Search For A Method:

Optimization by the Pattern Search Method Ralph F. Green, 1970 An infinite number of mathematical models can be created to describe naturally occurring physical systems In addition there is a smaller but large number of criteria which can be used to measure the goodness of fit of a model to a physical process Together a selected criterion and a mathematical model define an objective function to be optimized

A Derivative-free Two Level Random Search Method for Unconstrained Optimization Neculai Andrei, 2021-03-31 The book is intended for graduate students and researchers in mathematics computer science and operational research The book presents a new derivative free optimization method algorithm based on randomly generated trial points in specified domains and where the best ones are selected at each iteration by using a number of rules This method is different from many other well established methods presented in the literature and proves to be competitive for solving many unconstrained optimization problems with different structures and complexities with a relative large number of variables Intensive numerical experiments with 140 unconstrained optimization problems with up to 500 variables have shown that this approach is efficient and robust Structured into 4 chapters Chapter 1 is introductory Chapter 2 is dedicated to presenting a two level derivative free random search method for unconstrained optimization It is assumed that the minimizing function is continuous lower bounded and its minimum value is known Chapter 3 proves the convergence of the algorithm In Chapter 4 the numerical performances of the algorithm are shown for solving 140 unconstrained optimization problems out of which 16 are real applications This shows that the optimization process has two phases the reduction phase and the stalling one Finally the performances of the algorithm for solving a number of 30 large scale unconstrained optimization problems up to 500 variables are presented These numerical results show that this approach based on the two level random search method for unconstrained optimization is able to solve a large diversity of problems with different structures and complexities There are a number of open problems which refer to the following aspects the selection of the number of trial or the number of the local trial points the selection of the bounds of the domains where the trial points and the local trial points are randomly generated and a criterion for initiating the line search Search for a Method Jean-Paul Sartre,1963 From one of the 20th century s most profound philosophers and writers comes a thought provoking essay that seeks to reconcile Marxism with existentialism Exploring the complicated relationship the two philosophical schools of thought have with one another Sartre supposes that the two are in fact compatible and complimentary towards one another with poignant analysis and reasoning An important work of modern philosophy Search for a Method has a major influence on the current perceptions of existentialism and Marxism This is the most important philosophical work by Sartre to be translated since Being and Nothingness James Collings America Index and Query Methods in Road Networks Jun Feng,Toyohide Watanabe,2014-09-02 This book presents the index and query techniques on road network and moving objects which are limited to road network Here the road network of non Euclidean space has its unique characteristics such that two moving objects may be very close in a straight line distance The index used in two dimensional Euclidean space is not always appropriate for moving objects on road network Therefore the index structure needs to be improved in order to obtain suitable indexing methods explore the shortest path and acquire nearest neighbor query and aggregation query methods under the new index structures Chapter 1 of this book introduces the present situation of intelligent traffic and index in road network Chapter 2 introduces the relevant existing spatial indexing methods Chapter 3 5 focus on several issues of road network and query they involves traffic road network models see Chapter 3 index structures see Chapter 4 and aggregate query methods see Chapter 5 Finally in Chapter 6 the book briefly describes the applications and the development of intelligent transportation in the future Fuzzy Optimization, Decision-making and Operations Research Chiranjibe Jana,Madhumangal Pal,Ghulam Muhiuddin,Peide Liu,2023-10-24 After developing fuzzy set theory many contributors focused their research on the extension of fuzzy sets and their computational methodologies strengthening modern science and technology In some real life phenomena the conventional methods and traditional fuzzy sets cannot be explained whereas the extension of fuzzy sets and effective new computing methods can explain it adequately This edited book presents a new view of fuzzy set measurement methods entitled Fuzzy Optimization Decision Making and Operations Research Theory and Applications which deals with different perspectives and areas of research All chapters are divided into three parts fuzzy optimization fuzzy decision making and fuzzy operation research The goal of this book is to provide a relevant methodological framework covering the core fields of fuzzy decision making method fuzzy optimization method fuzzy graphics method fuzzy operations research fuzzy optimization using graph theory fuzzy support systems and its real and industrial applications For many people fuzzy words industrial engineering and scientific meanings are still an advanced system for improving modern science and technology Although fuzzy logic can be applied to many different areas people do not know how different fuzzy approaches can be applied to various products currently on the market It is written for professionals who wish to share their expertise improve their findings and provide relevant information in the fields of fuzzy methods and their application in decision making optimization theory graph theory and operations research This book is aimed at experts and practitioners in the fields of fuzzy optimization fuzzy decision making and fuzzy operation research
