Martín Ramírez Víctor M. Espinosa, 2015-11-01 Martín Ramírez a Mexican migrant worker and psychiatric patient without formal artistic training has been hailed by leading New York art critics as one of the twentieth century's greatest artists His work has been exhibited alongside masters such as José Clemente Orozco Diego Rivera Rufino Tamayo Salvador Dalí Marc Chagall Paul Klee and Joan Miró A landmark exhibition of Ramírez's work at the American Folk Art Museum in 2007 broke attendance records and garnered praise from major media including the New York Times New Yorker and Village Voice Martín Ramírez offers the first sustained look at the life and critical reception of this acclaimed artist Víctor Espinosa challenges the stereotype of outsider art as an indecipherable enigma by delving into Ramírez's biography and showing how he transformed memories of his life in Mexico as well as his experiences of displacement and seclusion in the United States into powerful works of art Espinosa then traces the reception of Ramírez's work from its first anonymous showings in the 1950s to contemporary exhibitions and individual works that have sold for as much as a half million dollars This eloquently told story reveals how Ramírez's three decades long incarceration in California psychiatric institutions and his classification as chronic paranoid schizophrenic stigmatized yet also protected what his hands produced Stripping off the labels psychotic artist and outsider master Martín Ramírez demonstrates that his drawings are not passive manifestations of mental illness Although he drew while confined as a psychiatric patient the formal elements and content of Ramírez's artwork are shaped by his experiences of cultural and physical displacement

Raw Creation John Maizels, 2000-09-20 The art of self-taught artists including visionaries folk creators spiritualists recluses the mad and the socially marginalized was once scorned by the art establishment Among the first to value and collect such works was the French artist Jean Dubuffet 1901-85 who coined the term Art Brut or raw art He saw Art Brut as the purest form of creation because it was uncooked by culture touched by a raw nerve and deriving directly from the psyche Some 50 years later a wave of enthusiasm for contemporary folk art has gripped countries as far apart as India and the United States John Maizels ties these disparate strands together providing an extensive survey of the self-taught art of the twentieth century Today a bewildering range of terminology has emerged along with growing enthusiasm for strains of creative expression outside the conventional art world In Raw Creation Maizels traces the history of the recognition and study of this art and examines different theories and definitions that have grown up around it He provides detailed expositions of the work of individual artists ranging from such Art Brut masters as Adolf Wolfli and Aloise Corbaz to such gifted American folk artists as Bill Traylor and Mose Tolliver Devoting several chapters to large-scale visionary environments Maizels takes a broad view embracing Rodia towers in Watts Los Angeles the Palais Idéal in the South of France and Nek Chand's sculpture garden in north India Raw Creation provides an indispensable guide to self-taught art and a fascinating account of human creativity
