Out Of The Riven Century Stories Of A Turning Time:

Out of the Riven Century Nickell John Romjue, 2001 Out of the Riven Century Stories of a Turning Time is a set of five parables about contemporary seekers who grapple with the unexpectedly violent consequences of the major now moribund philosophical ideas that formed the twentieth century world Set in late century American and European locations Nickell Romjue's stories challenge the modernist paradigm that produced the most technologically brilliant century in history but one strangely dark the most violent century of the modern age The seekers in these stories are an acclaimed American novelist a British Nobel laureate astrophysicist a great French artist of light an American neo classical composer and a young German American theologian and his artist wife As seekers they are driven to confront the dying materialist belief systems on which the twentieth century world was built a world now in its millennial turn Those reductionist dogmas of economic materialist psychological morally free man conjoined to remove the bar of a higher morality and to engender ideologies sanctioning the great revolutionary and racist genocides of the twentieth century The same ideas would lead by late century to social theories that sanctioned the legalized killing of the unborn and the very sick and old in the most advanced civilized lands of the world Each of these thematic stories is placed into that historical world All unfold against the backdrop of the 20th century's distinctive and tragic irony the emergence in a morally free aggressively human centered era of state theory and practice sanctioning the elimination of entire unwanted categories of humanity Toward an intellectual reopening to a new more humane time these story parables offer the metaphor of the light beyond the light that men and women know universally to exist a re recognition of transcendent spirit real beyond the dead liturgies of a materialist faith anchored in the now tumbled and tumbling icons of modernity Marx Darwin Freud and Nietzsche Structurally the tales take as model the narrative dramatic form of the German novelle at whose center is a strange or uncanny event that flows from the action in an unexpected resolution Zarathustra is a story about a reclusive American novelist a self styled destroyer named Michael Brennen and a literary mystery figure Peter Roan Told by Brennen's former student friend in the settings of a German university and a California literary festival the story dramatizes the culture of a literature of alienation and destruction in a frame played against the parable of Nietzsche on the 200 year long dying of Christian morality Chartres seen through the eyes of Morgan an American portrait artist unravels the mystery of the bizarre death in the Chartres cathedral of Edward Gist a wheelchair bound Nobel laureate British astrophysicist The narrative drama features a detective American celebrity astronomer Glanz and his estranged wife Samantha Mee a minimalist short story icon It proceeds against the backdrop of contemporary astrophysicist fascination with the philosophical and religious implications of the Big Bang universe Jean Durel set on the Normandy island of Mont St Michel and in Washington D C is a story about the contemporary art world Its protagonist is a French sculptor artist who is an orphan of the Normandy invasion and whose life and art devoted to the parents he never knew present the mystery of the war art cache of his father and of his own gift devoted to their sacrifice revealed in Durel's masterpiece stained glass composition in the Washington National Cathedral in the year of its completion. The Symphony counterposes two classical musicians living at the opposite ends of the twentieth century: Tarnow, a famous Austrian composer and theorist of an atonal music of anti beauty, and Martin Starry, a young Beethoven-like future. The Beethoven Journal, 2001. The Black Box Nickell John Romjue, John Romjue Nickell John Romjue, 2007. The world today is witnessing the terminal breakup of the great materialist belief systems of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries that so powerfully shaped the secular modern mind. No metaphor better encapsulates that breakup of the visionary theories and credos of nature, man, and society advanced by Darwin, Marx, Nietzsche, and Freud than The Black Box. Each of the materialist faiths generated by modernity's famous quartet of founders contained an unknown chamber of surprises: a black box that its author could not or did not see into. Today the black boxes stand open. First, the intricate cell of life which the crude optics of Darwin's time could not penetrate is indisputably a structure designed by intelligence. Second, the hidden component of mass killing that proved organic to Marxist revolutionary regimes. Third, the propensity of Nietzsche's bold vision of trans-moral overmen to produce not the aesthetic ideal but cold totalitarian monsters. Fourth, the widespread subversion of individual moral behavior legitimized by the deluded Freudian assertion of the primacy of subconscious drives over the rational mind. In the early twenty-first century, our civilization looks back upon the tragic legacy of materialism, a worldview that declared God to be a human invention, the galaxies and life on Earth cosmic accidents, and morality a factor of need and situation in an aimless universe. God substitutes emerged to fill the void. Religion hostile. National Socialist and Communist party regimes assumed in the twentieth century higher moral authority to kill their unwanted subjects and alien victims on a scale unprecedented in modern history. The stories of this book dramatize the life crises of five acolytes of the famous four gospels of materialism that so powerfully shaped the violent twentieth-century world, along with a sixth who returned on the eve of the millennium for a second look. In these stories, irony and humor could not be avoided. The Anachronistic Turn Stephanie Russo, 2023-12-01. The Anachronistic Turn: Historical Fiction, Drama, Film, and Television is the first study to investigate the ways in which the creative use of anachronism in historical fictions can allow us to rethink the relationship between past and present. Through an examination of literary, cinematic, and popular texts and practices, this book investigates how twenty-first-century historical fictions use creative anachronisms as a way of understanding modern issues and anxieties. Drawing together a wide range of texts across all forms of historical fiction: novels, dramas, musicals, films, and television, this book re-frames anachronism not as an error but as a deliberate strategy that emphasises the fictionalising tendencies of all forms of historical writing. The book achieves this by exploring three core themes: the developing trends in the twenty-first century for creators of historical fiction to include deliberate anachronisms such as contemporary references, music, and language; the ways in which the deliberate use of anachronism in historical fiction can allow us to rethink the relationship between past and present; and the way that contemporary historical fiction uses anachronism to better
