Sculptural Handwriting Vojtěch Volavka, 1955      Sculptural Handwriting Vojtěch Volavka, 1900      Sculpture and Touch Peter Dent, 2017-07-05

Since the Renaissance at least the medium of sculpture has been associated explicitly with the sense of touch. Sculptors, philosophers and art historians have all linked the two often in strikingly different ways. In spite of this long running interest in touch and tactility it is vision and visuality which have tended to dominate art historical research in recent decades. This book introduces a new impetus to the discussion of the relationship between touch and sculpture by setting up a dialogue between art historians and individuals with fresh insights who are working in disciplines beyond art history. The collection brings together a rich and diverse set of approaches with essays tackling subjects from prehistoric figurines to the work of contemporary artists from pre modern ideas about the physiology of touch to tactile interaction in the museum environment and from the phenomenology of touch in recent philosophy to the experimental findings of scientific study. It is the first volume on this subject to take such a broad approach and as such seeks to set the agenda for future research and collaboration in this area.

Walter Pater and the Language of Sculpture Lene Termark-Johansen, 2017-07-05

Walter Pater and the Language of Sculpture is the first monograph to discuss the Victorian critic Walter Pater's attitude to sculpture. It brings together Pater's aesthetic theories with his theories on language and writing to demonstrate how his ideas of the visual and written language are closely interlinked. Going beyond Pater's views on sculpture as an art form this study traces the notion of relief, rilievo and hybrid form in Pater and his view of the writer as sculptor, a carver in language. Alongside her treatment of rilievo as a pervasive trope, Lene Termark-Johansen also employs the idea of rivalry, paragone more broadly examining Pater's concern with positioning himself as an art critic in the late Victorian art world. Situating Pater within centuries of European aesthetic theories as never before done, Walter Pater and the Language of Sculpture throws new light on the extraordinary complexity and coherence of Pater's writing. The critic is repositioned solidly within Victorian art and literature.

Hawthorne, Sculpture, and the Question of American Art Deanna Fernie, 2016-12-05

Deanna Fernie analyzes the significance of sculpture in Hawthorne's fiction through the recurring motif of the fragment in its double guise as ruin and project. Her book casts new light on Hawthorne's memorable ruined and unfinished images from the rough hewn figurehead of Drowne's Wooden Image 1844 to the tattered letter A in the unfinished loft of the Custom House in The Scarlet Letter 1850 and the unfinished bust of Donatello in The Marble Faun 1860. Fernie shows how the tension between the formed and unformed enabled Hawthorne to interrogate the origins and the distinctive possibilities of art in America in relation to established European models. At the same time she suggests that sculpture challenged and provoked Hawthorne's shaping of his own specifically literary art, stimulating him to develop its capacities for expressing irresolution and change. Fernie establishes the intellectual contexts for her study through a discussion of sculpture and fragmentary form as revealed in American, British and Continental thought. Her book will be an important text not only for American literature.

scholars but also for anyone interested in British and Continental Romanticism and the intersections of art and literature

Event of Signature Michaela Fiserova, 2022-08-01 Event of Signature formulates a new philosophical problem which focuses on the handwritten signature as sign of legal identification Author Michaela Fiserova works with three metaphysical expectations which are shared in discourses of graphology and forensic analysis The first expectation tends to reveal the signer s soul a handwritten signature naturally mirrors the unique psychological qualities of the signer The second expectation tends to guarantee the originality of the signer s trace a handwritten signature proves physical contact between the signed document and the writing tool authentically moved by the signer s hand The third expectation tends to recognize the signer s legal identity a handwritten signature is expected to reproduce the signer s personal style which enables identification by legal authorities In a methodologically inventive and semiotically based dialogue with Derrida s deconstruction Fiserova situates this triple expectation in the interval between life and law Challenging coverage of this topic finally shows that none of the metaphysical expectations will ever be fulfilled in the event of manual signing Legal uses of handwritten signature are characterized by the complex aporia of repeating the unrepeatable
