Models For The Multitudes Social Values:

Realism and the Birth of the Modern United States Stanley Corkin, 1996 This book offers an interdisciplinary view of American culture in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Using the conventions of historical study Stanley Corkin draws out the ways in which the works of writers and filmmakers from 1885 to 1925 shaped and were shaped by the business politics and social life of the period Corkin traces the entrance of the United States into the modern age by considering the historical dimension of cinema and literary aesthetics first of realism then naturalism and finally modernism He begins with the work of writer William Dean Howells and the advent of American cinema under the stewardship of Thomas Edison arguing that realism was complexly involved in Progressive political and economic reform Next analyses of Theodore Dreiser's novel Sister Carrie and the films of the Edison Company's star director Edwin S Porter detail the relationships of naturalism to the increasingly abstract presentation of the material commodity through mass marketing The study culminates with an examination of the parallels between Ernest Hemingway's In Our Time and the D W Griffith film The Birth of a Nation These two modernist works Corkin contends illustrate strategies of expression that attempt to move the material commodity away from its economic base and into a pristine apolitical realm These literary and cinematic works both reflect and participate in the economic political and social reorganization of American life from the top down The result Corkin concludes is a world in which a conception of a human being is asserted as differing little from that of a machine a tree or an animal

The Making of a Bestseller Arthur T. Vanderbilt, 1999-01-01 Writer F Scott Fitzgerald's career itself is a metaphor for the vagaries of book publishing If Fitzgerald would have had his way we would today refer to The Great Gatsby as either Gold Hatted Gatsby or Trimalchio in West Egg or The High Bouncing Lover A few years before Gatsby Fitzgerald had become a literary sensation at the age of 23 Helen Hooven Santmyer a contemporary of Fitzgerald's would not have a successful novel published until she was 88 and living in a nursing home In this book the author explores that mysterious place in publishing where art and commerce can either clash mesh or both Along the way a wide range of authors from the literary greats to today's commercial superstars editors agents and publishers share their thoughts insights and experiences What inspires writers John Steinbeck for example wrote every novel as if it were his last as if death were imminent Why are some books successful and appreciated while others fall into oblivion The answers are often elusive never absolute but the stories and anecdotes are always fascinating

The Body in the Reservoir Michael Ayers Trotti, 2010-02-15 Centered on a series of dramatic murders in nineteenth and early twentieth century Richmond Virginia The Body in the Reservoir uses these gripping stories of crime to explore the evolution of sensationalism in southern culture In Richmond as across the nation the embrace of modernity was accompanied by the prodigious growth of mass culture and its accelerating interest in lurid stories of crime and bloodshed But while others have emphasized the importance of the penny press and yellow journalism on the shifting nature of the media and cultural responses to violence Michael Trotti reveals a more gradual and nuanced story of change In addition Richmond's racial makeup one third to one half of the population was African American allows Trotti to challenge assumptions about how black and white media reported the sensational the surprising discrepancies offer insight into just how differently these two communities experienced American justice An engaging look at the connections between culture and violence this book gets to the heart or perhaps the shadowy underbelly of the sensational as the South became modern

Modeling, Simulation and Visual Analysis of Crowds Saad Ali, Ko Nishino, Dinesh Manocha, Mubarak Shah, 2013-11-22 Over the last several years there has been a growing interest in developing computational methodologies for modeling and analyzing movements and behaviors of crowds of people This interest spans several scientific areas that includes Computer Vision Computer Graphics and Pedestrian Evacuation Dynamics Despite the fact that these different scientific fields are trying to model the same physical entity i e a crowd of people research ideas have evolved independently As a result each discipline has developed techniques and perspectives that are characteristically their own The goal of this book is to provide the readers a comprehensive map towards the common goal of better analyzing and synthesizing the pedestrian movement in dense heterogeneous crowds The book is organized into different parts that consolidate various aspects of research towards this common goal namely the modeling simulation and visual analysis of crowds Through this book readers will see the common ideas and vision as well as the different challenges and techniques that will stimulate novel approaches to fully grasping crowds

