New Essays On Moby Dick:

New Essays on Moby-Dick Richard H. Brodhead, 1986-11-28 An introductory critical guide with five specialised essays analysing Melville's classic Moby Dick New essays on "Moby-Dick" , 1986 New Essays on Moby-Dick , 2000 New essays on Moby-Dick ANON., 1991 The Cambridge Companion to Herman Melville Robert S. Levine, 1998-05-13

Specially commissioned essays provide a critical introduction to one of the most significant writers of nineteenth century America Manhood and the American Renaissance David Leverenz, 2019-06-30 In the view of David Leverenz such nineteenth century American male writers as Emerson Hawthorne Melville Thoreau and Whitman were influenced more profoundly by the popular model of the entrepreneurial man of force than they were by their literary precursors and contemporaries Drawing on the insights of feminist theory gender studies psychoanalytical criticism and social history Manhood and the American Renaissance demonstrates that gender pressures and class conflicts played as critical a role in literary creation for the male writers of nineteenth century America as they did for the women writers Leverenz interprets male American authors in terms of three major ideologies of manhood linked to the social classes in the Northeast patrician artisan and entrepreneurial He asserts that the older ideologies of patrician gentility and of artisan independence were being challenged from 1820 to 1860 by the new middle class ideology of competitive individualism The male writers of the American Renaissance patrician almost without exception in their backgrounds and self expectations were fascinated yet horrified by the aggressive materialism and the rivalry for dominance they witnessed in the undeferential new men In close readings of the works both of well known male literary figures and of then popular authors such as Richard Henry Dana Jr and Francis Parkman Leverenz discovers a repressed center of manhood beset by fears of humiliation and masochistic fantasies He discerns different patterns in the works of Whitman with his artisan's background and Frederick Douglass who rose from artisan freedom to entrepreneurial power Emphasizing the interplay of class and gender Leverenz also considers how women viewed manhood He concludes that male writers portrayed manhood as a rivalry for dominance but contemporary female writers saw it as patriarchy Two chapters contrast the work of the genteel writers Sarah Hale and Caroline Kirkland with the evangelical works of Susan Warner and Harriet Beecher Stowe A bold and imaginative work Manhood and the American Renaissance will enlighten and inspire controversy among all students of American literature nineteenth century American history and the relation of gender and literature Secret Sharers: Melville, Conrad and Narratives of the Real Paweł Jędrzejko, Milton M. Reigelman, Zuzanna Szatanik, 2011-01-01 The present book explores a variety of fundamental questions that all of us secretly share Its twenty one chapters written by some of the world's leading Melville and Conrad scholars indicate possible directions of comparativist insight into the continuity and transformations of western existentialist thought between the 19th and 20th centuries The existential philosophy of participation so mistrustful of analytical categories is epitomized by the lives and oeuvres of Melville and Conrad Born in the immediacy of experience this philosophy finds its expression in uncertain tropes and faith based actions rather than muffle the horror vacui with words it plunges head first into liminality where logos dissolves into a positive nothing Unlike analytical philosophers both Melville and Conrad refrain from talking about reality they expose those who would listen to a first hand experience of participation in an interpretive act Employing literary tropes to denude the essence of the human condition they allow their readers to transgress the limitations of language Mistrustful of language they accept the necessity of discourse which to make sense must be actively reshaped endlessly questioned and constantly revised And if uncertainty is the only certainty available to us our lowly human condition also necessitates compassion an existential cure against the liquid capricious reality we are afforded

Sex Objects Jennifer Doyle, 2006 The declaration that a work of art is about sex is often announced to the public as a scandal after which there is nothing else to say about the work or the artist controversy concludes a conversation when instead it should begin a new one Moving beyond debates about pornography and censorship Jennifer Doyle shows us that sex in art is as diverse as sex in everyday life exciting ordinary emotional traumatic embarrassing funny even profoundly boring Sex Objects examines the reception and frequent misunderstanding of highly sexualized images words and performances In chapters on the boring parts of Moby Dick the scandals that dogged the painter Thomas Eakins the role of women in Andy Warhol's Factory films bad sex and Tracey Emin's crudely evocative line drawings and L.A. artist Vaginal Davis's pornographic parodies of Vanessa Beecroft's performances Sex Objects challenges simplistic readings of sexualized art and instead investigates what such works can tell us about the nature of desire In Sex Objects Doyle offers a creative and original exploration of how and where art and sex connect arguing that to proclaim a piece of art about sex reveals surprisingly little about the work the artist or the spectator Deftly interweaving anecdotal and personal writing with critical feminist and queer theory she reimagines the relationship between sex and art in order to better understand how the two meet and why it matters Jennifer Doyle is associate professor of English at the University of California Riverside She is coeditor with Jonathan Flatley and Jos Esteban Muñoz of Pop Out Queer Warhol

