jauss Placing the emphasis on the text and its effects rather than on the historical or psycho sociological genesis of the text the author invokes the models and paradigms of other literatures to establish a broader cultural context permitting the significance of a literature to emerge as a carrier of meaning in and beyond the culture that produces it Tracing a critical path from Hugh MacLennan's hierarchic romance structures and Gabrielle Roy's social realism to the metafiction of Hubert Aquin and Timothy Findley the author reveals that the novel's narratological features themselves are often closely linked with ideological positions

The Crafting of Chaos Hildegard Kuester, 2022-06-08 In this study of the Canadian novelist Margaret Laurence recent narratological models provide the theoretical framework for a textual analysis that aims at complementing previous thematic critiques The chief focus is on The Stone Angel and The Diviners which the conclusion then presents in the context of the other novels in Laurence's Manawaka cycle Consideration of the published works is rounded off with genetic comparison of the novelist's typescript drafts and an evaluation of the manuscript notes kept in the archives of McMaster and York Universities The central structural principle of The Stone Angel is its dovetailing of past and present scenes Temporal arrangement reflecting the frequency and duration of Hagar's memories reveals the hold of memory over the central character and her attempts to suppress her fear of mortality Hagar as narrator manipulates character presentation and description to her own advantage In a basically oppositional structure her need for control is reflected in the neat ordering of the narrative The verbal texture of the novel serves to establish a value system that insists on the superiority of imported culture over Western Canadian forms The Diviners shares a number of narrative similarities with The Stone Angel but the latter's formal rigidity has yielded by the time Laurence writes her last novel to the concept of multiplicity characters time planes perspectives and narrative voices including metafictional commentaries Textual coherence is secured via narrative strategies including typography generational paradigms repetition parallelism intertextuality and tropological patterning that render the novel readable and present experience as ordered in a time of cultural flux and personal crisis

Pioneer Woman Elizabeth Helen Thompson, 1991 In The Backwoods of Canada and The Canadian Settler's Guide Catherine Parr Traill described a pioneer woman's role on the Ontario frontier presenting an idealized portrait of the Canadian woman pioneer in the mid nineteenth century By transposing this figure into fiction Traill managed to create what was in effect a new fictional character type the pioneer woman Farm Women on the Prairie Frontier Carol Fairbanks, Sara Brooks Sundberg, 1983 Four essays provide useful introductions to the land and the people the history and the fiction of the grasslands of Canada and the United States Annotations direct readers and researchers to relevant materials in history and literature An excellent bibliography good interpretative essays WOMEN S DIARIES Icelandic Voice in Canadian Letters Daisy Neijmann, 1996-03-15 This fascinating study explores a remarkable ethnic Canadian literature in close textual and contextual terms for the first time It lays a groundwork for future comparative research in the field of ethnic Canadian studies and challenges assumptions about cultural identity and human experience of the new Rudy Wiebe and the Historicity of the Word Penelope Van Toorn, 1995 In an entertaining re examination of Rudy Wiebe s major novels Penny van Toorn presents a completely new way of reading one of Canada s foremost contemporary writers She analyzes Wiebe s struggle to control the socially contested territory of language and identifies the principles that underlie his complex narrative structures Critical Approaches to the Fiction of Margaret Laurence C.E. fuels let global temperatures rise and make whatever changes this requires move people from environmentally damaged areas build sea walls etc With avoidance we stop warming from occurring either by reducing our use of fossil fuels or by using technology such as carbon dioxide recovery after combustion to block the warming effect Yet each strategy has its drawbacks adaptation may not be able to occur fast enough to accommodate the expected temperature increases but avoidance would be prohibitively expensive An ethically acceptable goal must involve some mixture of adaptation and avoidance Written by a team of scientists social scientists humanists legal and environmental scholars and corporate researchers this book offers an ethical analysis of possible responses to the problem Their analyses of the scientific and technological data and the ethical principles involved in determining whose interests should be considered point to a combination of adaptation and avoidance of greenhouse gas production They offer assessments of personal corporate government and international responsibility and a series of recommendations to aid decision makers in determining solutions and apportioning responsibility

Gender, Genre and Religion Morny Joy, Eva K. Neumaier-Dargyay, 2006-01-01 Many feminists today are challenging the outmoded aspects of both the conventions and the study of religion in radical ways Canadian feminists are no exception Gender Genre and Religion is the outcome of a research network of leading women scholars organized to survey the contribution of Canadian women working in the field of religious studies and further to plot the path forward This collection of their essays covers most of the major religious traditions and offers exciting suggestions as to how religious traditions will change as women take on more central roles Feminist theories have been used by all contributors as a springboard to show that the assumptions of unified monolithic religions and their respective canons is a fabrication created by a scholarship based on male privilege Using gender and genre as analytical tools the essays reflect a diversity of approaches and open up new ways of reading sacred texts Superb essays by Pamela Dickey Young Winnie Tamm Morny Joy and Marsha Hewitt among others honour the first generation of feminist theologians and situate the current generation showing how they have learned from and gone beyond their predecessors The sensitive and original essays in Gender Genre and Religion will be of interest to feminist scholars and to anyone teaching women and religion courses

Ancient Coins of the Graeco-Roman World Waldemar Heckel, Richard Sullivan, 2010-10-30 Through the ages coins have been more than a common standard or a means of exchange between peoples for goods and services The development of coinage gave men freedom to move beyond their communities served as a propaganda tool for advancing armies and visually showed people the source of politics which governed their lives Today these same bits of metal these ancient video disks transmit through time information that might otherwise be lost to us This volume comprises a selection of papers given at a conference held at the Nickle Museum of The University of Calgary Alberta by perhaps the most distinguished gathering of numismatists ever to assemble in North America Topics include specific coins of the Graeco Roman world as well as discussions on coinage and propaganda art architecture and archaeology Archaeologists historians coin collectors students of the Classics in fact anyone who is interested in art and life as it existed in ancient times will be captivated by this collection

Stories Subversive Nellie McClung, 1997-10-17 First wave feminist activist and social reformer Nellie McClung ranked as one of the most popular Canadian authors and among the liveliest critics of Canada's male dominated society Well ahead of her time McClung was known as a writer who dared to discuss taboo topics and for her inimitable humour which rivals that of Stephen Leacock This selection of her best short fiction includes depictions of difficult rural living conditions in Western Canada as well as consciousness raising stories reflecting the undue restrictions on women and the anti female laws and attitudes of her day

Thinking the Unthinkable Lydia Dotto, 2006-01-01 An overwhelming majority of climatologists believe there will be significant changes in climate during the next century Although the rate and magnitude of this change are uncertain it could happen very rapidly In August 1987 a working group of fifty scientists and humanists from Russia Eastern and Western Europe the United States and Canada gathered in Calgary to focus their attention on the impact upon civilization of sudden climate change One of the more revealing aspects of climate change discussed in Thinking the Unthinkable Civilization and Rapid Climate Change is that contrary to the popular viewpoint complex societies are more vulnerable to environmental and climate disruption than less advanced societies This work was written to emphasize the gravity of the situation we now face It should serve to inform not only those concerned with our global environment but more importantly the policy makers who will be responsible for setting new guidelines and policies aimed at safeguarding our fragile environment
