Inclusive education retains significant complexity associated with creating a definition and there is significant importance within the surrounding narratives reflecting the broader definitions. Due to the flexibility within the definition, investigating current practices across an array of definitions becomes essential to developing best practices in special education. Inclusive Theory and Practice in Special Education is an essential research book that examines current shifts in the field within the overarching philosophy of inclusion and inclusive education. It reports recent research that focuses on the experiences of teachers and students in classrooms and ways of enhancing the practices of inservice teachers and early career teachers as well as the preparation of preservice teachers. Besides presenting research from these perspectives, it also addresses a selection of broader issues that impact on policy and curriculum, thus identifying related concerns including those of the wider community. Highlighting a wide range of topics such as learning disabilities, student mobility and early childhood education, this publication is ideal for researchers, professionals, administrators, curriculum designers, academicians, policymakers and students.

The School Leadership Survival Guide Jeffrey S. Brooks, Amanda Heffernan, 2021-01-01. The School Leadership Survival Guide: What to Do When Things Go Wrong, How to Learn from Mistakes and Why You Should Prepare for the Worst is intended as an uncommon guide for school leaders and a resource they can turn to when confronted with issues they might not normally face in typical practice. The book serves as a bridge between research and day-to-day school leadership and is intended to help leaders and school communities improve in areas they routinely avoid. In this sense, the book is meant as a go-to resource for principals, those who train and teach them, and scholars. Although authors recognize the complexity of issues raised in the book, each chapter has a 'How to' or 'What to do' or 'Why You Should' ethos in order to give the book a unifying structure and help provide a practical translation of research and theory into practice. Some of the issues addressed include: How to elevate student voice, How to navigate religious conflict in the school and community, How to improve support for LGBTIQ students, Why You Should develop a natural disaster plan, How to work against racism in the school and community, How to practice inclusion in the school, How to make a vision and mission come to life, How to manage relationships with difficult people, What to do when there is racial tension in the community, How to learn the history of your school and community and why that matters, How to guide and support a leadership team, and What to do in a school with low trust.