Writing beyond Prophecy Martin Kevorkian, 2013-01-02 Writing beyond Prophecy offers a new interpretation of the American Renaissance by drawing attention to a cluster of later rarely studied works by Ralph Waldo Emerson Nathaniel Hawthorne and Herman Melville Identifying a line of writing from Emerson's Conduct of Life to Hawthorne's posthumously published Elixir of Life manuscript to Melville's Clarel A Poem and Pilgrimage in the Holy Land Martin Kevorkian demonstrates how these authors wrestled with their vocational calling Early in their careers these three authors positioned their literary pursuits as an alternative to the ministry By presenting a new revelation and a new set of gospels for the nineteenth century they sought to usurp the authority of the pulpit Later in life each writer came to recognize the audacity of his earlier work creating what Kevorkian characterizes as a literary aftermath Strikingly each author later wrote about the character of a young divinity student torn by a crisis of faith and vocation Writing beyond Prophecy gives a distinctive shape to the late careers of Emerson Hawthorne and Melville and offers a cohesive account of the lingering religious devotion left in the wake of American Romanticism

Fictions of the Black Atlantic in American Foundational Literature Gesa Mackenthun, 2004-08-02 This book is a significant contribution to existing research on the themes of race and slavery in the founding literature of the United States. It extends the boundaries of existing research by locating race and slavery within a transnational and oceanic framework. The author applies critical concepts developed within postcolonial theory to American texts written between the national emergence of the United States and the Civil War in order to uncover metaphors of the colonial and imperial unconscious in America's foundational writing. The book analyses the writings of canonized authors such as Charles Brockden Brown, James Fenimore Cooper, Edgar Allan Poe, and Herman Melville alongside those of lesser known writers like Olaudah Equiano, Royall Tyler, Frederick Douglass, Martin Delany, and Maxwell Philip and situates them within the colonial and postcolonial context of the slave-based economic system of the Black Atlantic. While placing the transatlantic slave trade on the map of American Studies and viewing it in conjunction with American imperial ambitions in the Pacific, Fictions of the Black Atlantic in American Foundational Literature also adds a historical dimension to present discussions about the ambivalence of postcoloniality.

Green Criminology Nigel South, 2017-07-05 In little more than a decade, Green Criminology has become an established new perspective in the field. It embraces an exciting and wide range of topics from controversies about genetic modification through corporate offending against the environment and human communities to animal abuse. Green Criminology provides a focal point for longstanding and new areas of research as well as making important interdisciplinary connections.

Melville's Bibles Ilana Pardes, 2008-02-05 This is a splendid book showing Ilana Pardes as a scholar critic at the height of her powers. Distinguished and full of originality, Melville's Bibles brings into play a richly nuanced and minutely informed sense of the multiple roles of the Bible in antebellum American culture. This work is an important new understanding of the nature of Melville's major novel. Robert Alter, Professor of Hebrew and Comparative Literature, University of California Berkeley. With a command of Biblical scholarship and a keen textual sensitivity, Pardes deftly analyzes the ways in which Melville incorporates Biblical language, genre, plot, character, and debate in Moby Dick. Few critics have captured Melville's Biblical apprehensions and pretensions as well as Pardes, or with her intellectual range and sympathy. Samuel Otter, Associate Professor of English, University of California Berkeley.

Memory, Metaphors, and Meaning Nicolae Babuts, 2017-07-05 Literature explores the human condition, the mystery of the world, life and death, as well as our relations with others and our desires and dreams. It differs from science in its aims and methods, but Babuts shows in other respects that literature has much common ground with science. Both aim for an authentic version of truth. To this end, literature employs metaphors, and it does so in a manner similar to that of scientific inquiry. The cognitive view does not imply that there is a one-to-one correlation between the world and text; that meaning belongs to the author; or that literature is equivalent to perception. What it does maintain is that meaning is crucially dependent on mnemonic initiatives, and that without memory the world remains meaningless Nicolae Babuts claims that at the interface with the printed page readers process texts in a manner similar to the way they explain the visible world in segments or units of meaning or dynamic patterns Babuts argues that humans achieve recognition by integrating stimulus sequences with corresponding patterns that recognize and interpret each segment of a text Memory produces meaning from these patterns In harmony with its goals memory may adopt specific strategies to deal with different stimuli Dynamic patterns link the unit of processing with the unit of meaning In sum Babuts proposes that meaning is achieved through metaphors and narrative and that both are ways to reach cognitive goals This original study offers perspectives that will interest cognitive psychologists as well as those simply interested in the process through which literature stirs the human imagination

