Andindilile: The Anglophone Literary-Linguistic Co, 2023-01-10 Michael Andindilile in The Anglophone Literary Linguistic Continuum English and Indigenous Languages in African Literary Discourse interrogates Obi Wali s 1963 prophecy that continued use of former colonial languages in the production of African literature could only lead to sterility as African literatures can only be written in indigenous African languages In doing so Andindilile critically examines selected novels of Achebe of Nigeria Ngugi of Kenya Gordimer of South Africa and Farah of Somalia and shows that when we pay close attention to what these authors represent about their African societies and the way they integrate African languages values beliefs and cultures we can discover what constitutes the Anglophone African literary linguistic continuum This continuum can be defined as variations in the literary usage of English in African literary discourse with the language serving as the base to which writers add variations inspired by indigenous languages beliefs cultures and sometimes nation specific experiences Journal of African Literature and Culture JALC-ALJ , Thomas Pynchon in Context Inger H. Fincham, Myrtle Hooper, 1996 Imperialism in the Modern World William Bowman, Frank Chiteji, J. Megan Greene, 2016-11-03 Imperialism in the Modern World combines narrative primary and secondary sources and visual documents to examine global relations in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries The three co editors Professors Bowman Chiteji and Greene have taught for many years global history classes in a variety of institutions They wrote Imperialism in the Modern World to solve the problem of allowing teachers to combine primary and secondary texts easily and systematically to follow major themes in global history some readers use primary materials exclusively Some focus on secondary arguments This book is more focused than other readers on the markets for those teachers who are offering more specialized world history courses one important trend in global history is away from simply trying to cover everything to teaching real connections in more chronologically and thematically focused courses The reader also provides a genuine diversity of global perspectives and invites students to study seriously world history from a critical framework Too many readers offer a smorgasbord approach to world history that leaves students dazed and confused This reader avoids that approach and will therefore solve many problems that teachers have in constructing and teaching world history courses at the introductory or upper division levels The reader will allow show students how to read historical documents through a hands on demonstration in the introduction The book also incorporates images as visual documents Finally the book conceives of global history in the widest possible terms it contains pieces on political diplomatic economic and military history to be sure but it also has selections on technology medicine women the environment social changes and cultural patterns Other readers can not match this text's breadth because they are chronologically and thematically so extended Literature and Politics Today M. Keith Booker, 2015-03-10 Focusing on the intersection of literature and politics since the beginning of the 20th century this book examines authors historical figures major literary and political works national literatures and literary movements to reveal the intrinsic links between literature and history Literary works have often engaged political issues and many political writings give close attention to literary concerns This encyclopedia explores the complex relationship between literature and politics through detailed entries written by expert contributors on authors historical figures major literary and political works national literatures and literary movements covering specific themes concepts and genres related to literature and politics from the 20th century to the present The work covers authors that include Margaret Atwood James Baldwin Philip K Dick W E B Du Bois William Faulkner Ernest Hemingway Jack London Toni Morrison George Orwell John Steinbeck and Virginia Woolf just to mention a few International in scope Literature and Politics Today The Political Nature of Modern Fiction Poetry and Drama covers writing ranging from the beginning of the 20th century to the present with special emphasis on works written in English The content of the some 150 alphabetically arranged entries is ideal for high school students working on assignments involving literature to explore such current yet historically ongoing social issues as censorship and propaganda This book is appropriate for public libraries where it will serve to support student research and to help general readers learn more about enduring political concerns through literary works Academic libraries will find this reference a valuable guide for undergraduates studying literature history political science law and other disciplines An Annotated Bibliography of Indian English Fiction, 2001 Endeavouring To Accomplish An Intractable Tight Rope Walking Indian English Literature Seeks To Incorporate Indian Themes And Experience In A Blend Of Indian And Western Aesthetics What The Diverse Dimensions Of The Indian Experience And The Evolving Literary Form Are And Whether The Former Reconciles With The Latter Or Not Is Sought To Be Examined In The Present Volume Of This Anthology A Strikingly Fresh Perspective On The Hitherto Unexplored Areas Of Old Works A Bold And Incisive Critique Of New Works Edna O'Brien Kathryn Laing, Sinéad Mooney, Maureen O'Connor, 2006 As part of Pegasos Kuunsankosken Kaupunginkirjasto of Finland presents a biographical sketch about the Irish writer Edna O'Brien 1932 O'Brien has written plays children's books essays screenplays and nonfiction about Ireland Some of O'Brien's works include Country Girls 1960 The Love Object 1968 Night 1972 Mother Ireland 1976 and A Fanatic Heart 1984 The Life and Works of Ruskin Bond Meena Khorana, 2003-05-30 Ruskin Bond is known internationally as one of India's most prolific writers in English for children young adults and adults This literary biography analyzes the impact of personal social geographical political and literary influences on Bond's worldview aesthetic principles and writings Connecting the development of Bond's writing career over the past 50 years to the evolution of the publishing industry in India Khorana details the author's pioneering work in the field of children's and young adult literature and his contribution to diasporic and postcolonial post-independence literatures. She concludes that it is Bond's versatile original and elegant writing in a variety of genres that continue to endear him to readers around the world. According to the author, despite Bond's British background, he does not write about India from a Eurocentric perspective. Having lived the majority of his life in India, he knows the country as an insider, writing with an authenticity and emotional engagement about the land and the people of the Himalayas and small town India. Khorana analyzes his novels and short stories and highlights his juxtaposition of his protagonists' individual dramas against larger social, moral, and metaphysical issues. In addition, she reveals how the autobiographical and regional elements in Bond's work provide insight into universal themes such as the tension between past and present, city life versus rural values, the dignity of ordinary folk, preservation of the environment, and living in harmony with nature.

