Our Practices Our Selves:

Our Practices, Our Selves, Or, What it Means to be Human Todd May, 2001-01-01 This enjoyable book written in an engaging colloquial voice is that rare kind of introduction to philosophy that both 1 shows that philosophy is a distinctive form of lively conceptual activity rather than an inert body of dusty doctrines and 2 makes a contribution to the field it introduces by showing the importance of our multifarious human practices to questions of selfhood and identity The fundamental thesis of the book that practices are constitutive of the self in a deep way that has not been sufficiently recognized is explored through wide ranging examples including global technological capitalism religious authority and the creationism debate multiculturalism psychoanalytical explanation jazz baseball political activism cooking and many others These diverse strands although they obviously come from far and wide are convincingly woven into a coherent and illuminating large scale pattern This book shows the student the general reader or anyone interested in what philosophy itself a practice how hard clear thinking promotes human understanding and how helpful analytical thought can be to numerous hotly debated issues Readers are given the conceptual tools and philosophical equipment they need as the book progresses and they will know that they are in the hands of an excellent confidence inspiring teacher of the subject Garry L. Hagberg Bard College

Our Practices, Our Selves Todd May, 2015-07-08 A book for everyone interested in learning how philosophy is done and what it can tell us about who we are

Self-Study of Practice as a Genre of Qualitative Research Stefinee Pinnegar, Mary Lynn Hamilton, 2009-04-05 Teacher educators live hectic lives at institutional and discipline boundaries Our greatest potential for influence is through developing relationships with others in our practice Our work is fundamentally relational and emotional We are obligated to the teachers we teach and the public students they teach Our practice exists in the midst of experience conflicting and often hostile boundaries and between what we know from research and what we understand from practice Self study of practice invites researchers to embrace the hectic and fragmented territory of practice as the space for study This book educates those who would like to explore practice in the methodology of self study It provides both a pragmatic and theoretic guide It grounds the research in ontology and establishes dialogue as the inquiry process It supports researchers through the use of frameworks to guide research and explication of strategies for conducting it

Self-Studies of Science Teacher Education Practices Shawn M. Bullock, Tom Russell, 2012-03-20 Part of a vital Springer series on self study practices in teaching and teacher education this collection offers a range of contributions to the topic that embody the reflections of science teacher educators who have applied self study methodology to their own professional development The material recognizes the paradox that lies between classroom science and the education of science teachers the disciplines of science are often perceived as a quest for right answers an unintentional by product of the classroom focus on right answers in student assessment in science In contrast the profession of teaching has few right answers and frequently involves the management of conflicting tensions A dilemma thus arises in science teacher education of how to shift perspectives among student teachers from reductionist to more inclusive attitudes that are open to the mercurial realities of teaching The self studies presented here are unique fresh and stimulating They include the input of a beginning science teacher as well as science teacher educators from a range of backgrounds and varying levels of experience In addition the volume presents a truly international perspective on the issues with authors hailing from five countries Providing analysis at the leading edge of education theory this collection will make fascinating reading for those teaching science as well as those teaching science teachers

International Handbook of Self-Study of Teaching and Teacher Education Practices J. John Loughran, Mary Lynn Hamilton, Vicki Kubler LaBoskey, Tom L. Russell, 2007-07-03 The International Handbook on Self study of Teaching and Teacher Education Practices is of interest to teacher educators teacher researchers and practitioner researchers This volume offers an encyclopaedic review of the field of self study examines in detail self study in a range of teaching and teacher education contexts outlines a full understanding of the nature and development of self study explores the development of a professional knowledge base for teaching through self study purposefully represents self study through research and practice illustrates examples of self study in teaching and teacher education

Research Methods for the Self-Study of Practice Deborah Tidwell, Melissa Heston, Linda Fitzgerald, 2009-06-12 This is a book designed with the teacher educator in mind It provides in depth examination of specific methods used effectively in self study research The chapters are written by researchers engaged in self study of their practice

The Conundrum of Control Stefano Velotti, 2024-02-12 Various forms of control play a central role in our lives However the nature of control is a difficult conundrum to probe Believing we control ourselves nature or others may seem like a sign of autonomy power and self determination but it is often an illusion and not always desirable Art practices help us make sense of the questions and paradoxes related to the enhancing interplay between control and non control by putting them on display What happens if this interplay between the two poles collapses What are the consequences for our forms of life

