Our Southernmost Maoris Herries Beattie, 1954 Our Southernmost Maoris Herries Beattie, 1954 Our Southernmost Maoris Herries Beattie, 1954 Pākehā Settlements in a Māori World Ian Smith, 2020-01-28 Pākehā Settlements in a Māori World offers a vivid account of early European experience in these islands through material evidence offered by the archaeological record As European exploration in the 1770s gave way to sealing whaling and timber felling Pākehā visitors first became sojourners in small remote camps then settlers scattered around the coast Over time mission stations were established alongside farms businesses and industries and eventually towns and government centres Through these decades a small but growing Pākehā population lived within and alongside a Māori world often interacting closely This phase drew to a close in the 1850s as the numbers of Pākehā began to exceed the Māori population and the wars of the 1860s brought brutal transformation to the emerging society and its economy Archaeologist Ian Smith tells the story of adaptation change and continuity as two vastly different cultures learned to inhabit the same country From the scant physical signs of first contact to the wealth of detail about daily life in established settlements archaeological evidence amplifies the historical narrative Glimpses of a world in the midst of turbulent change abound in this richly illustrated book As the visual narrative makes clear archaeology brings history into the present making the past visible in the landscape around us and enabling an understanding of complex histories in the places we inhabit Oceanic Migration Charles E.M. Pearce, F. M. Pearce, 2010-06-17 Oceanic Migration studies the prehistoric peopling of the Pacific It uses science and mathematics to expand the research base of Pacific prehistory and casts new light on this final human expansion It explores the fundamental roles of oceanography and of global climate change in determining the paths sequence timing and range of Spice Island based maritime migrations ranging across a quarter of the globe The book is of interest to Pacific prehistorians oceanographers and American anthropologists concerned with the diffusionist debate For oceanographers it presents the new idea of the role of the West Pacific Warm Pool and of three of its four major currents in determining the evolution of voyaging in two oceans For diffusionists it provides new chronological and technological contexts in which the issue of diffusionism needs to be reconsidered For prehistorians it creates a paradigmatic shift by establishing a new time depth and mechanism for Polynesian exploration offers a new view of voyaging and exploration strategies and of economic imperatives and adds a new dimension to the debate on Polynesian origins Our Southernmost Maoris. Their Habitat. Nature Notes, Etc. [With Photographs.] Herries Beattie, 1954 Facing Empire Kate Fullagar, Michael A McDonnell, 2018-11-01 A major reframing of world history this anthology interrogates eighteenth and nineteenth century European imperialism from the perspective of indigenous peoples Rather than casting indigenous peoples as bystanders in the Age of Revolution Facing Empire examines the active roles they played in helping to shape the course of modern imperialism Focusing on indigenous peoples experiences of the British Empire the volume's comparative approach highlights the commonalities of indigenous struggles and strategies across the globe Facing Empire charts a fresh way forward for historians of empire indigenous studies and the Age of Revolution Covering the Indian and Pacific Oceans Australia and West and South Africa as well as North America this book looks at the often misrepresented and underrepresented complexity of the indigenous experience on a global scale Contributors Tony Ballantyne Justin Brooks Colin G Calloway Kate Fullagar Bill Gammage Robert Kenny Shino Konishi Elspeth Martini Michael A McDonnell Jennifer Newell Joshua L Reid Daniel K Richter Rebecca Shumway Sujit Sivasundaram Nicole Ulrich

Stevens, Jonathan West, 2018 As a group of islands in the far south west Pacific Ocean New Zealand has a history that is steeped in the sea Its people have encountered the sea in many different ways along the coast in port on ships beneath the waves behind a camera and in the realm of the imagination While New Zealanders have continually altered their marine environments the ocean too has influenced their lives A multi disciplinary work encompassing history marine science archaeology and visual culture New Zealand and the Sea explores New Zealand s varied relationship with the sea challenging the conventional view that history unfolds on land Leading and emerging scholars highlight the dynamic ocean centred history of these islands and their inhabitants offering fascinating new perspectives on New Zealand s pasts The ocean has profoundly shaped culture across this narrow archipelago The meeting of land and sea is central in historical accounts of Polynesian discovery and colonisation European exploratory voyaging sealing whaling and the littoral communities that supported these plural occupations and the mass migrant passage from Britain Frances Steel
