Modern Age Historicism And Functionalism:

The modern Age Hans Gerhard Evers,1970 Vom Historismus zum Funktionalismus The modern age, historicism and functionalism ... Translated by J. R. Foster Hans Gerhard EVERS,Joseph Reginald FOSTER,1970

History and Religion Bernd-Christian Otto,Susanne Rau,Jörg Rüpke,2015-08-31 History is one of the most important cultural tools to make sense of one's situation to establish identity define otherness and explain change This is the first systematic scholarly study that analyses the complex relationship between history and religion taking into account religious groups both as producers of historical narratives as well as distinct topics of historiography Coming from different disciplines the authors of this volume ask under which conditions and with what consequences religions are historicised How do religious groups employ historical narratives in the construction of their identities What are the biases and elisions of current analytical and descriptive frames in the History of Religion The volume aims at initiating a comparative historiography of religion and combines disciplinary competences of Religious Studies and the History of Religion Confessional Theologies History History of Science and Literary Studies By applying literary comparison and historical contextualization to those texts that have been used as central documents for histories of individual religions their historiographic themes tools and strategies are analysed The comparative approach addresses circum Mediterranean and European as well as Asian religious traditions from the first millennium BCE to the present and deals with topics such as the origins of religious historiography the practices of writing and the transformation of narratives Provincial Modernity Jennifer Jenkins,2018-09-05 A history of the making of public culture in Imperial Germany Provincial Modernity challenges traditional accounts of the rise and fall of German liberalism and the meaning given to the cultural work of the German middle classes With an interdisciplinary approach that ranges from political history to modernist art and architecture Jennifer Jenkins explores the role that local tradition memory history culture and environment played in nineteenth century conceptions of citizenship and community in Hamburg Eighteen black and white illustrations and one color illustration enhance her portrait of the city in question Drawing on a wide range of sources Jenkins focuses on the city's cultural institutions particularly the Hamburg Art Museum and its director Alfred Lichtwark who inspired a citywide movement of political and cultural reform Lichtwark who became one of Imperial Germany's most important cultural politicians worked with the city's elites and its civic associations both middle and working class Together they promoted aesthetic education in the interest of forging a liberal society Lichtwark and the movement he inspired saw the educated middle classes as the custodians of national culture believed education and civic morality to be vehicles for the creation of modern citizens and argued that vital regional identities were essential to the making of a liberal national community In so doing they defined and promoted a distinctive northern German form of modernist culture in art and architecture The Science of Sacrifice Susan L. Mizruchi,1998-05-24 From ritual killings to subtle acts of self denial the practice and rhetoric of sacrifice has a special centrality in modern American literature In a compelling interdisciplinary investigation Susan Mizruchi portrays an episode in American cultural history when the literary movement of realism and the fledgling field of sociology both converged in the belief that sacrifice is basic to sociality This is a book about the fascination that sacrifice held for writers principally Herman Melville Henry James and W E B Du Bois and also for those who articulated the main tenets of modern social theory an inquiry that eventually spans historical events such as public lynchings and the political scapegoating of immigrants a century ago The execution in Billy Budd Sailor the death of Du Bois's first born son in The Souls of Black Folk Henry James's preoccupation with renunciation and scapegoating and the self denying working classes of Norris and Stein all illustrate repeated stagings of sacrificial rituals from a Biblical past For Mizruchi the peculiar persistence of this aesthetic construct becomes a guide to a rich theological and social scientific tradition distinctive to the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries and including such influential works as Smith's Lectures on the Religion of the Semites Frazer's Golden Bough and Ross's Sin and Society The major features of sacrifice its original association with spiritual doubt its function as a form of spiritual economics that sustained divisions between the fortunate and the bereft and its role in fixing boundaries between aliens and kin held strong symbolic value for writers struggling to reconcile faith with rationalism and communal coherence with capitalist expansion Mizruchi eloquently demonstrates how the conceptual power of sacrifice made it a key mediator of cultural change from the decline of sympathy and the significance of race in an emerging multicultural society to the revival of maternal self sacrifice

Subaltern Morality: a Postmodern Vision Ramesh Chandra Sinha, 2017-03-21 The expression Subaltern had been used by Italian Marxist Antonio Gramsci in his celebrated notes on PRISON DIARY but it is interpreted in a different way in this book The concept includes caste color gender and class It is not economic category but a cultural one It is different from Marxist interpretation of the term Proletariat Marxist Morality is class bound Subaltern morality is not class bound An attempt to deconstruct the age old Egalitarian Morality the author proposes morality of those who are besides the circle and suggests a postmodern vision to understand subaltern morality Offering challenging insights into conception of Global justice the author subscribes to Aristotelian contention of distributive justice where equals are treated equally and unequal are treated unequally

