Outline History Of Classical Chinese Literature:

A Short History of Classical Chinese Literature Yuanjun Feng, 1958 An Outline History of Classical Chinese Literature Yuanjun Feng, 1983 The Oxford Handbook of Classical Chinese Literature Wiebke Denecke, Wai-Yee Li, Xiaofei Tian, 2017-03-21

This volume introduces readers to classical Chinese literature from its beginnings ca 10th century BCE to the tenth century CE. It asks basic questions such as: How did reading and writing practices change over these two millennia? How did concepts of literature evolve? What were the factors that shaped literary production and textual transmission? How do traditional bibliographic categories, modern conceptions of genre, and literary theories shape our understanding of classical Chinese literature? What are the recurrent and evolving concerns of writings within the period under purview? What are the dimensions of human experience they address? Why is classical Chinese literature important for our understanding of pre-modern East Asia? How does the transmission of this literature in Japan, Korea, and Vietnam define cultural boundaries? And what, in turn, can we learn from the Chinese-style literatures of Japan, Korea, and Vietnam about Chinese literature? In addressing these questions, the Oxford Handbook of Classical Chinese Literature departs from standard literary histories and sourcebooks. It does not simply categorize literary works according to periods, authors, or texts. Its goal is to offer a new conceptual framework for thinking about classical Chinese literature by defining a four-part structure. The first section discusses the basics of literacy and includes topics such as writing systems, manuscript culture, education, and loss and preservation in textual transmission. It is followed by a second section devoted to conceptions of genre, textual organization, and literary signification throughout Chinese history. A third section surveys literary tropes and themes. The final section takes us beyond China to the surrounding cultures that adopted Chinese culture and produced Chinese-style writing adapted to their own historical circumstances. The volume is sustained by a dual foci: the recuperation of historical perspectives for the period it surveys and the attempt to draw connections between past and present, demonstrating how the viewpoints and information in this volume yield insights into modern China and East Asia.

A History of Classical Chinese Thought Zehou Li, 2019-08-15 Li Zehou is widely regarded as one of China's most influential contemporary thinkers. He has produced influential theories of the development of Chinese thought and the place of aesthetics in Chinese ethics and value theory. This book is the first English language translation of Li Zehou's work on classical Chinese thought. It includes chapters on the classical Chinese thinkers including Confucius, Mozi, Laozi, Sunzi, Xunzi, and Zhuangzi, and also on later eras and thinkers such as Dong Zhongshu in the Han Dynasty and the Song-Ming Neo-Confucians. The essays in this book not only discuss these historical figures and their ideas but also consider their historical significance and how key themes from these early schools reappeared in and shaped later periods and thinkers. Taken together, they highlight the breadth of Li Zehou's scholarship and his syncretic approach. His explanations of prominent thinkers and key periods in Chinese intellectual history blend ideas from both the Chinese and Western canons while also drawing on contemporary thinkers in both traditions. The book also includes an introduction written by the translator that helpfully explains the significance of Li Zehou's work and its prospects for fostering cross-cultural dialogue with Western philosophy. A History of Chinese Classical Thought will be of interest to advanced students and scholars interested in Chinese philosophy, comparative philosophy, and Chinese intellectual and social history. The Birth of Twentieth-Century Chinese Literature Yu Gao, 2017-10-09 This study makes a linguistic case for the twentieth-century revolution in Chinese language and literature. It offers a history of reform and change in the Chinese language throughout the country's history and focuses on the concept of baihua, a language reform movement championed by Hu Shi and other scholars which laid the foundation for the May Fourth New Literature Movement, the larger New Culture Movement, and which now defines modern Chinese. Examining the differences between classical and modern Chinese language systems alongside an investigation into the relevance and impact of translation in this language revolution, notably addressing the pivotal role of May Fourth leader Lu Xun, this book provides a rare insight into the evolution of the Chinese language and those who championed its development. Routledge
