Our Very Own Tree:

Our Very Own Tree Lawrence F. Lowery, 2015 The I Wonder Why series is a set of science books created specifically for young learners who are in their first years of school The content for each book was chosen to be appropriate for youngsters who are beginning to construct knowledge of the world around them These youngsters ask questions They want to know about things They are more curious than they will be when they are a decade older Research shows that science is students favorite subject when they enter school for the first time Science is both what we know and how we come to know it What we know is the content knowledge that accumulates over time as scientists continue to explore the universe in which we live How we come to know science is the set of thinking and reasoning processes we use to get answers to the questions and inquiries in which we are engaged Scientists learn by observing comparing and organizing the objects and ideas they are investigating Children learn the same way The thinking processes are among several inquiry behaviors that enable us to find out about our world and how it works Observing comparing and organizing are fundamental to the more advanced thinking processes of relating experimenting and inferring The science activities in the Parent Teacher Handbook section enable learners to carry out their own investigations related to the content of the book The materials needed for these activities are easily obtained and the activities have been tested with youngsters to be sure they are age appropriate Our Very Own
