Advances in Cryptology - CRYPTO '89

Gilles Brassard, 1995-01-01 CRYPTO is a conference devoted to all aspects of cryptologic research. It is held each year at the University of California at Santa Barbara. Annual meetings on this topic also take place in Europe and are regularly published in this Lecture Notes series under the name of EUROCRYPT. This volume presents the proceedings of the ninth CRYPTO meeting. The papers are organized into sections with the following themes: Why is cryptography harder than it looks; pseudo randomness and sequences; cryptanalysis and implementation; signature and authentication; threshold schemes and key management; key distribution and network security; fast computation; odds and ends; zero knowledge and oblivious transfer; multiparty computation.

Sign Languages in Village Communities Ulrike Zeshan, Connie de Vos, 2012-10-30 The book is a unique collection of research on sign languages that have emerged in rural communities with a high incidence of often hereditary deafness. These sign languages represent the latest addition to the comparative investigation of languages in the gestural modality and the book is the first compilation of a substantial number of different village sign languages. Written by leading experts in the field, the volume uniquely combines anthropological and linguistic insights, looking at both the social dynamics and the linguistic structures in these village communities. The book includes primary data from eleven different signing communities across the world, including results from Jamaica, India, Turkey, Thailand, and Bali. All known village sign languages are endangered, usually because of pressure from larger urban sign languages, and some have died out already. Ironically, it is often the success of the larger sign language communities in urban centres, their recognition, and subsequent spread, which leads to the endangerment of these small minority sign languages. The book addresses this specific type of language endangerment, documentation strategies, and other ethical issues pertaining to these sign languages on the basis of first-hand experiences by Deaf fieldworkers.

Advances in Cryptology - CRYPTO 2001 Joe Kilian, 2003-05-15 CRYPTO 2001, the 21st Annual Crypto conference, was sponsored by the International Association for Cryptologic Research (IACR) in cooperation with the IEEE Computer Society Technical Committee on Security and Privacy and the Computer Science Department of the University of California at Santa Barbara. The conference received 156 submissions, of which the program committee selected 34 for presentation; one was later withdrawn. These proceedings contain the revised versions of the 33 submissions that were presented at the conference. These revisions have not been checked for correctness, and the authors bear full responsibility for the contents of their papers. The conference program included two invited lectures: Mark Sherwin spoke on Quantum information processing in semiconductors; an experimentalist's view; Daniel Weitzner spoke on Privacy Authentication Identity: A recent history of cryptographic struggles for freedom. The conference program also included its perennial rump session chaired by Stuart Haber featuring short informal talks on late breaking research news As I try to account for the hours of my life that ew o to oblivion I realize that most of my time was spent cajoling talented innocents into spending even more time on my behalf I have accumulated more debts than I can ever hope to repay As mere statements of thanks are certainly insu cient consider the rest of this preface my version of Chapter 11 Transactions North of England Institute of Mining and Mechanical Engineers,1903 Vols 19 and 22 contain a Catalogue of institute library separately paged
