Tales for the Dying E. H. Rick Jarow,2012-02-01 Tales for the Dying explores the centrality of death and dying in the narrative of the Bh gavata Pur na India s great text of devotional theism canonized as an integral part of the Vaisnava bhakti tradition The text grapples with death through an imaginative meditation one that works through the presence and power of narrative The story of the Bh gavata Pur na is spoken to a king who is about to die and it enables him to come to terms with his own passing The work does not isolate dying as an issue it treats it on many levels This book discusses how images of dying in the Bh gavata Pur na relate to issues of language and love in the religious imagination of India Drawing on insights from studies in myth literary semiotics and depth psychology as well as from Indian commentarial and aesthetic traditions the author examines the power of myth and narrative storytelling or hari katha and shows how a detailed awareness of the Puranic imagination may lead to a revisioning of some long held presuppositions around Indian religious attitudes toward dying By casting Vaisnava bhakti traditions and Puranic narrative in a fresh light the mythic imagination of the Pur nas takes its place on the stage of contemporary discourse on comparative mythology and literature

Personal and Archetypal Dynamics in the Analytical Relationship Mary Ann Mattoon, 1991 The 11th International Congress for Analytical Psychology was held in Paris from 28 August to 2 September 1989 It is no surprise that the theme of Personal and Archetypal Dynamics in the Analytical Relationship succeeded in drawing widely varying and controversial responses More than ever before the fifty five contributors of papers represent Jungian groups from around the globe in every sense However while differences of approach are evident throughout this fascinating collection so too is an ever more significant sense of synthesis in the end we all share a common task

On Life's Journey Daniel A. Lindley, 2006 C G Jung wrote in The Development of Personality In every adult there lurks a child an eternal child something that is always becoming is never completed and calls for unceasing care attention and education That is the part of the human personality that wants to develop and become whole In this reflection on life's journey Daniel A Lindley applies the insights gleaned from many years of study of literature and psychoanalysis to show how we are always becoming and always obligated to care for that archetypal child Drawing upon psychological truths expressed by Shakespeare Wordsworth Eliot and others Lindley illuminates the process of individuation through personal experience art and archetype From birth to old age he demonstrates even in our separateness we share an archetypal ground Thus at any point in our lives the path we walk is not unknown it has purpose and direction We are living out stories that existed long before we did and will be there long after we are gone This deeply personal memoir folds time and space poignantly bridging one man s life and humanity s distant past with grace wit and quiet perception W Raymond Johnson PhD Director Epigraphic Survey Oriental Institute University of Chicago DANIEL LINDLEY PhD LCSW has degrees from Yale Harvard Florida State and Loyola University of Chicago Formerly a school teacher and professor of English he is a training analyst in the C G Jung Institute of Chicago and is in private practice He is also the author of This Rough Magic The Life of Teaching

Mythography William G. Doty,2000-03-21 Presenting major myth theorists from antiquity to the present this work offers a cross disciplinary approach to the study of myth Rewritten and restructured it reflects the increased interest in myth among both scholars and general readers since the publication of the first edition Dark Light Ronald Schenk, 2001-01-01 Reveals the effects of the cultural unconscious or world soul in human experience The Jung-Kirsch Letters Ann Conrad Lammers, 2016-02-22 This book charts Carl Gustav Jung's 33 year 1928-61 correspondence with James Kirsch adding depth and complexity to the previously published record of the early Jungian movement Kirsch was a German Jewish psychiatrist a first generation follower of Jung who founded Jungian communities in Berlin Tel Aviv London and Los Angeles Their letters tell of heroic survival brilliant creativity and the building of generative institutions but these themes are darkened by personal and collective shadows The Nazi era looms over the first half of the book shaping the story in ways that were fateful not only for Kirsch and his career but also for Jung and his Kirsch trained with Jung and acted as a tutor in Jewish psychology and culture to him In 1934 fearing that anti-Semitism had seized his teacher Kirsch challenged Jung to explain some of his publications for the Nazi dominated Medical Society for Psychotherapy Jung's answer convinced Kirsch of his sincerity and from then on Kirsch defended him fiercely against any allegation of anti-Semitism We also witness Kirsch's lifelong struggle with states of archetypal possession his identification with the interior God image on the one hand and with unconscious feminine aspects of his psyche on the other These complexes were expressed for Kirsch in physical symptoms and emotional dilemmas and they led him into clinical boundary violations which were costly to his analysands his family and himself The text of these historical documents is translated with great attention to style and accuracy and generous editorial scaffolding gives glimpses into the writers world Four appendices are included two essays by Kirsch a series of letters between Hilde Kirsch and Jung and a brief incisive essay on the Medical Society for Psychotherapy This revised edition includes primary material that was unavailable when the book was first published as well as updated footnotes and minor corrections to the translated letters
