Out Of The Red Building Capitalism And Democracy In Postcommunist Europe:

Pickles, 2008-01-17 State and Society in Post Socialist Economies focuses on the reform economies of post socialist Europe It looks at how various projects of communism that emerged in have been and are still being dismantled and recomposed by alternative visions institutions and practices of capitalist market economies and democratic polities

Transformation Index 2010 Bertelsmann Stiftung, 2010-07-30 The peaceful transition of authoritarian regimes towards democracy and a market economy poses enormous challenges for citizens and politicians alike Around the world under widely differing conditions and with varying degrees of success reform oriented groups are struggling to democratize their countries and to strengthen the market economy Good governance is the decisive factor for the success or failure of any transition process This is the fourth edition of the Bertelsmann Stiftung s Transformation Index BTI which is published every two years The global ranking measures and compares transition processes worldwide on the basis of detailed country reports Comparing systematically the status of democracy and market economy on an international basis the BTI also provides comprehensive data on the quality of political management in 128 transition and developing countries from 2007 to 2009

In Pursuit of Liberalism Rachel A. Epstein, 2008-09-29 Though the fall of the Soviet Union opened the way for states in central and eastern Europe to join the world of market oriented Western democracies the expected transitions have not been as easy common or smooth as sometimes perceived Rachel A Epstein investigates how liberal ideas and practices are embedded in transitioning societies and finds that success or failure depends largely on creating a social context in which incentives held out by international institutions are viewed as symbols of an emerging Western identity in the affected country Epstein first explains how a liberal worldview and institutions like the European Union World Bank the International Monetary Fund and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization go hand in hand and why Western nations assume that a broad and incremental program of incentives to join will encourage formerly authoritarian states to reform their political and economic systems Using Hungary Poland Romania and the Ukraine as case studies she demonstrates the limits of conditionality in the face of national social perceptions and elucidates the three key points around which a consensus within the state must emerge before international institutions can expect liberalization domestic officials must be uncertain about how changing policies will affect their interests the status of international and domestic institutions must not be in jeopardy and the proposed policies must seem credible In making her case Epstein cleverly bridges the gap between the rationalist and constructivist schools of thought Offering new data on and fresh interpretations of reforming central bank policies privatizing banks with foreign capital democratizing civil military relations and denationalizing defense policy In Pursuit of Liberalism extends well beyond the scope of previous book length studies      Knowledge Production in European Universities

Kwiek Marek,2012-11-23 The book studies transformations of European universities in the context of globalization and Europeanization the questioning of the foundations of the Golden Age of the Keynesian welfare state public sector reforms demographic changes the massification and diversification of higher education and the emergence of knowledge economies Such phenomena as academic entrepreneurialism and diversified channels of knowledge exchange in European universities are linked to transformations of the state and changes in public sector services The first contextual part of the book studies the changing state university relationships and the second empirically informed part draws from several recent large scale comparative European research projects      Funding of Political Parties and Election Campaigns ,2014-04-01 All political parties need funding to play their part in the political process yet the role of money in politics is arguably the biggest threat to democracy today This global threat knows no boundaries and is evident across all continents from huge corporate campaign donations in the United States and drug money seeping into politics in Latin America to corruption scandals throughout Asia and Europe Attempts to tackle these challenges through political finance laws and regulations are often undermined by a lack of political will or capacity as well as poorly designed and enforced measures This Handbook addresses the problems of money in politics by analysing political finance regulations around the world and providing guidance for reform The chapters are divided by region each assesses the current state of regulations in relation to its challenges and offers a series of recommendations to tackle the identified shortcomings This contextual approach has the benefit of revealing regional trends and patterns An additional chapter focuses on gender reflecting the reality that women remain grossly under represented in politics and how the increasing influence of money in politics perpetuates this inequality

