Outsider Blues A Voice From The Shadows:

Outsider Blues Clifton Ruggles, Olivia Rovinescu, 1996      The New African Diaspora in Vancouver Gillian Laura Creese, 2011-01-01 The New African Diaspora in Vancouver documents the experiences of immigrants from countries in sub Saharan Africa on Canada's west coast. Despite their individual national origins many adopt new identities as African and are actively engaged in creating a new place based African community. In this study Gillian Creese analyzes interviews with sixty one women and men from twenty one African countries to document the gendered and racialized processes of community building that occur in the contexts of marginalization and exclusion as they exist in Vancouver. Creese reveals that the routine discounting of previous education by potential employers, the demeaning of African accents and bodies by society at large, cultural pressures to reshape gender relations and parenting practices, and the absence of extended families often contribute to downward mobility for immigrants. The New African Diaspora in Vancouver maps out how African immigrants negotiate these multiple dimensions of local exclusion while at the same time creating new spaces of belonging and emerging collective identity.      Odyseys Home George Elliott Clarke, 2002-01-01 These tensions are revealed in the literature that Clarke argues to be paradoxically uniquely Canadian and proudly apart from a mainstream national identity. BOOK JACKET

Black Racialization and Resistance at an Elite University Rosalind Hampton, 2020-05-18 A historical narrative and critical analysis of higher education centred on the experiences of Black students and faculty at McGill University.      The History of Blacks in Canada George H. Junne, 2003-03-30 This fascinating bibliography of source materials clearly demonstrates the significant roles blacks have played in the history and culture of Canada from its beginnings as well as their 400 year fight for equity and justice. Organized by area of endeavor and by province, the source materials detailed here reveal that blacks in Canada have created a rich, diverse and complex legacy. This volume lists resources that point to blacks' history as soldiers, prospectors, educators, cowboys, homesteaders, entertainers, legislators, athletes, artists, servants, and writers. The most comprehensive bibliography about blacks in Canada that has been published, it is well organized to facilitate locating specific topics or people spanning black history. Also included are newspapers and videos that add their own unique contribution. Academicians, researchers, students, and interested lay people will find an organized compilation of a vast number of primary and secondary sources about blacks in Canada.      Unyielding Spirits Maureen Elgersman Lee, 1999 First Published in 1999 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis, an informa company.      Unyielding Spirits Maureen G. Elgersman, 2014-01-21 This comparative study uncovers the differences and similarities in the experiences of Black women enslaved in colonial Canada and Jamaica and demonstrates how differences in the exploitation of women's productive and reproductive labor caused slavery to falter in Canada and excel in the Caribbean. The research suggests that while the majority of Black women enslaved in early Canada were domestics, the majority of Jamaican women were field laborers, often performing some of the most labor intensive work on the sugar plantations. While the efforts of the planter class to increase the number of children born to Jamaican women were not completely successful reproduction seems to have been less of a concern in Canada where many Black women were often sold or freed because there was no use for them The Canadian slave context seems to have allowed a broader range of material comfort as well Despite obvious labor differences Black women in Canada and Jamaica rejected their chattel status and condition and resisted slavery similarly This study is unique in its desire and ability to place Black Canadian slave women at the center of research and then contextualize it with a Caribbean model African Canadian Leadership Tamari Kitossa, Erica S. Lawson, Philip S.S. Howard, 2019-07-15 Challenging the myth of African Canadian leadership in crisis this book opens a broad vista of inquiry into the many and dynamic ways leadership practices occur in Black Canadian communities Exploring topics including Black women s contributions to African Canadian communities the Black Lives Matter movement Black LGBTQ HIV AIDS advocacy motherhood and grieving mentoring and anti racism contributors appraise the complex history and contemporary reality of blackness and leadership in Canada With Canada as a complex site of Black diasporas contributors offer an account of multiple forms of leadership and suggest that through surveillance and disruption practices of self determined Black leadership are incompatible with and threatening to White structures of power in Canada As a whole African Canadian Leadership offers perspectives that are complex non aligned and in critical conversation about class gender sexuality and the politics of African Canadian communities
