Lost Films:

Australia's Lost Films Ray Edmondson, Andrew Pike, 1982 Australia's Lost Films was published by the National Library of Australia to coincide with THE LAST FILM SEARCH a project to find as many of these important films as possible and commit them to the care of the National Film and Sound Archive But with its many photographs and a complete checklist of silent feature films 1896-1930 the book stands as an important record of a necessarily little known part of Australia's cinematic past

Lost Silent Films Ethan Parker, AI, 2025-02-24 Lost Silent Films explores the tragic disappearance of approximately 80% of silent films framing it as a significant cultural loss that impacts our understanding of early 20th century society This book investigates the reasons behind this cinematic vanishing act detailing the instability of nitrate film the era's primary film stock which was prone to decomposition and fire It also examines the historical context including a general lack of perceived value which led to neglect systematic discarding and even intentional destruction of these early films This study uniquely combines technical analysis historical investigation and cultural critique to provide a comprehensive account of the lost silent era The book presents a multifaceted approach from detailing the technology of early cinema and the dangers of nitrate film to the role of studio practices copyright law and shifting audience tastes Case studies of specific lost films considered cinematic milestones are provided The book progresses by first introducing early film technology then examining the historical factors contributing to film loss and finally exploring film preservation efforts and modern digital restoration techniques By drawing from archival research filmographic data and historical accounts Lost Silent Films connects to diverse fields such as art history media studies and cultural preservation

Africa's Lost Classics Lizelle Bisschoff, 2017-07-05 Until recently the story of African film was marked by a series of truncated histories many outstanding films from earlier decades were virtually inaccessible and thus often excluded from critical accounts However various conservation projects since the turn of the century have now begun to make many of these films available to critics and audiences in a way that was unimaginable just a decade ago In this accessible and lively collection of essays Lizelle Bisschoff and David Murphy draw together the best scholarship on the diverse and fragmented strands of African film history Their volume recovers over 30 lost African classic films from 1920 2010 in order to provide a more complex genealogy and begin to trace new histories of African filmmaking from 1920s Egyptian melodramas through lost gems from apartheid South Africa to neglected works by great Francophone directors the full diversity of African cinema will be revealed

Missing Reels Harry Waldman, 2000 During the first half of this century motion pictures were often considered disposable once their circulations were over The recycling of used film and the use of components for war efforts contributed to the loss of many movies as did the unstable nature of the nitrate film itself The loss of extant works has created gaps in the national cinematic history of the United States and most European countries Eighty percent of all Western made films produced before World War I are considered lost while 15 percent of the films made from 1930 to 1950 are also missing Here are descriptions of nearly 1 000 of the lost American and European films produced between 1900 and 1950 featuring the talents of the still famous as well as the now obscure The films are arranged by country and reveal the remarkably prolific early filmmaking in countries like the Netherlands and Sweden Each entry includes production information cast synopsis history and insights from reviews when available Photographs from these films provide glimpses of what once was An extensive index is included
