Writing Performance Ronald J. Pelias, 1999 Ronald J. Pelias is concerned with writing about performance from the everyday performative routines to the texts on stage He seeks to write performatively to offer poetic or aesthetic renderings of performance events in order to capture some sense of their nature In his quest for the spirit of theatrical performances in a collection of essays Pelias of course asks more of the written word than the word can deliver Yet the attempt is both desirable and necessary To discuss performance without some accounting for its essence as art he asserts is at best misleading at worst fraud Pelias divides his efforts to present performance events into three general categories Performing Every Day On Writing and Performing and Being a Witness As the title implies Performing Every Day focuses on performances ranging from the daily business of enacting roles to the telling of tales that make life meaningful It incorporates essays about the ongoing process of presenting oneself in everyday life the gender script that insists that men enact manly performances the classroom performances of teachers and students stories of gender class and race that mark identity and a performance installation entitled A Day's Talk which is a record of talk produced in a day's time accompanied by reflections about and responses to that talk On Writing and Performing examines the written script and performance practices It contains a description of a struggle between a writer and a performer as they protect their own interests an intimate look at an apprehensive performer a short play entitled The Audition which deals with what it means to be an actor a chronicle of performance process from the perspective of an actor and a brief essay on the nature of performance Being a Witness examines performance from the perspective of the audience and the director It includes essays on the experience of being an audience member viewing theatre in the context of New York City directing and being directed by actors bodies watching The DEF Comedy Jam and in the form of an interview some final reflections about working with performance for many years
