Strain of Violence Richard Maxwell Brown, 1975-01-02 These essays written by leading historian of violence and Presidential Commission consultant Richard Maxwell Brown consider the challenges posed to American society by the criminal turbulent and depressed elements of American life and the violent response of the established order Covering violent incidents from colonial American to the present Brown presents illuminating discussions of violence and the American Revolution black white conflict from slave revolts to the black ghetto riots of the 1960s the vigilante tradition and two of America s most violent regions Central Texas which

Barbs, Bullets, and Blood Harold D. Jobes, 2025-07-11 In 1874 Joseph Glidden patented and manufactured the nation s first barbed wire and the next year Henry Sanborn came to Texas selling Glidden s wire to cattlemen Sales increased each year and in 1883 Sanborn sold Texas ranchers one million dollars worth of barbed wire but free range cattle advocates and homesteaders revolted against the barbed wire fences more than half of Texas s counties experiencing fence cutting In the eyes of some Texans barbed wire fences stopped cattle drives interfered with homesteading and wrecked the state s economy but the act of fence cutting precipitated extreme levels of violence between the ranchers and the fence cutters Fence cutting occurred as far north as Montana but no state suffered the magnitude of fence cutting and violence as in Texas Fence cutting usually occurred at night and responsibility for stopping it fell on local lawmen who often failed. The Texas state government lacked statutory authority and financial means to stop it so Governor John Ireland called the Texas legislature to Austin for a special session to write new laws and appropriate funds to cope with this revolution. After successful passage, Pinkerton and Ferrell's commercial detectives and the Texas Rangers stepped in to assist. A war of barbs, bullets and blood followed. Soon detectives fled the state, a Ranger was assassinated and another Ranger wounded. In a midnight shootout with Rangers, two fence cutters were killed, one of them the neighboring community's justice of the peace. Texas's fence cutting incidents are found scattered in earlier writings but Barbs, Bullets and Blood is the first comprehensive coverage of one of the state's most violent and costly episodes.

Film Year Book, 1938 Harvey C. Kett Mabel Mirie Austin, Judi Barchet, 2021-03-09

Harvey C. Kett, who everyone called Harve, was a key figure in the development of Southeastern Colorado. In 1886, at age three, he travelled by train with his parents, brother and sister from Massachusetts to the barren, wide open plains of Colorado, a land that would enchant him and capture his heart. He lived there most of his life as a cowboy, rancher and politician. He helped shape the landscape both literally and figuratively. As he grew, he captured the stories of his life, the people he knew and the adventures he experienced. The vivid pictures were painted by a young man with little formal education, giving voice to a cowboy and plainsman who lived in a little known corner of Colorado more than a hundred years ago. Written by his granddaughter and great granddaughter, this book provides a detailed account of an overlooked plainsman.

who along with his family was among Colorado's greatest pioneers