Pauline Hopkins and the American Dream Alisha Knight, 2011-04-15 Pauline Elizabeth Hopkins was perhaps the most prolific black female writer of her time Between 1900 and 1904 writing mainly for Colored American Magazine she published four novels at least seven short stories and numerous articles that often addressed the injustices and challenges facing African Americans in post Civil War America In Pauline Hopkins and the American Dream Alisha Knight provides the first full length critical analysis of Hopkins's work Scholars have frequently situated Hopkins within the domestic sentimental tradition of nineteenth century women's writing with some critics observing that aspects of her writing particularly its emphasis on the self made man seem out of place within the domestic tradition Knight argues that Hopkins used this often dismissed theme to critique American society's ingrained racism and sexism In her Famous Men and Famous Women series for Colored American Magazine she constructed her own version of the success narrative by offering models of African American self made men and women Meanwhile in her fiction she depicted heroes who fail to achieve success or must leave the United States to do so Hopkins risked and eventually lost her position at Colored American Magazine by challenging black male leaders liberal white philanthropists and white racists and by conceiving a revolutionary treatment of the American Dream that placed her far ahead of her time Hopkins is finally getting her due and this clear eyed analysis of her work will be a revelation to literary scholars historians of African American history and students of women s studies Alisha Knight is an associate professor of English and American Studies at Washington College Her published articles include Furnace Blasts for the Tuskegee Wizard Revisiting Pauline E Hopkins Booker T Washington and the Colored American Magazine which appeared in American Periodicals Loopholes and Retreats John Cullen Gruesser, Hanna Wallinger, 2009 The essays in this volume explore the loopholes and retreats employed and exploited by African American polemicists poets novelists slave narrators playwrights short story writers essayists editors educators historians clubwomen and autobiographers during the nineteenth century These exciting contributions use historicist comparative transnational literary historical cultural studies and Foucauldian perspectives to examine how apparent weakness was turned into strength defensiveness into offensiveness and the machinery of oppression into the keys to liberation

A Fictive People Ronald J. Zboray, 1993-01-28 This book explores an important boundary between history and literature the antebellum reading public for books written by Americans Zboray describes how fiction took root in the United States and what literature contributed to the readers sense of themselves He traces the rise of fiction as a social history centered on the book trade and chronicles the large societal changes shaping circumscribing and sometimes defining the limits of the antebellum reading public A Fictive People explodes two notions that are commonplace in cultural histories of the nineteenth century first that the spread of literature was a simple force for the democratization of taste and second that there was a body of nineteenth century literature that reflected a nation of readers Zboray shows that the output of the press was so diverse and the public so indiscriminate in what it would read that we must rethink these conclusions The essential elements for the rise of publishing turn out not to be the usual suspects of rising literacy and increased schooling Zboray turns our attention to the railroad as well as private letter writing to see the creation of a national taste for literature He points out the ambiguous role of the nineteenth century school in encouraging reading and convincingly demonstrates that we must look more deeply to see why the nation turned to literature He uses such data as sales figures and library borrowing to reveal that women read as widely as men and that the regional breakdown of sales focused the power of print

Catharine Maria Sedgwick Lucinda L. Damon-Bach, Victoria Clements, 2003 The essays in this volume examine the full breadth and complexity of the extensive oeuvre of American literary pioneer Catharine Maria Sedgwick 1789 1867

George Bellows and Urban America Marianne Doezema, 1992-01-01 George Bellows s spirited and virile paintings of New York in the early decades of the twentieth century celebrated the city s bigness and bolness Although these works clearly challenged the conservative practices of the National Academy and linked Bellows with the anti academic art of Robert Henri and the Eight they were highly popular even with arch conservatives In this book Marianne Doezema explores why it was that Bellows s paintings despite being considered coarse in technique and subject matter were acclaimed by critics and patrons by conservatives progressives and radicals alike Doezenia focuses on three of Bellows's principal urban themes the excavation for Pennsylvania Station prizefights and tenement life on the Lower East Side Drawing on journals and periodicals of the period she discusses how the prominent often newsworthy motifs painted by Bellows evoked particular associations and meanings for his contemporaries Arguing that the implicit message of these paintings was distinctly unrevolutionary she shows that the excavation paintings celebrated industrialization and urbanization the boxing pictures presented the sport as brutal and its fans as bloodthirsty and the depictions of the Lower East Side conformed to a moralistic middle class view of poverty In many of Bellows's subject pictures of this era says Doezenia the artist approached issues of changing moral and social values in a way that not only seemed congenial to many members of his audience but also verified their attitudes and preconceptions about urban life in America

Crowds In Equations: An Introduction To The Microscopic Modeling Of Crowds Bertrand Maury, Sylvain Faure, 2018-07-11 The book contains self contained descriptions of existing models accompanied by critical analyses of their properties both from a theoretical and practical standpoint It aims to develop modeling skills within the readers giving them the ability to develop their own models and improve existing ones Written in connection with a full open source Python Library this project also enables readers to run the simulations discussed within the text

Networks, Crowds, and Markets David Easley, Jon Kleinberg, 2010-07-19 Are all film stars linked to Kevin Bacon Why do the stock markets rise and fall sharply on the strength of a vague rumour How does gossip spread so quickly Are we all related through six degrees of separation There is a growing awareness of the complex networks that pervade modern society We see them in the rapid growth of the internet the ease of global communication the swift spread of news and information and in the way epidemics and financial crises develop with startling speed and intensity This introductory book on the new science of networks takes an interdisciplinary approach using economics sociology computing information science and applied mathematics to address fundamental questions about the links that connect us and the ways that our decisions can have consequences for others

