

Our Sustainable Table

In this collection of thirteen provocative essays, Wendell Berry discusses the pleasures of eating. Geetel Ehrlich describes her struggle to produce clean, lean beef on her ranch in Wyoming. Frances Moore Lappe sets forth her vision of a system that is environmentally, economically, and culturally sustainable. Wes Jackson condemns the shortsighted bottom line goals of modern agribusiness. Alice Waters recounts the early days of her famous Bay Area restaurant's painstaking pursuit of a supply chain of reliably good ingredients, and Gary Nabhan discusses food, health and Native American agriculture. They are joined by Bruce Brown, Edward Behr, Paul Gruchow, Mark Kramer, Anne Mendelson and Will Weaver.

In this remarkable collection, these essays link a decline in the quality of food with a historical deterioration of the quality of American farm life, while making it clear that "food that tastes good and is good for you is not just a private indulgence but a force for sustaining families and communities."

First published by The Journal of Gastronomy, it is a pleasure to see this seminal, groundbreaking anthology back into print, now with a new introduction by Mary Berry, founding director of the Berry Center.

Robert Clark's first book, The Salace of Food: A Life of James Beard won the Julia Child IAACP award. His other non-fiction books include River of the West, a chronicle of the Columbia River, and My Grandfather's House, a memoir that was named a finalist for the Los Angeles Times Book Award in biography.

Volume 1, Annotated Bibliography, Special Reference Briefs Series No. SRB 98-05, September 1998 ,1998 Eating for Victory Amy Bentley, 1998 Mandatory food rationing during World War II significantly challenged the image of the United States as a land of plenty and collapsed the boundaries between women's public and private lives by declaring home production and consumption to be political activities Examining the food related propaganda surrounding rationing Eating for Victory decodes the dual message purveyed by the government and the media while mandatory rationing was necessary to provide food for U S and Allied troops overseas women on the home front were also required to provide their families with nutritious food Amy Bentley reveals the role of the Wartime Homemaker as a pivotal component not only of World War II but also of the development of the United States into a superpower

Real Food, Real Facts Charlotte Biltekoff, 2024-08-27 A free ebook version of this title is available through Luminos University of California Press's Open Access publishing program Visit www.luminosoa.org to learn more In recent decades many members of the public have come to see processed food as a problem that needs to be solved by eating real food and reforming the food system But for many food industry professionals the problem is not processed food or the food system itself but misperceptions and irrational fears caused by the public's lack of scientific understanding In her highly original book Charlotte Biltekoff explores the role that science and scientific authority play in food industry responses to consumer concerns about what we eat and how it is made As Biltekoff documents industry efforts to correct public misperceptions through science based education have consistently misunderstood the public's concerns which she argues are an expression of politics This has entrenched food scientism in public discourse and seeded a form of antipolitics with broad consequences Real Food Real Facts offers lessons that extend well beyond food choice and will appeal to readers interested in how everyday people come to accept or reject scientific authority in matters of personal health and well being

Corn Meets Maize Lauren E. Baker, 2012-12-13 This compelling book explores the intimate connections between people and plants agriculture and cooking and the practical work of building local food networks and transnational social movements Lauren E Baker uses corn and maize to consider central debates about food security and food sovereignty biodiversity and biotechnology culture and nature as well as globalization and local responses in Mexico and beyond For the author corn symbolizes the commoditization of agriculture and the cultural spiritual ecological and economic separation of people from growing cooking and sharing food Conversely maize represents emerging food movements that address contemporary health environmental and economic imperatives while rooted in agricultural and culinary traditions The meeting of corn and maize reveals the challenge of and possibilities for reclaiming food from its commodity status in the global context of financial turmoil food crises and climate change

Rooted in the Land William Vitek, Wes Jackson, 1996-01-01 This book is dedicated to the notion that human lives are enriched by participation in a social community that is integrated into the natural landscape of a particular place The writers explore the loss of community the philosophical foundations of communities Amish communities and the current renewal of community life

Food in the USA Carole Counihan, 2013-10-18 From Thanksgiving to fast food to the Passover seder Food in the USA brings together the essential readings on these topics and is the only substantial collection of essays on food and culture in the United States Essay topics include the globalization of U S food the dangers of the meatpacking industry the rise of Italian American food the meaning of Soul food the anorexia epidemic the omnipotence of Coca Cola and the invention of Thanksgiving Together the collection provides a fascinating look at how and why we Americans are what we eat