Freese, 2006 Self Study of Teaching Practices is an excellent introduction to the field of self study research and practice This student and teacher friendly primer provides a comprehensive review and synthesis of the self study literature complete with guidelines and examples of cutting edge self study methods It addresses four central areas of self study of teaching practices purposes foundations nature and guidelines for practice School based and university based teachers interested in rethinking and reframing their instructional methods will benefit from reading this book and assigning it in the classroom This primer which includes glossaries and references is an invaluable resource for undergraduate and graduate education students searching for guidelines to develop and improve their teaching practice

Describing Ourselves Garry Hagberg, 2008-05-22 The voluminous writings of Ludwig Wittgenstein contain some of the most profound reflections of recent times on the nature of the human subject and self understanding the human condition philosophically speaking Describing Ourselves mines those extensive writings for a conception of the self that stands in striking contrast to its predecessors as well as its more recent alternatives More specifically the book offers a detailed discussion of Wittgenstein s later writings on language and mind as they hold special significance for the understanding and clarification of the distinctive character of self descriptive or autobiographical language Garry L Hagberg undertakes a ground breaking philosophical investigation of selected autobiographical writings among the best examples we have of human selves exploring themselves as they cast new and special light on the critique of mind body dualism and its undercurrents in particular and on the nature of autobiographical consciousness more generally The chapters take up in turn the topics of self consciousness what Wittgenstein calls the inner picture mental privacy and the picture of metaphysical seclusion the very idea of our observation of the contents of consciousness first person expressive speech reflexive or self directed thought and competing pictures of introspection the nuances of retrospective self understanding person perception and the corollary issues of self perception itself an interestingly dangerous phrase self defining memory and the therapeutic conception of philosophical progress as it applies to all of these issues The cast of characters interwoven throughout this rich discussion include in addition to Wittgenstein centrally Augustine Goethe Dostoevsky Kierkegaard Iris Murdoch Donald Davidson and Stanley Cavell among others Throughout conceptual clarifications concerning mind and language are put to work in the investigation of issues relating to self description and in novel philosophical readings of autobiographical texts

Evaluative Research Methods Saville Kushner, 2016-12-01 How do research students and their supervisors respond in a world of fake news the destabilisation of public institutions and the rise of populism The very foundations of our liberal democracies seem to be under threat and this implicates social inquiry Postgraduate research remains one of the few information spaces which are still free of politicisation and committed to validation This book focuses on democracy in inquiry and on the role of inquiry in a democracy how research helps us to deliberate over what counts as of public value It is a research methods book but methods shaped by political and ethical purposes and by the challenge of making judgements about what in the public sphere is worthy We may be looking at a police training program the siting of a clean energy project a new school curriculum maternal health program or an environmental adaptation project in each case and in others like them we have to negotiate perspectives and claims forge and justify a consensus support competing stakeholders with the best information and analyses possible And we have to make our work defensible undeniable in the forum of public debate and exchange examination and accountability This book full of examples from contemporary research projects is designed to help navigate our way through the complexities of social research which focuses on judgements about public action The book was written with research students and includes examples of their work It recognises that supervisors often struggle as much as students in meeting the challenges of inquiry that involves some element of evaluative judgement inquiry that potentially carries consequences Where there are no quick and ready recipes check lists or theoretical frameworks where we confront the particularities of the context in which the research takes place we are all forced back onto good methodological thinking and this is the pedagogical framing of the book

Self-Studies of Teacher Education Practice Online Mary F. Rice, Ramona Maile Cutri, Juanjo Mena, 2024-05-20 This edited volume explores the emotional work of being an online teacher educator. The chapter authors discuss the intense work involved in planning teaching and navigating intuitional contexts in order to build a relationship between online teaching and the Self Study of Teacher Educator Practice S STEP methodology. Additionally, the authors of the chapters in the book used the S STEP methodology to move their practices and their teacher educator identities beyond emergency crisis uses of online teaching common during campus building closures. Each chapter offers different ways that S STEP methodology can be used to sustain oneself as an online teacher educator. Although there are specific strategies and practices, this is not a how to book for online teacher educating; it is an exploration of online teachers and groups of online teachers supporting themselves and each other by studying and learning from their practices.

Self-Study of Language and Literacy Teacher Education Practices Judy Sharkey, Megan Madigan Peercy, 2018-08-16 Self Study in Teacher Education Practices S STEP contribute to teacher education in culturally and linguistically diverse communities and contexts. The chapters reflect the scholarly inquiry of teacher educators dedicated to investigating and improving their practice.

