World George Braine, 2014-04-08 Teaching English to the World History Curriculum and Practice is a unique collection of English language teaching (ELT) histories, curricula, and personal narratives from non-native speaker (NNS) English teachers around the world. No other book brings such a range of international ELT professionals together to describe and narrate what they know best. The book includes chapters from Brazil, China, Germany, Hong Kong, Hungary, India, Indonesia, Israel, Japan, Lebanon, Poland, Saudi Arabia, Singapore, Sri Lanka, and Turkey. All chapters follow a consistent pattern: describing first the history of English language teaching in a particular country, then the current ELT curriculum, followed by the biography or the autobiography of an English teacher of that country. This consistency in the structuring of chapters will enable readers to assimilate the information easily while also comparing and contrasting the context of ELT in each country. The chapter authors, all born in or residents of the countries they represent, are speakers of the local language or languages as well as English, providing insider perspectives on the challenges faced by local English language teachers. There is clear evidence that the majority of English teachers worldwide are nonnative speakers (NNS), and there is no doubt that many among them have been taught by indigenous teachers who themselves are nonnative speakers. This book brings the professional knowledge and experience of these teachers and the countries they represent to a mainstream Western audience, including faculty, professionals, and graduate students in the field of ESL, to the international TESOL community, and to ELT teachers around the world. Inspiring Dialogue: Talking to Learn in the English Classroom Mary M. Juzwik, Carlin

Borsheim-Black, Samantha Caughlan, Anne Heintz, 2013-10-18 Providing a thorough discussion of the benefits of dialogic curriculum in meeting the objectives of the Common Core State Standards, this book, with its companion website, is an ideal resource for teacher development. Chapter by chapter, the book follows novice teachers as they build a repertoire of practices for planning, carrying out, and assessing their efforts at dialogic teaching across the secondary English curriculum. The text also includes a section to support dialogic teacher learning communities through video study and discourse analysis. Book features include dialogic tools for step-by-step planning within a lesson, over the course of a unit, or during an entire academic year; a user-friendly layout designed for new teachers who are pressed for time; classroom examples addressing the challenges English teachers may face in stimulating rich learning talk in an era of standardization; and a companion website with additional examples, activities, and course material. Teaching English Grammar to Speakers of Other Languages Eli Hinkel, 2016-01-29 This practical and research-based introduction to current and effective English grammar instruction gives pre-service and in-service teachers and teacher educators a strong foundation for teaching second language grammar and helps them develop their professional knowledge and skills. Written in a highly readable style for an international audience, it provides a thorough and rounded overview of the principles, strategies, techniques, and applications currently dominant in teaching L2 grammar in a range of instructional settings around the world. Chapter authors are world-class authorities in grammar and grammar teaching and learning. All chapters are based on theoretical frameworks and or research foundations with a strong emphasis on practical applications and implications for classroom teaching and highlight teaching methods key concepts and terminology associated with grammar instruction Illuminating the options and choices in grammar teaching from a contemporary perspective Teaching English Grammar to Speakers of Other Languages is ideal as key text for students in undergraduate and graduate MA TESOL programs and as a resource for practicing ESL EFL teachers teacher educators and teaching faculty

Optimizing Instructional Design Methods in Higher Education Vovides, Yianna, Lemus, Linda Rafaela, 2018-11-09 Higher learning has seen an increase in web based distance education programs which coincides with advancements made in educational technologies As these programs are on the rise it becomes increasingly more important to ensure that instructional designers are prepared to accommodate the needs of these academic institutions Developing a culture of collaboration through the optimization of instructional design methods is part of the profession s identity but has gotten overshadowed by the pressures of thinking of courses as products Optimizing Instructional Design Methods in Higher Education is an essential reference source that discusses the importance of collaboration training and the use of new and existing models in supporting instructional designers to formalize and optimize curriculum development in higher education It covers the importance of adapting adjusting and re evaluating models based on learner needs in relation to both the process of learning and outcomes Featuring research on topics such as human resource development academic programs and faculty development this book is ideally designed for educators academicians researchers and administrators seeking coverage to support design thinking and innovation that encourages student learning

Reclaiming Accountability Wendy Sharer, Tracy Ann Morse, Michelle F. Eble, William P. Banks, 2016-04-06 Reclaiming Accountability brings together a series of critical case studies of writing programs that have planned implemented and or assessed the impact of large scale accreditation supported initiatives The book reimagines accreditation as a way to leverage institutional or programmatic change Contributions to the volume are divided into three parts Part 1 considers how specialists in composition and rhetoric can work most productively with accrediting bodies to design assessments and initiatives that meet requirements while also helping those agencies to better understand how writing develops and how it can most effectively be assessed Parts 2 and 3 present case studies of how institutions have used ongoing accreditation and assessment imperatives to meet student learning needs through programmatic changes and faculty development They provide concrete examples of productive curricular part 2 and instructional part 3 changes that can follow from accreditation mandates while providing guidance for navigating challenges and pitfalls that WPAs may encounter within shifting and often volatile local regional and national contexts In addition to providing examples of how others in the profession might approach such work Reclaiming Accountability addresses assessment requirements beyond those in the writing program itself It will be of interest to department heads administrators writing program directors and those involved with writing teacher education among others Contributors Linda Adler Kassner William P Banks Remica Bingham Risher Melanie Burdick Polina