The Taste for Civilization Janet A. Flammang, 2009-10-06 This book explores the idea that table activities the mealtime rituals of food preparation serving and dining lay the foundation for a proper education on the value of civility the importance of the common good and what it means to be a good citizen The arts of conversation and diplomatic speech are learned and practiced at tables and a political history of food practices recasts thoughtfulness and generosity as virtues that enhance civil society and democracy In our industrialized and profit centered culture however foodwork is devalued and civility is eroding Looking at the field of American civility Janet A Flammang addresses the gendered responsibilities for foodwork s civilizing functions and argues that any formulation of civil society must consider food practices and the household To allow space for practicing civility generosity and thoughtfulness through everyday foodwork Americans must challenge the norms of unbridled consumerism work life balance and domesticity and caregiving Connecting political theory with the quotidian activities of the dinner table Flammang discusses practical ideas from the delicious revolution and Slow Food movement to illustrate how civic activities are linked to foodwork and she points to farmers markets and gardens in communities schools and jails as sites for strengthening civil society and degendering foodwork

Building Nature's Market Laura J. Miller, 2017-11-22 For the first 150 years of their existence natural foods were consumed primarily by body builders hippies religious sects and believers in nature cure And those consumers were dismissed by the medical establishment and food producers as kooks faddists and dangerous quacks In the 1980s broader support for natural foods took hold and the past fifteen years have seen an explosion everything from healthy eating superstores to mainstream institutions like hospitals schools and workplace cafeterias advertising their fresh from the garden ingredients Building Nature s Market shows how the meaning of natural foods was transformed as they changed from a culturally marginal religiously inspired set of ideas and practices valorizing asceticism to a bohemian lifestyle to a mainstream consumer choice Laura J Miller argues that the key to understanding this transformation is to recognize the leadership of the natural foods industry Rather than a simple tale of cooptation by market forces Miller contends the participation of business interests encouraged the natural foods movement to be guided by a radical skepticism of established cultural authority She challenges assumptions that private enterprise is always aligned with social elites instead arguing that profit minded entities can make common cause with and even lead citizens in advocating for broad based social and cultural change

An Earth-careful Way of Life Lionel Basney, 2000 Rock My Soul Stephen G. Metzger, 2023-06-16 On June 28 2015 retired California State University Chico librarian Jim Dwyer was found unconscious on the floor of the men s room in a mini mart outside Sacramento apparently on his way home from the Bay Area opening night of the Grateful Dead s Fare Thee Well tour He died that evening in a nearby hospital A nationally recognized literary scholar Jim had dubbed his alter ego the Rev Junkyard Moondog reading beat like poetry at open mics joining local bands on stage marching for peace and justice working to save endangered species and generally raising his freak flag high A year after Jim s death his friend and colleague Steve Metzger bought Jim s tiny run down cottage from Jim s brother Billy whose only condition was that Metzger not remove Jim s giant peace sign fashioned of yellow and white freeway lane divider dots from the sloping street facing roof of the house Metzger adjusting to recent personal changes of his own set about restoring the cottage He eventually christened it the Blue Peace House Part biography part memoir Rock My Soul A Poet's Heart a Brokedown Palace and a Final Fare Thee Well examines Jim's complicated life drawing on extensive interviews with Jim's neighbors friends and colleagues The book also highlights turning points in Metzger's 40 year freelance writing career along the way offering a look at Chico history including the filming of The Adventures of Robin Hood Woody Guthrie's little known summer in Chico the WWII Chico Army Air Field and the beginnings of the Chico Peace and Justice Center Facebook posts from Jim's Moondog's friends after they learn of his death shed further light on the life of this eccentric scholar artist

The Nutrient-Dense Eating Plan Douglas L. Margel, 2005 Nutrient dense eating refers to the nutritional quality of a food and to the highly concentrated vitally important foods eaten on the plan They are the opposite of empty calorie foods that eventually degrade health and lead to debilitating diseases says the author Douglas Margel He believes the dominant eating disorder of this culture is the ambivalent adversarial relationship people have with food and we should reconnect to ancestral wisdom and eat as if it really mattered Future Horizons, 1997 Chilies to Chocolate Nelson Foster, Linda S. Cordell, 1992-07 Draws on disciplines as diverse as anthropology ethnobotany and agronomy to trace the biological and cultural history of the crops indigenous to the Americas and how they made their way to the kitchens of the Old World Simultaneous