Subject Lessons Russell Sbriglia, Slavoj Žižek, 2020-02-15 Responding to the ongoing objectal turn in contemporary humanities and social sciences the essays in Subject Lessons present a sustained case for the continued importance indeed the indispensability of the category of the subject for the future of materialist thought Approaching matters through the frame of Hegel and Lacan the contributors to this volume including the editors as well as Andrew Cole Mladen Dolar Nathan Gorelick Adrian Johnston Todd McGowan Bornha Radnik Molly Anne Rothenberg Kathryn Van Wert and Alenka Zupan i many of whom stand at the forefront of contemporary Hegel and Lacan scholarship agree with neovitalist thinkers that material reality is ontologically incomplete in a state of perpetual becoming yet they maintain that this is the case not in spite of but rather because of the subject Incorporating elements of philosophy psychoanalysis and literary and cultural studies Subject Lessons contests the movement to dismiss the subject arguing that there can be no truly robust materialism without accounting for the little piece of the Real that is the subject

Doctrine and Difference Michael J. Colacurcio, 2021-07-29 Doctrine and Difference Readings in Classic American Literature aims to expand and deepen the inquiry begun in the volume from 2007 Beginning with an essay on the avowedly Puritan poetry of Anne Bradstreet and ending with two not quite secular novels from late in the 19th century this volume seeks to uncover the religious and philosophical meanings deeply embedded in so much of 19th century American literature and then importantly to identify and analyze the techniques by which the doctrines are differentiated into imaginative literature Poe Emerson Thoreau Hawthorne Melville and yes even Howells and James are driven by powerful thematic intentions But they do not preach they dramatize And as they talk their way through their existential issues they often talk to one another yes no maybe ok but not so fast Stressing the idea of a shared poet Puritan inheritance the new Doctrine and Difference means to re confirm the vitality of literary history and in particular the importance of reading the classic texts of American literature in context and in relation

Melville and the Visual Arts Douglas Robillard, 1997 Melville s allusions to works of art embellish his poems and novels In this study his use of the art analogy as a literary technique is traced along with the influence of his predecessors and contemporaries and how his sense of form was instructed by design in works of art

Frederic Church Jennifer Raab, 2015-10-29 Frederic Church 1826 1900

the most celebrated painter in the United States during the mid 19th century created monumental landscapes of North and South America the Arctic and the Middle East These paintings were unsurpassed in their attention to detail yet the significance of this pictorial approach has remained largely unexplored In this important reconsideration of Church s works Jennifer Raab offers the first sustained examination of the aesthetics of detail that fundamentally shaped 19th century American landscape painting Moving between historical context and close readings of famous canvases including Niagara The Heart of the Andes and The Icebergs Raab argues that Church s art challenged an earlier model of painting based on symbolic unity revealing a representation of nature with surprising connections to scientific discourses of the time The book traces Church s movement away from working in oil on canvas to shaping the physical landscape of Olana his self designed estate on the Hudson River a move that allowed the artist to rethink scale and process while also engaging with pressing ecological questions Beautifully illustrated with dramatic spreads and striking details of Church s works Frederic Church The Art and Science of Detail offers a profoundly new understanding of this canonical artist

Indecent Exposures Sarah Gordon, 2015-10-27 Photographer Eadweard Muybridge 1830-1904 often termed the father of the motion picture presented his iconic Animal Locomotion series in 1887 Produced under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania and encompassing thousands of photographs of humans and animals in motion the series included more than 300 plates of nude men and women engaged in activities such as swinging a baseball bat playing leapfrog and performing housework an astonishing fact given the period s standards of propriety In the first sustained examination of these nudes and the remarkable success of their production wide circulation and reception Indecent Exposures positions this revolutionary enterprise as central to crucial advancements of the modern era Muybridge s nudes ushered in new attitudes toward science and progress including Darwinian ideas about human evolution and hierarchy quickened debates over the role of photography and scientific investigation in art and offered innovative perspectives on the human body This fascinating story is copiously illustrated and includes many lesser known photographs published here for the first time

Masterpieces of American Romantic Literature Melissa McFarland Pennell, 2006-06-30 The Romantic movement led to some of the greatest works of 19th century American literature Written expressly for students this book offers succinct introductions to 10 of the most important works of American Romanticism many of which reflect the social political and historical concerns of the era Included are chapters on Emerson s essays Poe s The Raven and selected stories Hawthorne s The Scarlet Letter Stowe s Uncle Tom s Cabin and several other major texts or collections Each chapter provides biographical information a review of the author s critical reception and a discussion of characters plot themes language and other topics The volume closes with a bibliography of primary and secondary sources Romanticism significantly influenced American literature in the 19th century and led to what has sometimes been called the American Renaissance The Romantic movement and the period roughly contemporaneous with the Civil War gave birth to some of the most creative and enduring poems novels short fiction and essays These works are among the most imaginative and challenging pieces of American literature and hold a central place in the curriculum In addition to their value as literary works they chronicle the enormous social political and historical changes taking place in America Written expressly for high school students this book conveniently introduces the major works of American Romanticism In Praise of Wisdom Kim Paffenroth,2004-01-01 Examines the ways that our rich literary tradition in the West deals with the questions of reason and faith
