In Focus United States. Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration, 1980 New Directions in the Russellian Theory of Time Emiliano Boccardi, L. Nathan Oaklander, Erwin Tegtmeier, 2024-11-28 The main debates in the philosophy of time have centred on whether A theory with events ordered by pastness presentness and futurity or B theory ordered by earlier than or later than are equally fundamental Emiliano Boccardi L Nathan Oaklander and Erwin Tegtmeier instead uphold the Russellian theory or R theory and consider not only the fundamental differences but also its superiority They argue McTaggart's misinterpretation of Russell has led to a false dichotomy between the A and B theories while exploring the connection between temporal relations temporal facts and time In defence of the R theory they argue how it offers a metaphysical explanation of the nature of time in addition to investigating whether ontological theories of time can be considered from a moral or existential point of view Using an ontological approach this volume clarifies what is mistaken about both theories can only be resolved by adopting a Russellian philosophy reaching beyond the A theory vs B theory debate Really New Directions in Evaluation: Young Evaluators' Perspectives Sandra Mathison, 2011-10-18 From the Editor This issue of New Directions for Evaluation NDE marks a milestone the 25th anniversary of the American Evaluation Association AEA NDE is an official publication of AEA and has been a crucial means for the Association to foster and promote the professionalization of evaluation through thematic discussions of theory and practice in evaluation NDE was first published in 1978 under the name New Directions for Program Evaluation although the title became New Directions for Evaluation in 1995 in acknowledgment of the broader scope of evaluation The current issue of NDE on the 25th anniversary of AEA looks not back but ahead Because NDE is a thematic and guest edited journal it tends to favor more mature self assured voices in evaluation The journal format does not lend itself easily to showcasing the voices of novice evaluators those just entering the field and who will be the next generation of evaluation practitioners and theoreticians As such NDE has chosen on this anniversary to highlight those voices Included are a number of chapters that build on what evaluation has already learned from other disciplines by introducing us to new possibilities We are also challenged in the chapters to think about techniques or methods we use both at a practical and conceptual level Some chapters raise questions about who evaluators are how they interact with others and the roles they assume in their practice Some young evaluators are confronting in various ways conundrums in thinking about and doing evaluation within organizations either from an external or internal perspective And issues in using technology in evaluation or challenges in evaluating technology are considered

Maps of Experience Andie Diane Palmer, 2005-01-01 In many North American indigenous cultures history and stories are passed down not by the written word but by oral tradition In Maps of Experience Andie Diane Palmer draws on stories recorded during travels through Secwepemc or Shuswap hunting and gathering territory with members of the Alkali Lake Reserve in Interior British Columbia Palmer examines how the various kinds of talk allow knowledge to be carried forward reconstituted reflected upon enriched and ultimately relocated by and for new interlocutors in new experiences and places Maps of Experience demonstrates how the Secwepemc engagement in the traditional practices of hunting and gathering create shared lived experiences between individuals while recreating a known social context in which existing knowledge of the land may be effectively shared and acted upon When the narratives of fellow travellers are pooled through discursive exchange they serve as what can be considered a map of experience providing the basis of shared understanding and social relationship to territory Palmer's analysis of ways of listening and conveying information within the Alkali Lake community brings new insights into indigenous language and culture as well as to the study of oral history ethnohistory experimental ethnography and discourse analysis