Aliens in the Home Sabine Bussing, 1987-04-03 Within the broad field of contemporary literature horror fiction has only recently developed into a genre which modern scholars may legitimately regard as being worthy of critical attention This comparative study provides ample proof that horror fiction can be more profound and revealing than many literary critics imagined The only study of its kind this book offers detailed critical analysis of the child in horror fiction with special emphasis on themes relating to the child's social position within the family and its war against parents or authority figures as well as its various functions as victim evil innocent and monster Special attention is given to the child's consistent stylized portrayal in horror fiction which forms a sharp contrast to the appearance of children both in other genres and in real life

Spirit, Qi, and the Multitude Hyo-Dong Lee, 2013-11-11 We live in an increasingly global interconnected and interdependent world in which various forms of systemic imbalance in power have given birth to a growing demand for genuine pluralism and democracy As befits a world so interconnected this book presents a comparative theological and philosophical attempt to construct new underpinnings for the idea of democracy by bringing the Western concept of spirit into dialogue with the East Asian nondualistic and nonhierarchical notion of qi The book follows the historical adventures of the idea of qi through some of its Confucian and Daoist textual histories in East Asia mainly Laozi Zhu Xi Toegye Nongmun and Su un and compares them with analogous conceptualizations of the ultimate creative and spiritual power found in the intellectual constellations of Western and or Christian thought namely Whitehead s Creativity Hegel s Geist Deleuze s chaosmos and Catherine Keller s Tehom The book adds to the growing body of pneumatocentric Spirit centered panentheistic Christian theologies that emphasize God s liberating equalizing and pluralizing immanence in the cosmos Furthermore it injects into the theological and philosophical dialogue between the West and Confucian and Daoist East Asia which has heretofore been dominated by the American pragmatist and process traditions a fresh voice shaped by Hegelian postmodern and postcolonial thought This enriches the ways in which the pluralistic and democratic implications of the notion of qi may be articulated In addition by offering a valuable introduction to some representative Korean thinkers who are largely unknown to Western scholars the book advances the study of East Asia and Neo Confucianism in particular Last but not least the book provides a model of Asian contextual theology that draws on the religious and philosophical resources of East Asia to offer a vision of pluralism and democracy A reader interested in the conversation between the East and West in light of the global reality of political oppression economic exploitation and cultural marginalization will find this book informative engaging and enlightening Challenge-Based Learning, Research, and Innovation Arturo Molina, Rajagopal, 2023-04-29

Challenge based research focuses on addressing societal and environmental problems One way of doing so is by transforming existing businesses to profitable ventures through co creation and co evolution Drawing on the resource based view this book discusses how social challenges can be linked with the industrial value chain through collaborative research knowledge sharing and transfer of technology to deliver value The work is divided into three sections Part 1 discusses social challenges triple bottom line and entrepreneurship as drivers for research learning and innovation while Part 2 links challenge based research to social and industrial development in emerging markets The final section considers research based innovation and the role of technology with the final chapter bridging concepts and practices to shape the future of society and industry The authors present the RISE paradigm which integrates people society planet sustainability and profit industry and business as critical constructs for socio economic and regional development Arguing that the converging of society and industry is essential for the business ecosystem to stay competitive in the marketplace this book analyzes possible approaches to linking challenge based research with social and industrial innovations in the context of sectoral challenges like food production housing energy biotechnology and sustainability It will serve as a valuable resource to researchers interested in topics such as social challenges innovation technology sustainability and society industry linkage

Multitude Michael Hardt, Antonio Negri, 2005-07-26 In their international bestseller Empire Michael Hardt and Antonio Negri presented a grand unified vision of a world in which the old forms of imperialism are no longer effective But what of Empire in an age of American empire Has fear become our permanent condition and democracy an impossible dream Such pessimism is profoundly mistaken the authors argue Empire by interconnecting more areas of life is actually creating the possibility for a new kind of democracy allowing different groups to form a multitude with the power to forge a democratic alternative to the present world order Exhilarating in its optimism and depth of insight Multitude consolidates Hardt and Negri's stature as two of the most important political philosophers at work in the world today

Crowds Jeffrey Thompson Schnapp, Matthew Tiew, 2006 Crowds presents several layers of meditation on the phenomenon of collectivities from the scholarly to the personal it is the most comprehensive cross disciplinary publication on crowds in modernity For more information visit <http://shl.stanford.edu/Crowds>
