WRITING BETWEEN EXILE AND DIASPORA

Outlandish Writing Between Exile And Diaspora

a foreword by Lisa Jardine

Outlandish Writing Between Exile And Diaspora:

Outlandish Nico Israel, 2000 Outlandish addresses geographical displacement as a lived experience in the twentieth century as a predicament of writing and as a problem for theory. It focuses on the work of three transnational writers from diverse backgrounds working in different genres: Joseph Conrad the Ukrainian born Polish novelist and storywriter living in Britain at the turn of the century; Theodor W Adorno the German Jewish philosopher and sociologist transplanted to Los Angeles during the Second World War; and Salman Rushdie the Indian born British novelist and journalist recently released from the peculiar conditions of his notorious houseless arrest. The author argues that Conrad, Adorno, and Rushdie emblemize significant shifts over the course of the century from a modernist expression of almost universal deracination to a post-Auschwitz disarticulation of home and subjectivity to an emergent conceptualization of displacement in terms of migrancy, hybridity, and flow. He theorizes a mode of reading between exile and diaspora, two fundamentally different descriptions of displacement, and allows the outlandish writing of these three figures to complicate this seemingly continuous trajectory. Drawing on texts from literary theory, philosophy, psychoanalysis, anthropology, and geography, the author explores what he calls the rhetoric of displacement, the struggle to assert identity out of place. He reads this writing predicament against the backdrop of the century's salient economic and technological changes, political upheavals, and mass migrations. In doing so, he draws attention to those aspects of exile and diaspora that have remained insufficiently considered: their relation to nationalism and colonialism, to authority and institutionality, and above all, to broader questions of subjectivity, race, location, and language as these concepts themselves subtly change over the course of the century.

Arab Voices in Diaspora

, 2009-01-01 Arab Voices in Diaspora offers a wide-ranging overview and an insightful study of the field of anglophone Arab literature produced across the world. The first of its kind, it chronicles the development of this literature from its inception at the turn of the past century until the post-9/11 era. The book sheds light not only on the historical but also on the cultural and aesthetic value of this literary production, which has so far received little scholarly attention. It also seeks to place anglophone Arab literary works within the larger nomenclature of postcolonial, emerging, and ethnic literature, as it finds that the authors are haunted by the same hybrid, exilic, and diasporic questions that have dogged their fellow postcolonialists. Issues of belonging, loyalty, and affinity are recognized and dealt with in the various essays, as are the various concerns involved in cultural and relational identification. The contributors to this volume come from different national backgrounds and share in examining the nuances of this emerging literature. Authors discussed include Elmaz Abinader, Diana Abu Jaber, Leila Aboulela, Leila Ahmed, Rabih Alameddine, Edward Atiyah, Shaw Dallah, Ibrahim Fawal, Fadia Faqir, Khalil Gibran, Suheir Hammad, Loubna Haikal, Nada Awar Jarrar, Jad El Hage, Lawrence Joseph, Mohja Kahf, Jamal Mahjoub, Hisham Matar, Dunya Mikhail, Samia Serageldine, Naomi Shihab Nye, Ameen Rihani, Mona Simpson, Ahdaf Soueif, and Cecile Yazbak. Jardine, 2016-12-05 Original and thought provoking this collection sheds new light on an important yet understudied feature of seventeenth century England s political and cultural landscape exile Through an essentially literary lens exile is examined both as physical departure from England to France Germany the Low Countries and America and as inner mental withdrawal In the process a strikingly wide variety of contemporary sources comes under scrutiny including letters diaries plays treatises translations and poetry The extent to which the richness and disparateness of these modes of writing militates against or constructs a recognisable rhetoric of exile is one of the book s overriding themes Also under consideration is the degree to which exilic writing in this period is intended for public consumption a product of private reflection or characterised by a coalescence of the two Importantly this volume extends the chronological range of the English Revolution beyond 1660 by demonstrating that exile during the Restoration formed a meaningful continuum with displacement during the civil wars of the mid century This in depth and overdue study of prominent and hitherto obscure exiles conspicuously diverse in political and religious allegiance yet inextricably bound by the shared experience of displacement will be of interest to scholars in a range of disciplines Critical Identities in Contemporary Anglophone Diasporic Literature Françoise Kral, 2009-06-25 The figure of the migrant has been celebrated by some as an icon of postmodernity an emblematic figure in a world increasingly

