Property, Tenancy and Urban Growth in Stockholm and Berlin, 1860-1920 Håkan Forsell, 2006 Exploring the social and political meanings attributed to property specifically home ownership this study looks at how these changed during the course of the modern city building process between 1860 and 1920 Focussing on two northern European capital cities Berlin and Stockholm the study contributes to the understanding of various factors that shaped the dynamic urban growth that characterized this period Property, Tenancy and Urban Growth in Stockholm and Berlin, 1860-1920 Håkan

Forsell, 2017-11-30 From the middle of the nineteenth century most European cities experienced a period of unrivalled growth and development that forever changed not only their physical characteristics but also their social foundations As the great industrial cities were forced to face the new and unprecedented challenges of rapid urbanisation and increased population they had to rethink many of the concepts on which previous city institutions had been based One of the most fundamental of these was the role of house ownership and the rights and responsibilities it offered Exploring the social and political meanings attributed to property specifically home ownership this study looks at how these changed during the course of the modern city building process between 1860 and 1920 Focussing on two northern European capital cities Berlin and Stockholm it provides a symmetrical investigation that helps illuminate the competing factors that shaped the shifting nature of cityscapes and urban social structures The German Historical School and European Economic Thought

José Luís Cardoso, Michalis Psalidopoulos, 2015-10-30 The financial crisis of 2008 has revived interest in economic scholarship from a historical perspective The most in depth studies of the relationship between economics and history can be found in the work of the so called German Historical School GHS The influence of the GHS in the USA and Britain has been well documented but far less has been written on the rest of Europe This volume studies the interconnection between economic thought and economic policy from the mid nineteenth century to the interwar period It examines how the School's ideas spread and was interpreted in different European countries between 1850 and 1930 analysing its legacies in these countries In doing so the book is able to trace the interconnection between economic thought and economic policy adding new voices to the debate on the diffusion of ideas and flow of knowledge This book identifies issues related to topics such as nationalism and cosmopolitanism in the history of ideas and clarifies themes in policy making that are still currently debated These include monetary policy and benefits of free trade for all parties involved in international exchanges This book will be of a great interest to those who study history of economic thought economic theory and political economy The Social

Scientific Gaze Per Wisselgren, 2016-02-24 The social sciences have ever since they were first established as academic disciplines played a foundational role in most spheres of modern society in policy making education the media and public debate and hence also indirectly for our self understanding as social beings The Social Scientific Gaze examines the discursive formation of academic social science in the historical context of the social question that is the protracted and wide ranging discussions on the social problems of modernity that were being debated with increased intensity during the nineteenth century Empirically the study focuses on the Lor n Foundation a combined private funding agency and early research institute which was set up in 1885 to promote the rise of Swedish social science and to investigate the social question Comprising an heuristic case the close analysis of the Foundation makes it possible not only to reconstruct its basic ideas and practices but also to situate its activities in broader historical and sociological context The Social Scientific Gaze argues that the rise of Swedish social science may be seen not only as an answer to the social question but also as one attempt alongside others including contemporary social literature the philanthropic reform movement and the introduction of modern social policy to conceptualize mobilize and regulate the social sphere In this process it is furthermore shown how an ambiguous yet distinct social scientific gaze was discursively articulated

Technological Change and Industrial Transformation Vicky Xiaoyan Long, Magnus Holmén, 2021-08-18 Industrial transformation is a research and teaching field with a focus on the phenomenon and mechanisms of industrial development and renewal It concerns changes in economic activities caused by innovation competition and collaboration and has a rich heritage of evolutionary economics institutional economics industrial dynamics technology history and innovation studies It borrows concepts and models from the social sciences sociology history political sciences business management economics behavioural sciences and also from technology and engineering studies In this book the authors present the key theories frameworks and concepts of industrial transformation and use empirical cases to describe and explain the causes processes and outcomes of transformation in the context of digitalization and sustainability They stress that industrial transformation consists both of Darwinian survival of the fittest selection and of intentional pursuits of innovation and of industrial capabilities creation The work argues that managing the global trends of transformation is not only about new technology and innovation existing institutional settings and dynamic interactions between technological change organizational adaptation and economic activities also have a profound impact on future trajectories The areas under investigation are of great relevance for strategic management decisions and industrial and technology policies and understanding the mechanisms underlying transformation and sustainable growth
