Bechtel, Arza Churchman, 2003-01-17 An international team of leading scholars explores the latest theories research and applications critical to environmental psychology Featuring the latest research and concepts in the field straight from the world's leading scholars and practitioners Handbook of Environmental Psychology provides a balanced and comprehensive overview of this rapidly growing field Bringing together contributions from an international team of top researchers representing a myriad of disciplines this groundbreaking resource provides you with a pluralistic approach to the field as an interdisciplinary effort with links to other disciplines Addressing a variety of issues and practice settings Handbook of Environmental Psychology is divided into five organized and accessible parts to provide a thorough overview of the theories research and applications at the forefront of environmental psychology today Part I deals with sharpening theories Part II links the subject to other disciplines Part III focuses on methods Part IV highlights applications and Part V examines the future of the field Defining the ongoing revolution in thinking about how the environment and psychology interact Handbook of Environmental Psychology is must reading for anyone coping directly with the attitudes beliefs and behaviors that are destroying our environment and putting our lives in jeopardy Topics include Healthy design Restorative environments Links to urban planning Contaminated environments Women's issues Environments for aging Climate weather and crime The history and future of disaster research Children's environments Personal space in a digital age Community planning      The Anthropology of Learning in Childhood David F. Lancy, John Bock, Suzanne Gaskins, 2010-01-15 The Anthropology of

Learning in Childhood offers a large mural like portrait of childhood across time culture species and environment Even a casual reading of the literature on childhood will persuade one that learning is a very important topic that commands the attention of tens of thousands of scholars and practitioners Yet anthropological research on children has exerted relatively little influence on this community This book will change that The book demonstrates that anthropologists studying childhood can offer a description and theoretically sophisticated account of children s learning and its role in their development socialization and enculturation Further it demonstrates the particular contribution that children s learning makes to the construction of society and culture as well as the role that culture acquiring children play in human evolution Chapters have been contributed in archaeology primatology biological and cultural anthropology and cross cultural psychology

Handbook of Research on Schools, Schooling and Human Development Judith L. Meece, Jacquelynne S. Eccles, 2010-06-10 Children spend more time in school than in any social institution outside the home And schools probably exert more influence on children s development and life chances than any environment beyond the home and neighbourhood The purpose of this book is to document some important ways schools influence children s development and to describe various models and methods for studying schooling effects Key features include Comprehensive Coverage this is the first book to provide a comprehensive review of what is known about schools as a context for human development Topical coverage ranges from theoretical foundations to investigative methodologies and from classroom level influences such as teacher student relations to broader influences such as school organization and educational policies Cross Disciplinary this volume brings together the divergent perspectives methods and findings of scholars from a variety of disciplines among them educational psychology developmental psychology school psychology social psychology psychiatry sociology and educational policy Chapter Structure to ensure continuity chapter authors describe 1 how schooling influences are conceptualized 2 identify their theoretical and methodological approaches 3 discuss the strengths and weaknesses of existing research and 4 highlight implications for future research practice and policy Methodologies chapters included in the text feature various methodologies including longitudinal studies hierarchical linear models experimental and quasi experimental designs and mixed methods

