Contemporary Consumption Rituals Cele C. Otnes,Tina

M. Lowrey,2004-05-20 This work offers a multifaceted exploration of new rituals such as Celebrating Kwanzaa and of the ways entrenched rituals such as Mardi Gras gift giving and weddings have changed Moreover it examines the influence of both cultures and subcultures Globalization and Partnerships Jacques-Marie Aurifeille,Serge Svizzero,Clement Allan Tisdell,2007 Growing economic globalisation has increased international business competition and international economic interdependence From this perspective many firms have formed business partnerships and most nations have had to re evaluate their economic interdependence This book explores changes that have occurred or have been proposed in this regard It provides new insights into business partnerships and international economic interdependence given growing economic globalisation and explores the managerial and socio economic consequences of those ideas The contributions in this book have been divided into four parts Those in Part II concentrate on the specification of partnerships and reasons for business partnerships in the context of a globalisation The idea of global networks in which some hard and soft forms of partnerships would appear and mix is introduced and discussed according to the partners involved nations unions firms and consumers and the economic activities whether tangible or abstract Globalisation also has a number of consequences for business co ordination in particular when they are based on outsourcing strategies in which cost reduction is balanced with knowledge transfers These are amongst the issues explored in Part III The difficulty to monitor and predict the effects of global partnerships tends to increase the importance of cultural and psychological variables such as trust and commitment Therefore the role of attitudes and perceptions is very important Whatever the agreement and the conjoined management among partner firms the attitude of the other agents can produce asymmetric affects on these firms and considerably bias their partnership strategy Such biases are particularly likely from consumers Their attitude towards globalisation is not the only bias that may occur Their loyalty is also an important issue in a globalising world particularly in the service sector where lots of partnerships have been made on a global scale eg banks airlines leisure These are amongst the relationship marketing issues explored in Part IV In Part V the factors introduced in the previous chapters are considered from a regional and cultural perspective where nations and regions themselves are engaged in global partnership In this context discrepancy often develops between the domestic and the international globalisation strategies as well as between the capital and labour markets The resulting complexity is particularly problematic for the developing and peripheral economies Novel insights about partnership emerge as studied in this concluding part of the book

Handbook of Economic Psychology W.F. Van Raaij, G.M. van Veldhoven, K.E. Wärneryd, 2013-03-09 The idea to publish a Handbook of Economic Psychology came up as a natural consequence of a discussion concerning appropriate reading material for courses in economic psychology The discussion took place a few years ago in the Department of Economic Psychology at Tilburg University The Netherlands It was noted that there was a surprising lack of collections of pertinent readings to say nothing about the lack of textbooks in the English language So the present editors who had been involved in the discussion decided to start working on a Handbook The situation has changed quite a lot since then There are now a number of books internationally available in the English language in economic psychology or behavioral economics The interest in this field of study is expanding quite impressively The Journal of Economic Psychology is now 1988 in its ninth volume and many other journals are publishing articles in the field The application of psychological theories and methods to economic problems or the study of economic experiences and behavior is variously referred to as economic psychology or behavioral economics While in principle we do not want to overdo the differences between the two we have a feeling that economic psychology has a slightly stronger flavor of psychology than behavioral economics which in its turn seems to be closer to economics Psychologists tend to feel more at home in economic psychology while economists seem to favor behavioral economics

AI Impacts on Branded Entertainment and Advertising Miguélez-Juan, Blanca, Rebollo-Bueno, Sara, 2025-05-01 Connecting with the public especially the younger generations is challenging for brands and agencies unless they leverage new communication technologies to create engagement and foster more critical and active audiences Consumers often overwhelmed by messages and products no longer need to avoid intrusive advertising. Instead, in this new advertising paradigm, they seek out brands and their advertisements to form a positive emotional connection. This intimate bond benefits both the brand and the consumer, acting as a loudspeaker for the brand's values and message. In this context, creativity and professional creatives are reaffirmed as the key differentiators for modern advertising agencies. These agencies need well-trained professionals who are not afraid to use new communication methods, including entertainment and emerging technologies like AI, which, despite being unregulated, are here to stay. AI Impacts on Branded Entertainment and Advertising explores the scientific foundations on the use of AI and branded content, understanding it as an essential tandem for the understanding of the advertising and social reality. Covering topics such as non-conventional media, influencer marketing, and avatar, this book is an excellent resource for marketing directors, brand creators, communication professionals, computer developers, corporate professionals, researchers, scholars, professionals, academicians, and more.

Breakthrough Food Product Innovation Through Emotions

Research David Lundahl, 2011-10-19. More than 95% of all consumer products launched in the packaged goods sector fail to achieve their goals for success. Breakthrough Food Product Innovation Through Emotions Research gives a clear answer for innovation teams seeking to increase product success rates by breaking through the clutter in an otherwise undifferentiated, commoditized marketplace. Through case studies, it lays out a practical approach for applying emotions research throughout the food innovation and product development process. The basic premise is that emotions are the chief motivation for why consumers sense, select, seek, and share their food product experiences. With this novel framework, the science of consumer behavior is made operational for innovation teams. Emotions insight inspires innovation teams to create and helps guide decision making as they design sensory cues and other behavior drivers into products that make consumers want to consume. This book has implications for the whole innovation team: innovators such as product developers, designers, creative chiefs, and marketers; strategists such as line managers; and researchers such as sensory and marketing researchers. Presents a behaviour-driven approach to innovation for the development of breakthrough food products. Illustrates a collaborative framework to inspire creativity and guide decision making through emotions insights. Explores a research framework that gets to the whys of consumer behavior by distilling the science of emotions into research insights. Defines design and development methods to build sensory cues into packaging and packaged foods that deliver emotional impact. Explains research methods that get to the so-whats of insights through emotions research. Provides case studies and examples proving the value of the behavior-driven approach to food product innovation.
