No formal hypothesis;
study explores marijuana risk perceptions

This study's purpose was to "improve the understanding of which adolescents were most likely to perceive marijuana use as not harmful" (309). In order to do this, the author administered the Utah Student Health and Risk Prevention Survey in 2009, 2011, and 2013. Participants were students in grades 6,8, 10 and 12 within three large school districts. The questionnaire gathered demographic information, as well as students' perception of marijuana use risk. Several thousand student responses were utilized. Survey data showed that several factors decreased the perception of marijuana as being risky: poorer academic performance, having a parent with no college education, the presence of a step-parent, Hispanic ethnicity, and having friends who did not believe it was risky. Overall, data showed that associations between perceived risks and marijuana use are rather complex.