Fine Arts Donald L. Ehresmann, 1979 A Critical History of Contemporary Architecture Elie G. Haddad, David Rifkind, 2016-12-05 1960 following as it did the last CIAM meeting signalled a turning point for the Modern Movement From then on architecture was influenced by seminal texts by Aldo Rossi and Robert Venturi and gave rise to the first revisionary movement following Modernism Bringing together leading experts in the field this book provides a comprehensive critical overview of the developments in architecture from 1960 to 2010 It consists of two parts the first section providing a presentation of major movements in architecture after 1960 and the second a geographic survey that covers a wide range of territories around the world This book not only reflects the different perspectives of its various authors but also charts a middle course between the aesthetic histories that examine architecture solely in terms of its formal aspects and the more ideological histories that subject it to a critique that often skirts the discussion of its formal aspects

Shakespeare and Historical Formalism Stephen Cohen, 2016-04-01 Located at the intersection of new historicism and the new formalism historical formalism is one of the most rapidly growing and important movements in early modern studies taking seriously the theoretical issues raised by both history and form it challenges the anti formalist orthodoxies of new historicism and expands the scope of historicist criticism Shakespeare and Historical Formalism is the first volume devoted exclusively to collecting and assessing work of this kind With essays on a broad range of Shakespeare s works and engaging topics from performance theory to the emergence of the literary and from historiography to pedagogy the volume demonstrates the value of historical formalism for Shakespeare studies and for literary criticism as a whole Shakespeare and Historical Formalism begins with an introduction that describes the nature and potential of historical formalism and traces its roots in early modern literary theory and its troubled relationship with new historicism The volume is then divided into two sections corresponding to the two chief objectives of historical formalism a historically informed and politically astute formalism and a historicist criticism revitalized by attention to issues of form The first section Historicizing Form explores from a variety of perspectives the historical and political sources meanings and functions of Shakespeare's dramatic forms The second section Re-Forming History uses questions of form to rethink our understanding of historicism and of history itself and in doing so challenges some of our fundamental literary critical pedagogical and epistemological assumptions Concluding with suggestions for further reading on historical formalism and related work Shakespeare and Historical Formalism invites scholars to rethink the familiar categories and principles of formal and historical criticism

How Jewish is Jewish History? Moshe Rosman, 2007-10-25 Moshe Rosman cogently and critically presents the considerations that must be brought to bear on the writing of Jewish history in the light of post modernist thinking

Democratic Deliberation in the Modern World Paul Gunn, 2017-07-05 Would ordinary citizens benefit if public decisions were increasingly based on an inclusive and fair exchange of reasons rather than mere voting or choices in the market Debates amongst deliberative democrats often proceed as though this process of public reasoning is precisely what the democratic ideals of freedom and equality require. Less attention has been paid to whether an inclusive and fair exchange of reasons is possible in any realistic modern setting and what the effects would be of trying to move democratic institutions in a deliberative direction. To examine these effects, the contributors to this collection of essays bring together a number of analyses of the practical implications of expanding deliberative processes. Some consider the prevailing epistemic conditions in modern societies and their likely effects on deliberative reasoning. Others discuss the politics of these societies and especially the likely effects of existing political divisions on democratic deliberation. Lastly, the question of what we might hope to see and what we might hope to avoid from political argument is addressed. Considered together, these three foci should equip readers to decide whether deliberative democracy is feasible and if so, if it is desirable. This book was published as a special issue of Critical Review. University Planning and Architecture Jonathan

Coulson, Paul Roberts, Isabelle Taylor, 2015-01-09 The environment of a university, what we term a campus, is a place with special resonance. They have long been the setting for some of history's most exciting experiments in the design of the built environment. Christopher Wren at Cambridge, Le Corbusier at Harvard and Norman Foster at the Free University Berlin: the calibre of practitioners who have shaped the physical realm of academia is superlative. Pioneering architecture and innovative planning make for vivid assertions of academic excellence, while the physical estate of a university can shape the learning experiences and lasting outlook of its community of students, faculty and staff. However, the mounting list of pressures—economic, social, pedagogical, technological—currently facing higher education institutions is rendering it increasingly challenging to perpetuate the rich legacy of campus design. In this strained context, it is more important than ever that effective use is made of these environments and that future development is guided in a manner that will answer to posterity. This book is the definitive compendium of the prestigious sphere of campus design, envisaged as a tool to help institutional leaders and designers to engage their campus's full potential by revealing the narratives of the world's most successful, time-honoured and memorable university estates. It charts the worldwide evolution of university design from the Middle Ages to the present day, uncovering the key episodes and themes that have conditioned the field and through a series of case studies, profiles universally acclaimed campuses that through their planning, architecture and landscaping have made original, influential and striking contributions to the field. By understanding this history, present and future generations can distil important lessons for the future. The second edition includes revised text, many new images and new case studies of the Central University of Venezuela and Indian Institute of Management Ahmedabad.