Enhancing Humanity N. Aloni, 2007-10-01 In Jean Paul Sartre s Nausea Roquentin feels bound to listen to the sentimental ramblings about humanism and humanity by the Self Taught Man Is it my fault muses Roquentin in all he tells me I recognize the lack of the genuine article Is it my fault if as he speaks I see all the humanists I have known rise up I have known so many of them And then he lists the radical humanist the so called left humanist and Communist Humanist the Catholic humanist all claiming a passion for their fellow men But there are others a swarm of others the humanist philosopher who bends over his brothers like a wise older brother with a sense of his responsibility the humanist who loves men as they are the humanist who loves men as they ought to be the one who wants to save them with their consent and the one who will save them in spite of themselves Quite naturally the skeptical Roquentin ends by saying how they all hate each other as individuals not as men Fully aware of the misuse and false comfort in the use of the term Professor Aloni proceeds to restore meaning to the word as well as appropriate its educational significance There is a freshness in this book a restoration of a lost clarity a regaining of authentic commitment      Critical Issues in Peace and Education Peter Pericles Trifonas, Bryan Wright, 2014-04-04 This collection asks theorists and educational practitioners from around the world influenced by the schools of feminist pedagogy critical pedagogy anti racist or postcolonial pedagogy and gay and lesbian pedagogy to reflect upon the possibilities of articulating a curriculum of difference that critically examines the cross cultural issues of peace and education that are at the forefront of global education issues today Contributors examine the conceptualizations of peace and education within between and across cultures through the conceptualization of pedagogical possibilities that create an openness toward the horizons of the other within communal formations of difference permeating the public sphere They take up new ways of questions related to globalization difference community identity peace democracy sexuality ethics conflict politics feminism technology language rights cultural politics Marxism and deconstruction that have a vast literary history in and outside the area of education This volume makes a significant contribution to the question of difference and its quintessential role in peace education for the new millennium      Our Western Educational Heritage Christopher J. Lucas, 1971      Education in the Third Reich Gilmer W. Blackburn, 2012-02-01 In its determination to take absolute control the Third Reich focused on the nation's youth reserving for the schools the vital task of refashioning the German psyche This book examines these propaganda efforts one of the most radical and far reaching experiments in educational history The book focuses on the manipulation of the German past one of the primary means of state intervention to ensure the triumph of the racial idea in history It shows how textbooks written by National Socialists equalled or exceeded the most imaginative fiction with an itinerary that extended from Valhalla and the Germania of Tacitus to the Prussia of Frederick the Great before mounting to the pinnacle represented by the Third Reich The primary source materials for this study consist of a broad representative collection of history textbooks primers and books of readings containing historical instruction      Changing the Educational Landscape Jane Roland Martin, 2017-09-29 Changing the Educational Landscape is a collection of the best known and best loved essays by the renowned feminist philosopher of education Jane Roland Martin Trained as an analytic philosopher at a time before women or feminist ideas were welcome in the field Martin brought a philosopher's detachment to her earliest efforts at revolutionizing the curriculum Her later essays on women and gender further showcase the tremendous intellectual energy she brought to the field of feminist educational theory Martin explores the challenges and contradictions posed by the very concept of women's education and also recognizes how the presence of women necessitates the rearticulation of not only the curriculum but also the standard ideologies in education      The Idea of a Social Studies Education James A. Duplass, 2017-09-22 Offering a fresh take on the purpose of social studies today James A Duplass positions philosophical counseling as a way for teachers to engage students in thinking deeply about what it means to be a citizen in a democratic society The Idea of a Social Studies Education takes a uniquely humanistic approach to the idea of a social studies education to show how teachers can act as philosophical counselors in preparing students for active civic engagement Duplass reminds the reader of the needs of students in modern society who seek to develop an identity worth living and the role social studies can play in students achieving that process By focusing on the cultivation of students autonomy authenticity efficacy and agency Duplass approach avoids political biases and instead encourages critical thinking to decipher what a democratic ideology truly is

The Wider Domain of Evolutionary

Thought D.R. Oldroyd, K. Langham, 2012-12-06 Only in fairly recent years has History and Philosophy of Science been recognized though not always under that name as a distinct field of scholarly endeavour Previously in the Australasian region as elsewhere those few individuals working within this broad area of inquiry found their base both intellectually and socially where they could In fact the institutionalization of History and Philosophy of Science began comparatively early in Australia An initial lecturing appointment was made at the University of Melbourne immediately after the Second World War in 1946 and other appointments followed as the subject underwent an expansion during the 1950s and 60s similar to that which took place in other parts of the world Today there are major Departments at the University of Melbourne the University of New South Wales and the University of Wollongong and smaller groups active in many other parts of Australia and in New Zealand Australasian Studies in History and Philosophy of Science aims to provide a distinctive publication outlet for Australian and New Zealand scholars working in the general area of history philosophy and social studies of science Each volume will comprise a group of essays on a connected theme edited by an Australian or a New Zealander with special expertise in that particular area The series should however prove of more than merely local interest Papers will address general issues parochial topics will be avoided