Postnational Feminisms Hena Ahmad, 2010. Postnational Feminisms: Postcolonial Identities and Cosmopolitanism in the Works of Kamala Markandaya, Tsitsi Dangarembga, Ama Ata Aidoo, and Anita Desai offers a significant contribution to the field of postcolonial and Third World feminist studies. It reevaluates the ways in which Third World women writers interrogate the relationship between woman and nation in the postcolonial context. Hena Ahmad brings forth the concept of postnational feminism, which she deploys to show how these major writers challenge the role of women as signifiers of national cultures in their works. This innovative concept illuminates the ambivalence of these uniquely positioned writers as Ahmad explores the connection between postnationalism and Third World feminism.

BOOK JACKET Resounding Pasts Drago Momcilovic, 2020-05-15. The field of memory studies has long been preoccupied with the manner in which events from the past are commemorated, forgotten, re-fashioned, or worked through, on both the individual and collective level. Yet in an age when various modes of artistic and cultural commemoration have begun to overlap with and respond to one another, the dynamics of cultural remembering and forgetting become bound up in an increasingly elaborate network of representations that operate both within and outside temporal, cultural, and national borders. As publicly circulating texts that straddle the line between cultural artifact and artistic object, both musical and literary works, both individually and often in conjunction with one another, help shape cultural memories and individual experiences of those events. Troping their cultural milieus through specific aesthetic and social forms, genres, and modes of dissemination, music and literature become part of a growing global panoply of raw materials upon which we might begin to pose questions regarding the way we remember, the consequences of sharing and passing on those memories, and the aesthetic and cultural pressures attendant upon the circulation and interpretation of texts that resound the past. Journal of Commonwealth and Postcolonial Studies, 1997.

Outsiders and Insiders Michael Thomas Harris, 1992. Writers who came to the Third World during the wave of British colonialism, such as H. Rider Haggard in South Africa, Rudyard Kipling in India, and Joyce Cary in Nigeria, describe the colonized country, culture, and people from a detached outsider's perspective. But recent indigenous post independence fiction conceived as a response to the British portrayal offers a contrasting insider s view Outsiders and Insiders pairs a British and an indigenous writer describing a particular region to examine the differing perspectives of the colonial outsider and the native insider This study concentrates on five disparate regions India South Africa Nigeria Kenya and the West Indies to see whether the colonial experience is one that has meaning globally or is country specific
