Out Of Control The Addictive Behavioral Personality:

Out of Control Moses Calhoun, 1993-06-01      Addiction Medicine E-Book Bankole Johnson, 2019-12-12 Integrating scientific knowledge with today's most effective treatment options Addiction Medicine Science and Practice 2nd Edition provides a wealth of information on addictions to substances and behavioral addictions. It discusses the concrete research on how the brain and body are affected by addictions, improving your understanding of how patients develop addictions and how best to personalize treatment and improve outcomes. This essential text is ideal for anyone who deals with patients with addictions in clinical practice, including psychiatrists, health psychologists, pharmacologists, social workers, drug counselors, trainees, and general physicians/family practitioners. Clearly explains the role of brain function in drug taking and other habit-forming behaviors and shows how to apply this biobehavioral framework to the delivery of evidence-based treatment. Provides clinically relevant details on not only traditional sources of addiction such as cocaine, opiates, and alcohol, but also more recently recognized substances of abuse, e.g., steroids, inhalants, as well as behavioral addictions, e.g., binge eating, compulsive gambling, hoarding. Discusses current behavioral and medical therapies in depth while also addressing social contexts that may affect personalized treatment. Contains new information on compliance-enhancing interventions, cognitive behavioral treatments, behavioral management, and other psychosocial interventions. Includes neurobiological, molecular, and behavioral theories of addiction and includes a section on epigenetics. Contains up-to-date information throughout, including a new definition of status epilepticus, a current overview of Lennox-Gastaut syndrome, and updates on new FDA-approved drugs for pediatric neurological disorders. Features expanded sections on evidence-based treatment options, including pharmacotherapy, pharmacogenetics, and potential vaccines. Addresses addiction in regards to specific populations, including adolescents, geriatric, pregnant women, and health care professionals. Includes contributions from expert international authors, making this a truly global reference to addiction medicine.      Chronic Pain and Addiction M. R. Clark, G. J.

Treisman, 2011-04-20 Patients with chronic pain understandably seek relief from their distress and discomfort, but many medications that alleviate pain are potentially addictive, and most chronic pain conditions only have a temporary response to opiate analgesic drugs. This volume reviews the fundamental topics that underlie the complex relationships of this controversial domain. The authors review behavioral models and practical methods for understanding and treating chronic pain and addiction, including methods to formulate patients with complex comorbidity and screen patients with chronic pain for addictive liability. Finally, the authors describe the current findings from clinical and basic science that illuminate the role of opiates, cannabinoids, and ketamine in the treatment of chronic pain. Up-to-date and comprehensive, this book is relevant to all professionals engaged in the care of patients with chronic pain or addiction and all others interested in these contemporary issues, particularly non-clinicians seeking clarity in the controversy over the best approach to patients with chronic pain.      Parsing Psychology: Statistical and Computational Methods using Physiological, Behavioral,

Thombs, Cynthia J. Osborn, 2013-07-08 This book has been replaced by Introduction to Addictive Behaviors Fifth Edition ISBN 978 1 4625 3922 2 Exploring Gender and Sex Differences in Behavioral Dyscontrol: from Drug Addiction to Impulse Control Disorders Liana Fattore, Miriam Melis, 2016-04-13 Males and females exhibit discrete attitudes and skills experience dissimilar emotional and psychological needs and react differently to peer pressure lack of self realization or other personal and social expectations. In addition, they are differently influenced by family history and diverge in the perception of self image and health risks. To complicate the matter on gender dichotomy, male testosterone levels markedly vary over the course of the day while female levels of sex hormones significantly fluctuate depending upon the menstrual cycle, the pre or post menopausal age and the use of oral contraceptives. All of these factors interact with genetic background and sex hormonal fluctuations and determine the differences observed in their predisposition to develop an addiction. This term is traditionally associated to the abuse of legal and illegal substances. However, a compulsion toward the engagement in a non drug related rewarding behavior usually involving a natural reward also activates the brain reward system and engenders persistent behavior thus resulting in a diminished control over it. These latter behaviors are defined as behavioral addictions. This definition encompasses any behavior characterized by the followings: i) feeling of tension or arousal before the action; ii) gratification and/or relief at the time of performing the act; iii) inability to resist an urge or drive even against great obstacles or dangers; iv) absence of consideration for the negative consequences that may affect family, friends and/or work. As such, behavioral addictions include compulsive food intake and sexual activity, pathological gambling and Internet addiction, excessive exercising, compulsive buying and pyromania. These behaviors, which are often classified as impulse control disorders, result in actions that are harmful to oneself and/or others, share common features: e.g. compulsiveness, impulsivity, impaired decision making, craving, tolerance, withdrawal, high rates of relapse and involve dysfunction of several brain circuits. Derangement from functional neurobiological mechanisms underpinning both sensitivity to reward and inhibitory control can also lead to compulsive behaviors. For instance, pathological gambling and other impulse control disorders, e.g. hypersexuality, compulsive painting, eating and buying are often reported in Parkinson's disease patients. Gender dependent differences in the rate of initiation and frequency of misuse of addicting drugs have been widely described. Yet men and women also differ in their propensity to become addicted to other rewarding stimuli, e.g. sex, food or activities, e.g. gambling, exercising. The goal of the present Research Topic is to explore and summarize current evidence for gender and sex differences not only in drug addiction but also in other forms of addictive behaviors. Thus, it will include studies showing gender dependent differences in drug addiction, food addiction, compulsive sexual activity, pathological gambling, Internet addiction and physical exercise addiction. Psychiatric comorbidity, potential risk factors and the underlying neural mechanisms will be also examined with particular emphasis to the role of sex hormones in modulating addictive and compulsive behaviors.