Resilient Liberalism in Europe's Political Economy Vivien A. Schmidt,Mark Thatcher,2013-08-29 This book explains why neoliberal economic ideas have not just survived but thrived since the 1980s taking Europe from boom to bust      The Defeat of Solidarity David Ost,2018-07-05 How did the fall of communism and the subsequent transition to capitalism in Eastern Europe affect the people who experienced it And how did their anger affect the quality of the democratic systems that have emerged Poland offers a particularly provocative case for it was here where workers most famously seemed to have won thanks to the role of the Solidarity trade union And yet within a few short years they had clearly lost An oppressive communist regime gave way to a capitalist society that embraced economic and political inequality leaving many workers frustrated and angry Their leaders first ignored them then began to fear them and finally tried to marginalize them In turn workers rejected their liberal leaders opening the way for right wing nationalists to take control of Solidarity Ost tells a fascinating story about the evolution of postcommunist society in Eastern Europe Informed by years of fieldwork in Polish factory towns scores of interviews with workers labor activists and politicians and an exhaustive reading of primary sources his new book gives voice to those who have not been heard But even more Ost proposes a novel theory about the role of anger in politics to show why such voices matter and how they profoundly affect political outcomes Drawing on Poland s experiences Ost describes lessons relevant to democratization throughout Eastern Europe and to democratic theory in general

The New Right in the New Europe Seán Hanley, 2007-08-07 This book considers the emergence of centre right parties in Eastern Europe following the fall of communism focusing primarily on the case of the Czech Republic Although the country with the strongest social democratic traditions in Eastern Europe the Czech Republic also produced the region's strongest and most durable party of the free market right in Václav Klaus Civic Democratic Party ODS Seán Hanley considers the different varieties of right wing politics that emerged in post communist Europe exploring in particular detail the origins of the Czech neo liberal right tracing its genesis to the reactions of dissidents and technocrats to the collapse of 1960s reform communism He argues that rather than being shaped by distant historical legacies the emergence of centre right parties can best be understood by examining the responses of counter elites outside or marginal to the former communist party state establishment to the collapse of communism and the imperatives of market reform and decommunization This volume goes on to consider the emergence of right wing forces in the disintegrating Civic Forum movement in 1990 the foundation of the ODS the right's period in office under Klaus in 1992-97 and its subsequent divisions and decline It concludes by analyzing the ideology of the Czech Right and its growing euroscepticism

A New Capitalist Order Hilary Appel, 2010-06-15 After the collapse of communism in the Soviet Union and eastern Europe more than a dozen countries undertook aggressive privatization programs Proponents of economic reform championed such large scale efforts as the fastest most reliable way to make the transition from a state run to a capitalist economy The idea was widely embraced and in the span of a few years policymakers across the region repeatedly chose an approach that distributed vast amounts of state property to the private sector essentially for free despite the absence of any historical precedent for such a radical concept But privatization was not a panacea It has instead become increasingly synonymous with collusion corruption and material deprivation Why was privatization so popular in the first place and what went wrong In answering this question Hilary Appel breaks with mainstream empirical studies of postcommunist privatization By analyzing the design and development of programs in Russia the Czech Republic and across eastern Europe Appel demonstrates how the transformation of property rights in these countries was first and foremost an ideologically driven process Looking beyond simple economic calculations or pressure from the international community she argues that privatization was part and parcel of the foundation of the postcommunist state A New Capitalist Order reveals that privatization was designed and implemented by pro market reformers not only to distribute gains and losses to powerful supporters but also to advance a decidedly Western liberal vision of the new postcommunist state Moreover specific ideologies such as anticommunism liberalism or nationalism to name but a few profoundly influenced the legitimacy the power and even the material preferences of key economic actors and groups within the privatization process

Restructuring in the New EU Member States Marie-Ange Moreau,María Esther Blas-López,2008 This book presents a series of extremely stimulating analyses of the process of corporate restructuring in the new Member States of the EU Particularly noteworthy is the book s focus on the Central and Eastern European Countries CEECs that have joined the EU since 2004 an area which has not been prominent in the research on corporate restructuring conducted in Western Europe in the last twenty years As with their Asian counterparts

these States have generally been perceived as a threat to employment in Western Europe due to the former s benefiting from outsourcing away from the latter By moving east the book allows for a different perspective on the restructuring process by placing it in the context of both Europe and the numerous changes affecting the CEECs The book seeks to understand the impact of European and national level policies on the concept of restructuring the role of the acquis communautaire and the place of social and political actors in the process of change in the context of new Member States where multinational firms have developed mobility and establishment strategies within the context of broader European and global ones The density of this collection its wealth in terms of substantive teachings and its use of a comparative and multidisciplinary approach that links law political science sociology and economics make it an essential resource for those wishing to understand restructuring in the European space after the enlargements of 2004 and 2007 and the impact of European policies and the European Social Model