Improving Teacher Education Practice Through Self-study John Loughran, Tom Russell, 2004-11-23 Self study in teacher education is a growing field and a natural progression from the concept of reflective practice for pre service teachers. This book is designed to introduce teacher educators to the theory and practice of self study in order to explore, understand, and improve their teaching about teaching. With studies from an international range of contributors, this book illustrates a variety of approaches to self study. It describes the issues that teacher educators have chosen to study, how they carried out their research, and what the learning outcomes were. Throughout, the emphasis is on placing teacher educators' knowledge and practice at the centre of their academic work. This book will be of interest to all teacher educators wishing to improve their knowledge and practice.

Learning, Leading, and the Best-Loved Self in Teaching and Teacher Education Cheryl J. Craig, Denise M. McDonald, Gayle A. Curtis, 2022-12-10 This book explores the concept of the best loved self in teaching and teacher education, asserting that the best loved self is foundational to the development of teacher identity growth in context and learning in community. Drawing on the work of Joseph Schwab, who was the first to name the best loved self, the editors and their contributors extend this knowledge further through the collaboration of their group of teacher educators known as the Faculty Academy, who have been involved in examining teacher education for over two decades.

Applications of Self-Care Within the Counselling Practice Gabriella Karakas, Daniel R. du Plooy, Vicki Hutton, Margaret Anne Carter, 2025-05-11 This volume presents counsellors' self care journeys across all stages of the professional lifespan: early career, mid career, and tenured professional. Each chapter presents a contributor's personal reflection and insight on sustaining oneself in the field through a strengths based autoethnographic lens. Addressing challenges like burnout, structural barriers and global events e.g. pandemics, natural disasters and human rights movements the collection highlights the realities of balancing self care while supporting others. Although all affiliated with ACAP University College the contributors bring unique perspectives shaped by personal experiences such as motherhood, caregiving, grief and cultural contexts and professional backgrounds in clinical psychology, research, allied health, trauma-informed care and multidisciplinary practice. Aimed at inspiring emerging counsellors and students while offering insights to seasoned professionals this volume provides practical strategies on how resilience and longevity can be supported across the counselling profession.

Sexing the Self Elspeth Probyn, 1993. Faced with the seemingly enormous difficulty of representing others, many theorists working in Cultural Studies have been turning to themselves as a way of speaking about the personal. In Sexing the Self Elspeth Probyn tackles this question of the sex of the self, an issue of vital importance to feminists and yet neglected by feminist theory until now, to suggest that there are ways of using our gendered selves in order to speak and theorize non-essential but embodied selves. Arguing for feminisms with attitude Sexing the Self ranges across a wide range of theoretical strands drawing upon a body of literature from early Cultural Studies to Anglo-American feminist literary criticism from identity debates to Foucault's care of the self.

Effective Self-Care and Resilience in Clinical Practice Sarah Parry, 2017-07-21. A compilation of experiences from a range of clinical practices that depicts the use of compassion as a means of improving practitioner wellbeing with direct effects on their therapeutic work. First-hand insights and ideas are offered for developing therapeutic practice through a framework of compassion.

The Practice of Self-Care Luigina Mortari, 2022-03-09. This book is focused on the philosophy of care. It explores the concept of care in ancient Greek philosophy before arguing the primacy of the action of care in human life. It also analyses how to define the care of the self and in this perspective it recalls and develops the concept of spiritual practices as performative techniques of the way of being. The text also considers the cognitive and emotional practices through which we can give a good shape to ourselves such as paying attention, achieving inner silence, allowing oneself time, taking away, cultivating vital energy and writing and thinking. It represents a major contribution to current debates on care ethics and highlights how the ethics of the self takes form through the exercise of spiritual practices.

Writing as a Method for the Self-Study of Practice Julian Kitchen, 2022-01-01. This book focuses on the writing process in the self-study of teaching and teacher education practices. It addresses writing as an area in which teacher educators can develop their skills and represents how to write in ways that are compatible with self-study's orientations towards the inquiry, both personal and on practice. The book examines effective self-study writing with chapters written by experienced self-study practitioners. In addition to considering elements of writing as a method for the self-study of practice, it delves into the cognitive processes of real writers making explicit their writing practices. Practical suggestions are connected to the lived experiences of self-study practitioners making sense of their field through the process of writing. This book will be of interest to doctoral and novice self-study writers and experienced authors seeking to develop their practice. It demonstrates that