Eliot, the representative modernist, in order to re-construct his culture out of the debris of its imperialist past, concluded his Waste Land (1922) by looking Eastward into the all-pervading shantih of the Brihadaranyaka Upanishad. Kahlil Gibran, a Lebanese American, authored The Prophet (1923) to deconstruct such enterprise and retrieve a culture that was swirling in between Darwinian metaphors and Nietzschean Nihilism. He, who was exterior to the omnipotent definitions of the West, saw in Beauty the eternity gazing at itself in a mirror. So to him, you are eternity and you are the mirror. This book is a reading of Kahlil Gibran's life and works: his life as a text and his works as the terrains of a never-ending journey. It opens up those fissures and ruptures that make Gibran and his writings relevant vis-à-vis the socio-political, cultural, and religious urgencies that the world is grappling with today. Often misconstrued as a mystic or an Oriental Wise Man, Gibran dwells in an amorphous placelessness within the academic space and outside of it. Forerunner in its own way, this book, by unfolding the process of reading as a mode of travelling, subverts such stereotypes and tries to reveal to the readers that outlandish, lonely intellectual who, through his works, fashioned a self and a land out of place rather than in a non-place for dismantling and up-setting monolithic cultures and their decadent notions. Francophone Post-colonial Cultures Kamal Salhi, 2003-01-01. A collection of discussions of literary texts from areas as diverse as Europe and North Africa, the Caribbean, and South Asia, regions of the world that seem to have only their language in common. But despite enormous differences among all the countries where French is spoken, Francophone literatures tend to deal with a similar spread of issues. This volume positions the study of the Francophone world and its cultures as a comparative project in which post-colonial Francophone cultures and the specific alterity of these cultures emerge as inextricable from and essential to an understanding of modern France. The volume is organized by region with an international roster of contributions and includes summaries of selected creative and critical works and a guide to selected terms and figures.

The Elsewhere Adam Zachary Newton, 2005-08-03. The Elsewhere. Or midbar, biblical Hebrew for both wilderness and speech. A place of possession and dispossession, loss and nostalgia. But also a place that speaks. Ingeniously using a Talmudic interpretive formula about the disposition of boundaries, Newton explores narratives of place, flight, border, and beyond. The writers of The Elsewhere are a disparate company of twentieth-century memoirists and fabulists from the Levant, Palestine,

Israel Egypt and East Central Europe Together their texts cunningly paired so as to speak to one another in mutually revelatory ways narrate the paradox of the near distance Unhomely Cinema Dwayne Avery, 2014-10-15 Representations of troubled and inhospitable domestic places are a common feature of many cinematic narratives Unhomely Cinema explores how the unhomely nature of contemporary film narrative provides an insight into what it means to dwell in today's global societies Providing analyses of a variety of film genres from Michel Gondry's comedy Be Kind Rewind to Laurent Cantet's eerie suspense thriller Time Out Unhomely Cinema presents an engaging discussion of some of the most pertinent social and cultural issues involved in the question of making home in contemporary societies Shaping the City to Come Deborah Lewittes, 2022-02-15 This study reassesses modern architecture and town planning in mid twentieth century England highlighting ideas and debates that were in circulation as modernist ideals gradually took root The book reveals an architectural culture that was serious active and visionary with impact that extended into the postwar years Through close studies of specific works and writings the author acknowledges the importance of the international context of modern architecture as it intersected with the variety of narratives that defined English modernism such as national identity the New Empiricism and the picturesque taking into account the large community of migr architects who settled in England with the approach of World War II as well as a more general dissemination of international style forms and theories from continental Europe The book places familiar figures such as Berthold Lubetkin and Ern Goldfinger as well as projects such as Tecton's Penguin Pool and the Festival of Britain's Live Architecture Exhibition in new light presenting a rich picture of the modern architectural climate in England The study draws attention to the debates proposals and processes that fed into the development of modernist urban minded and forward looking architectural ideals A Concise Companion to Contemporary British Fiction James F. English, 2008-04-15 A Concise Companion to Contemporary British Fiction offers an authoritative overview of contemporary British fiction in its social political and economic contexts Focuses on the fiction that has emerged since the late 1970s roughly since the start of the Thatcher era Comprises original essays from major scholars Topics range from the rise and fall of the postcolonial novel to controversies over the celebrity author The emphasis is on the whole fiction scene from bookstores and prizes to the changing economics of film adaptation Enables students to read contemporary works of British fiction with a much clearer sense of where they fit within British cultural life
